Gromyko Again Demands Hammarskjold Withdraw

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson today accused the Soviet Union of obstructing U.N. efforts in the Congo and of injecting into the U.N. Congo debate "the most destructive spirit of the cold war."

"The Soviet Union does not want the United Nations to succeed in the Congo," Stevenson told the U.N. General Assembly. Stevenson spoke after Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had denounced U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold "as an accomplice and organizer" of the slaying of deposed Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba.

DEMANDS DISMISSAL

Gromyko demanded the dismissal of the secretary-general, withdrawal of the U.N. forces from the Congo within a month and a thorough overhauling of the whole U.N. structure.

Stevenson called Gromyko's attack on Hammarskjold "wild, irresponsible and absurd."

"We haven't even been spared the charge of an accomplice of murder," he said.

Stevenson declared that if the United Nations acceded to the Soviet demand it would mean substitution of anarchy for constructive international effort.

EXPENSIVE EFFORT

He referred to the great and expensive effort of the United Nations in the Congo.

Gromyko warned that the United Nations may suffer the same fate as the League of Nations if it continues on the present course.

Due to the Congo crisis, he said, the world faced a situation similar to that on the eve of World War II.

Gromyko's demand for dismissal of Hammarskjold was one of five major points he advanced as the 99-nation assembly began its new round of Congo debate. He urged U.N. assistance to the Stanleyville regime of pro-Communist Antoine Gizenga through a commission of African nations.

Gromyko was particularly bitter about the recent meeting of Congolese leaders at Tananarive, Malagasy Republic, at which it was agreed to set up

U.S. Offers To Let Russ See Nuclear Tests

Proposal Broached As Three-Power Conclave Resumes

GENEVA (AP)—The United States proposed today to allow Soviet inspection of American atomic devices exploded either in seismic research programs or for peaceful purposes.

The American proposal was made with British backing at the resumed three-power talks on suspension of nuclear weapon tests.

Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin declined to express an attitude until his government can study the proposal in detail.

The West earlier had proposed a 27-month moratorium on small underground tests. The Soviet Union asked for at least four years. The United States now is willing to extend the moratorium.

During the moratorium research would be undertaken to improve detection methods.

U. S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean's proposals were aimed at breaking the deadlock in the two-and-one-half year old negotiations.

The Western powers also are willing to reduce the number of control posts to be constructed in the Soviet Union.

The negotiations have bogged down over methods of policing

County Hospital 'Disaster' Seen

"Disaster that could permanently blacken Marin County's history" was forecast as a daily possibility at the county hospital in a report submitted to the Marin County Board of Supervisors today by the Council for Civic Affairs.

"To say that it (the hospital) has withstood two earthquakes," said the report, "is only to say that it has twice been damaged and made susceptible to the next earthquake.

"In a building with open stairwells, bedridden patients lie behind doors through which a bed cannot be wheeled."

The report was presented by Dr. Bruce R. Merrill of Belvedere, chairman of the committee on hospital problems of the council. The council came into being in January as the Citizens for the Civic Center, to protest a supervisors' order stopping work on the county civic center while investigating whether the partly completed building could be converted to a county hospital. The new organization subsequently changed its name and broadened its scope.

"Every day of inactivity about this problem is a day that could bring a disaster that could permanently blacken Marin County's history," said the report, which was approved by the county's board of directors. "The council would have felt that it were neglecting its duty if it had taken more time for study, when the real need is for prompt action."

Time was taken, said the report, to interview experts in many fields, as well as several directly connected with the hos-

Board Urges Cut-Down Park; Backers Enraged

Pt. Reyes Session Erupts

By RANDALL GOULD

Backers of a 53,000-acre Point Reyes National Seashore descended in wrath this afternoon on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The board late yesterday by 4-1 vote approved a two-point resolution opposing the project in its present large-scale form but approving a park if cut down to 20,000-acre maximum size.

With Supervisor George H. Ludy of Inverness presenting a letter to the board with this recommendation, a half-dozen West Marinites staged an unannounced blitz before a virtually empty council chamber when the board met at 2 p.m. yesterday.

PHONE CAMPAIGN

This resulted in a hastily organized telephone campaign last night and this morning to summon proponents of the present scheme to the supervisors' chamber at 1 p.m.

During the course of several presentations yesterday the superviosrs were told that Marin County is being so whittled down that "you won't have much county to supervise pretty quick"; that the proposed big federal park couldn't be kept fully safeguarded by the Sixth Army; that major Marin industry would be vitally damaged by the 53,000-acre takeover; that "pressures" in favor of the scheme have reached "to the president of the United States"; and that a 20,000-acre park would be both adequate and harmless.

'NOT GOOD'

First spokesman for the group of half a dozen West Marinites was J. H. Mendoza, chairman of the West Marin Property Owners Assn. and later described by attorney Bryan McCarthy as "one of those who is gone, wiped out" if the major project goes through.

Speaking for the ranchers, Mendoza said, "we feel it is not good for the county to wipe out our second largest industry." That's what a 53,000-acre federal park would do, he claimed.

"If this were to be a mainly wooded area to a maximum of 20,000 acres it would be all right," Mendoza concluded. "We ask the board to go on record as opposing more than that."

McCARTHY CHARGE

Chairman William D. Fusselman asked if any beach would be included, whereupon attorney McCarthy produced a map showing that the proposed line would run west from Inverness to the beach and extend south to Bolinas boundary.

"You can't take such pieces as 53,000 acres and have much county left to supervise," said Mendoza. "It is time now that this board take a stand and let both houses of Congress know."

McCarthy said what the seashore proponents "are trying to carve out of this county"

GABLE'S WIDOW NAMES SON 'JOHN CLARK'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—In accordance with the late Clark Gable's wishes, his one-day-old son was named John Clark Gable today by his mother.

Mrs. Gable made the announcement at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, where she gave girth to the eight-pound boy yesterday by Caesarean section. The baby was born in the same hospital where his father died last Nov. 16.

"He has a definite resemblance to his father," Dr. Richard Clark said, "but his ears are of an average size."

Before his death the actor had opposed naming a son Clark Jr., claiming it would be too much of a burden for a youngster to carry.

'Scenic Highways' Plan Kicked Off

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A program which would set up a series of "state scenic highways" in the state highway system, was launched in the Senate this afternoon.

Monterey Sen. Fred S. Farr submitted a resolution which requests a one-year study by four state offices to recommend routes to be declared scenic, to adopt a procedure and standards for designation, planning and design of such highways, and to recommend action to implement such scenic highway development.

Farr said his resolution does not go as far in establishing a scenic highway program "as some people would like, but rather than plunge in, I think we need to set standards acceptable to local and state governments."

"In many cases a scenic highway will be a two-lane meandering road," Farr said, "but it doesn't necessarily have to be. This program does not exclude freeways."

The resolution calls for appointment of a committee of seven persons to act in an advisory capacity to the four state agencies making the study.

The four agencies are the Departments of Public Resources, Water Resources and the State Office of Planning.

The advisory committee would be made up of a representative of the counties, and cities, expert in landscape architecture, scenic conservation, highway construction, land planning and park problems, said Farr.

The resolution is the result of a report just submitted by the four state agencies in response to a 1960 resolution by Farr.

The report calls for establishment of a scenic highway program and requests federal and local collaboration.

Medical Society Votes Simpler Loyalty Oath

Members of the Marin County Medical Society have voted nearly 9-to-2 against requiring members of the California Medical Assn. House of Delegates to disavow all past connection with organizations that may be listed as subversive.

By vote of 113 to 19, the members approved amending the state association bylaws to require, instead, the simple affirmation: "I hereby declare my loyalty to the United States of America, and to the constitution of the California Medical Assn."

Results of the poll, conducted by mail, were announced today by Dr. Calvin Plumhof, Marin society secretary.

As a result of the balloting, Marin representatives at the House of Delegates meeting in Los Angeles, April 28-May 3, will vote for substitution of the simpler oath for that now required, which includes the vow: "I do not belong and have not belonged to any organization advocating the overthrow or change of the form of government of the U.S.A. by violent or unlawful means, nor do I belong or have belonged to any organization while it was listed, published or held to be subversive by the Department of Justice of the United States of America."

A proposal to retain the present oath was voted down in the same poll by 99 to 26, Dr. Plumhof announced.

Furore over the oath, for repeal of which a proposal was introduced by San Francisco Medical Society members at last year's House of Delegates meeting, was heightened in Marin when Dr. Lyman J. Hurlbut of Larkspur, elected as an alternate to the House of Delegates, resigned rather than take the oath. Dr. Hurlbut later withdrew his resignation when it was agreed to place the matter before the membership, but another alternate had already been appointed in his place.

McCarthy Demands Investigation Of State Harbor Loan Program

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—An investigation into the loan program of the Small Craft Harbors Commission was demanded today by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy.

McCarthy introduced a resolution in the State Senate deploring "obvious lack of programming" by the commission regarding the "loans and workmanship" of state-supported small craft harbors.

"The peope, when they passed the 10-million-dollar bond issue for small craft harbors, desired that their money be properly spent," McCarthy declared. "It appears that there has been a lack of control, guidance and direction for the expenditure of these funds."

The senator, who supported the harbors program when it was instituted, called for an "immediate evaluation" by a subcommittee of the Senate Standing Committee on Natural Resources. McCarthy is a member of that committee.

The Small Craft Harbors Commission, at a stormy meeting yesterday, heard a summary of reasons why harbor projects have been delayed and then decided to give the program further consideration at a meeting April 17 in Berkeley.

The commission heard a sometimes heated discussion on the $100,000 loaned Port San Luis at San Luis Obispo which is tied up in citizens' law suits.

Michael J. Gentilly, who owns a resort on the Petaluma River, criticized the commission for a proposed commission project six miles from his resort. He said the state was using public funds to develop hotels that would compete with him.

Petaluma Mayor Arthur Parent said there was a definite need for a yacht harbor, as proposed by the commission. He said the development would not be in competition to Gentilly because Gentilly's was "not first class" and primarily a fisherman's resort.

Lachlan M. Richards, chief of the small craft division, read the commission a summary of delays on the construction projects. He proposed—and the commission agreed—to discuss the delays further at the Berkeley meeting.

The bill, one of President John F. Kennedy's major legislative recommendations, already has been passed in somewhat different form by the Senate. The House committee approved it over the strong objection of a group of Republican members.

Requests For Defense To Unbalance Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy told congressional leaders today that a forthcoming request for defense spending will throw his new budget out of balance.

The president said he would send to Congress Friday a balanced budget. But he said he would submit a special defense budget next week calling for greater funds which would put the government in the red for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Kennedy discussed spending at his regular weekly meeting with the Democratic legislative chiefs. He also advised them that he will propose a tighter concentration of the foreign aid program which one leader said would reduce waste and duplication.

Speaker Sam Rayburn told reporters after the meeting that the House is "going to pass something" to increase the federal minimum wage.

However, Rayburn said there is "quite a controversy" over whether the boost will be from $1 an hour to $1.25, as Kennedy has proposed, and he said the vote could go either way.

Rayburn was asked if it was correct that the general budget revisions that will be sent to Congress Friday would call for a balance between spending and revenues but that a separate defense budget, to be proposed next week, would call for deficit spending.

"That, I think, might be a correct statement," Rayburn said.

Asked if the deficit would be in the area of one billion dollars, Rayburn said he did not know.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield told reporters the president had briefed the leaders on his new foreign aid proposals, which he will send to the House and Senate in a special message tomorrow.

"There will be a greater concentration as far as all foreign aid programs is concerned," Mansfield said.

Laos Again Discussed At Conclave

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy and several of his top advisers discuss on the explosive situation in strife-torn Laos at a White House conference today, the second such session in two days.

At yesterday's secret meeting, attention was reported focused on the intention of the administration to display a firm position to the Soviet Union on the grave crisis in Laos.

Yesterday's top-bracket meeting brought together such officials as Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles, Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, and J. Graham Parsons, the State Department's top expert on the Far East who has been named ambassador to Sweden.

Sitting in too, officials said, were Kennedy's own top advisers on national security matters, McGeorge Bundy and his deputy, Walt W. Rostow.

Crowds Dispersed In Second Day Of S. Africa Unrest

CAPETOWN, South Africa (UPI)—Police armed with revolvers and bayonets broke up crowds of white and colored demonstrators milling about in Capetown's main shopping area today on the first anniversary of the killing of 72 Africans by police last year at Sharpeville and Langa.

It was the second day of demonstrations over South Africa's racial segregation policies. Today there was practically no violence. But yesterday whites and blacks clashed in a series of fist fights in Johannesburg, and there were demonstrations elsewhere in the country.

The disturbances coincided with the return to Johannesburg yesterday of Prime Minister Hendrik Verweord from the commonwealth conference in London.

Verweord had announced South Africa's withdrawal from the commonwealth as of May 31 when it becomes a republic, and the decision has been violently criticized by the opposition.

But when Verweord came here for a parliamentary session, he announced that he would not move to debate the issue until tomorrow. In effect, this will postpone the actual debate until Thursday.

A ban on all demonstrations by non-whites today appeared to have kept most non-Europeans away from a scheduled mass rally in memory of the 72 Africans killed in the clashes with police a year ago. At that time, the Africans were protesting laws which compel non-whites to carry identification passes.

Justice Minister Francois Erasmus banned the non-white demonstrations this morning under the country's prevention of communism act.

When the time came for the scheduled demonstration, hundreds of police patrolled the downtown area, and dispersed crowds.

Politics Not Your Concern Envoys Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told U.S. diplomats around the world not to worry too much about domestic U.S. politics.

American politics, Rusk said, are a problem for President John F. Kennedy and his top aides, while "our business is foreign policy."

Rusk outlined his views to top State Department officers in a private speech a month ago. The department sent copies to U.S. envoys abroad and also made them available to newsmen.

OPINION IMPORTANT

While the support of American public opinion is important for foreign policy, Rusk said, "we do not want policy officers below the level of presidential appointees to concern themselves too much with problems of domestic politics in recommending foreign policy action.

"It is the business of the presidential leadership and his appointees in the department to consider the domestic political aspects of a problem," he said.

Rusk headed for Washington today after a speech at Founders Day ceremonies at the University of California.

NEW EMPHASIS

Rusk used the occasion to give renewed emphasis to a previous U.S. policy: He saw a need for "a permanent United Nations force, specifically trained and equipped, held in readiness for immediate use."

Rusk also:

Suggested smaller nations should enter into disarmament agreements among themselves, both to do away with arms race waste and to avoid being sucked into the big power arms contest. He particularly mentioned Latin American countries.

Described big power arms control as "an imperative goal" which must be pursued without yielding to cynicism or despair over past failures to reach agreement.

Texas Tower Neglect Laid To 3 Officers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has charged three officers with neglect of duty in connection with the deaths of 28 men Jan. 15 when a Texas tower radar station tumbled into the Atlantic during a howling gale.

The Air Defense Command, in an announcement released yesterday by the Defense Department, said the charges were made as a result of a preliminary investigation.

The accused officers:

Col. William M. Banks, who was acting commander of the Boston Air Defense Sector at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N.Y., charged with culpable negligence and dereliction of duty.

Maj. William A. Sheppard, commander of the 4604th Support Squadron at Otis Air Force Base, Mass., charged with dereliction of duty.

Maj. Reginald L. Stark, acting commander of the squadron "during the critical period prior to the loss of the tower," charged with dereliction of duty.

The Air Force said the charges were based on the way the men "performed their duties immediately prior to the disaster" off the New Jersey coast.

Two newspaper racks, one of them an Independent-Journal rack, were taken sometime between Sunday night and Monday morning from the United Market at 515 Third Street, San Rafael police reported. The amount of money in the racks was unknown.

Won By A Nose

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mercer G. Brown, 36, was arrested Feb. 17 on a drunken driving charge because, in a closed eyes test, he couldn't touch the tip of his nose with his forefinger.

In municipal court yesterday, his attorney asked the arresting officer, Larry Schultze, to show the jury how a sober man should have done.

Schultze closed his eyes, extended his right arm and finger and swung it toward his nose. He missed.

The jury found Brown innocent.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The girl basketball player whose height was reported as 8 feet, 2 inches, actually is 16 inches shorter.

Dolores Pullard, 14, is 6 feet, 10 inches—still a lofty height even for a basketball player.

The higher figure was reported through a misunderstanding at Charity Hospital where the De Quincy, La., High School student is being treated for a knee injury. It seems the Negro girl told a nurse she was "eight two" in height. She meant 82 inches, but the hospital took it to mean "8-feet-2" and reported her as possibly the tallest woman in the world.

Suit Against Teamsters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A five-million-dollar damage suit was filed against the Teamsters Union yesterday by the Pacific Maritime Assn. as a result of the strike that tied up San Francisco's waterfront a week ago.

The association charges that Teamster picket lines were illegal and constituted a malicious interference with an agreement between shipowners and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

BERKELEY (AP)—Dr. Edward Teller, the hydrogen bomb physicist, says that the present moratorium on nuclear testing "might well prove catastrophic" for the United States.

"The situation under which we have foregone all testing—and hence all significant weapons advancement during the past 2½ years, with no means of knowing that the Soviet have done likewise—might well prove catastrophic for us," he told a University of California alumni banquet Monday.

White Taken Out

LUANDA, Angola (AP)—The last white women and children were taken from the northern border area of this West African territory today as the Portuguese turned the region into an armed camp against anti-white terrorists.

Quiet was reported after last week's bloody tribal attacks on plantation settlers.

About 3,500 women and children were flown to Luanda in a four-day operation by planes that carried soldiers to the troubled districts.

Blanc Files Suit

SANTA MONICA (UPI)—Comedian Mel Blanc yesterday filed a $250,000 damage suit for near-fatal injuries suffered Jan. 24 in a head-on auto crash.

Blanc's superior court suit named as defendants Arthur L. Rolston, 18, a Menlo Junior College student who was driving the other car, and Rolston's parents. The suit charged Rolston with negligence.

Blanc was released on Friday from UCLA Medical Center where he had been confined since the crash.

Crab Ban Lifted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury Department yesterday ended a 10-year ban on Soviet canned crabmeat in a move to help better relations with Russia.

The ban had been in effect since Jan. 27, 1951, under a section of the U. S. Tariff Act which prohibits entry into the United States of goods produced with convict or forced labor.

The Treasury said it was able to lift the ban because "there is no current evidence that prison or forced labor is still being used in connection with Soviet canned crabmeat."

Spy Case Witness Blames Himself

LONDON (AP)—The mystery man of the British naval spy trial told the court today that spy equipment found in a suburban bungalow had no connection with the Americans who lived in the house.

Gordon A. Lonsdale, accused by the government of being the contact man for a Soviet ring, took full blame for a radio transmitter that could be beamed to Moscow, a cigarette lighter with secret compartments, photographic equipment with microdots used in espionage and some fake passports.

The house where Scotland Yard found the assorted paraphernalia was occupied by Peter Kroger, 50 and his wife, Helen, 47, identified by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as American citizens named Morris and Lola Cohen. The Americans are named co-defendants.

Lonsdale said they were innocent of any connection with the suspect items.

The defendant never admitted he was a spy nor did he explain why he had such equipment.

Lonsdale made his statement in the Old Bailey courtroom. The Krogers followed Lonsdale with statements claiming innocence.

Fill Job Suggested For Hole In Tunnel

A $2,000 fill job was put before the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday, but not recommended, as a literal stop-gap where the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad tunnel in Woodacre caved in twice within the past few days.

"I've been getting calls about it continuously," complained Supervisor William Gnoss. "The hole would now hold a good-sized home."

Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham said the hole could be filled to prevent anyone falling in, and perhaps stopping extension of the current cave-in, by using 2,000 cubic yards of dirt at $1 a yard. He suggested, however, that there were legalities that should be investigated.

Brigham said County Counsel E. Warren McGuire "didn't think we should do anything until questions of liability were determined," and the board decided to talk with McGuire before any decision was made.

The board also:

1. Voted opposition to proposed Assembly Bill 1213 to include real property as a type of property against which the cost of county hospitalization could not constitute a lien.
2. Reappointed Lewis G. Pepper, sole candidate, as fire commissioner in Bolinas Fire Protection District.
3. Told the administrator to have the Citizens Committee on State Fair Exhibit present plans and estimates for consideration.
4. Authorized signature of a lease with the Audubon Society on three Richardson Bay canals, learning that a letter of guarantee of rights had been sent as agreed to Marvin Goodman, owner of a marine lot concerned.
5. Received request from Chief Sanitarian William L. Desmond for action on the county disposal ordinance, but took no action.
6. Heard from Desmond that shut-off of water from a roadside fountain near Camp Taylor was because it was "unsafe," with source of supply on state land not subject to county jurisdiction.

Suit Asks For $80,000

An $88,279 damage suit, resulting from an auto accident last July in Athens, Ga., was filed yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Calvin T. and Margaret D. Gibbs of San Jose, are suing Jess C. Gulledge of 271 Sausalito Street, Corte Madera, for that amount.

Gibbs is asking for $10,000 general damages, $729 hospital expenses and $800 for housekeeping and transportation expenses. Gibbs allegedly suffered leg and spine injuries.

Margaret T., wife of Gibbs, is asking for $75,000 general damages and $1,750 for loss of wages. She allegedly suffered injuries to her face, ribs and spine.

Requests For Defense To Unbalance Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy told congressional leaders today that a forthcoming request for defense spending will throw his new budget out of balance.

The president said he would send to Congress Friday a balanced budget. But he said he would submit a special defense budget next week calling for greater funds which would put the government in the red for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Kennedy discussed spending at his regular weekly meeting with the Democratic legislative chiefs. He also advised them that he will propose a tighter concentration of the foreign aid program which one leader said would reduce waste and duplication.

Speaker Sam Rayburn told reporters after the meeting that the House is "going to pass something" to increase the federal minimum wage.

However, Rayburn said there is "quite a controversy" over whether the boost will be from $1 an hour to $1.25, as Kennedy has proposed, and he said the vote could go either way.

Rayburn was asked if it was correct that the general budget revisions that will be sent to Congress Friday would call for a balance between spending and revenues but that a separate defense budget, to be proposed next week, would call for deficit spending.

"That, I think, might be a correct statement," Rayburn said.

Asked if the deficit would be in the area of one billion dollars, Rayburn said he did not know.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield told reporters the president had briefed the leaders on his new foreign aid proposals, which he will send to the House and Senate in a special message tomorrow.

"There will be a greater concentration as far as all foreign aid programs is concerned," Mansfield said.

NOT FOR WOODLANDS

Kent Apartments Plan Is Rejected

By ELLEN BRY

It was brother against brother, William Kent Jr. versus Sherman Kent, at the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday. And the absent Kent won over the resident Kent.

Sherman Kent and his wife wrote from Washington, D.C., to protest a proposed apartment project in Kent Woodlands—down in the bottomland. Mrs. Kent owns property in Kent Woodlands.

William Kent Jr. had proposed to sell the approximately two acres of land to Paul Sade of San Rafael for construction of up to 50 apartments, described as "luxurious" by Sade.

Kent Woodlands residents came out of the hills to protest the project, one after another at the commission meeting, saying it would harm the view from their homes, the noise would be bothersome, there was no guarantee of safe access to the acreage. The land is located near Hillside Avenue, 400 feet west of Kent Avenue in Kentfield.

The project got the most effective verbal bombing from the caustic sarcasms in the Bronx accents of George F. Braga of Sonoma, who owns property at 13 Hillside Avenue, just beyond the Kent Woodlands line ("the money line").

Braga joined other lowlanders in saying there would not be sufficient sewage facilities, there would be noise, there would be increased flooding of Corte Madera cheek which borders on the land. The shade from the building would mean growing only ferns, instead of sunflowers on his land, Braga added.

Commissioners agreed with the planning staff in voting to deny the rezoning of the land from family residential, to multiple zoning.

U.N. Film Slated At Homestead Hall

"Power Among Men," the first United Nations feature film and a winner of the Probert Flaherty award for the "most outstanding creative achievement in documentary films," will be shown by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club at 8:15 p.m. March 31 at Brown's Hall at 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley. There is no admission charge.

The film treats these four problems: Post-war rebuilding, raising standards of living, providing power for industry and developing atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Town Plan For Tiburon Discussed

Which comes first — the city or the cars?

Should the future city of Tiburon be planned for the ultimate amount of parking needed—or should parking be planned on the outskirts, so the city can grow to it?

H. B. Reed Jr., parking consultant for Main Street properties in the town, posed the question at the Marin County Planning Commission meeting yesterday.

If all the parking which ultimately will be required in Tiburon is planned for now, the downtown section will be filled with parking lots with not enough room for commercial growth, contended Reed.

The question came up as planning commissioners voted to approve construction of an office building on Tiburon Boulevard, after hearing that builder Fred Mantegani would provide parking through owned and leased spaces.

Commissioners also allowed an adjustment to Thomas E. Cox for construction of a second-floor addition to his Tiburon Tommie's Pier 41, which has inadequate parking facilities. Commissioners heard there would be 14 parking spaces available at all times and another 31 spaces during peak hours for Tommie's.

In other business, planning commissioners:

1. Approved an amendment to the county zoning ordinance which would reclassify Waldo Point lands, near Sacramento Street, from multiple residential to multiple residential with a 1,500-foot-minimum square footage of land per dwelling unit.

2. Approved a request by A. R. Hendricks to change zoning of three lots in the Waldo Point area from suburban agricultural to multiple family residential with a minimum of 1,500 square feet of land per dwelling unit.

TO NEW POST—L. E. Gould, of 17 Eucalyptus Road, Belvedere, has been named ammonia department manager of Shell Chemical Co. for the western states. He will be responsible for the coordination of ammonia sales for agricultural and industrial uses.

Board Votes Larger Share Of Court Fees

Resolutions recommending that Larkspur and Fairfax receive 70 per cent of Marin Municipal Court fines on cases arising in those cities were passed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday for transmission to the state legislature.

This means that the county would receive only 30 per cent instead of the 62 per cent it has been getting from Larkspur and 58 per cent from Fairfax. Having discussed this previously, the supervisors were already agreed that some action toward equity was overdue and yesterday's votes were unanimous.

It was also ordered that copies of the resolutions go to Larkspur City Manager Ronald E. Piper, who brought the matter up and who had advised that he would press toward action in Sacramento. Both cities had passed resolutions approving the new division.

Tam Exchange Students Plan To Visit Assembly, Brown

Six American Field Service exchange students in the Tamalpais Union High School District will spend tomorrow watching government in action in Sacramento.

Their morning will be spent visiting the assembly. Following lunch with Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the students will spend the afternoon in the state senate. They will be introduced from the floors to both groups of lawmakers.

Attending from Sir Francis Drake High School will be Alkis Mangriotis of Greece and Ricardo Ezekely of Chile. From Tamalpais High School will be Ahmet Gucuyener of Turkey and Anparo Huici of Spain. Redwood High School students will be Jacqueline Marterer of France and Charles Katungi of Uganda.

The students will be accompanied by district trustee Edmund J. Thomas Jr. and Drake High School Principal Richard Allison.

The first experimental farm in Afghanistan has been established with the help of U.S. technicians of the International Cooperation Administration.

Alto Housing Project Approved By Planners

A majority of county planning commissions voted informally yesterday in favor of a multiple-family housing project, over the protests of surrounding Alto and Meadowsweet home owners.

Commissioners said they had no objections, in theory, to construction of up to 900 dwelling units in one-family, duplex and multiple housing in the area.

Residents led by Mrs. Andrews S. Cowie, Mrs. W. W. Nichols and Mrs. Franklin J. McLain said they had plenty of objections. Summed up Mrs. McLain: "This is a stinky project."

Owners are asking rezoning of the land from limited agricultural and suburban agricultural to planned residential. Under planned residential, the planning commission would have close control over placement and number of dwelling units but apartments would be allowed. The present zoning permits only one-family dwellings.

The 188 acres is located in the Alto area, off Lomita Drive, near generally one-family residential areas. The hilly site is owned by George Gooheen of Mill Valley and attorney Hugh Allen of San Rafael, who has 33 acres of the total.

An advisory letter from the Mill Valley Planning Commission noted that it did not oppose the project but had reservations about the traffic problem which might result at Ashford and East Blithedale Avenues.

Franklin McLain joined his wife in opposition, saying that the Alto District Assn. had unanimously voted to oppose the project and that he had a petition of opposition which contained 275 signatures (he did not produce it at the meeting).

As one resident pointed out, the disagreement on planning basically came down to apartment dwellers vs. home owners. But planning commissioner Felix M. Warburg pointed out that occasional clusters of high-density apartments might save "open spaces" for future generations.

The plans for the area call for irregular "clusters" of apartments, duplexes and one-family homes, retaining as many trees as possible and screening space between homes, said consulting architect Rolland Brooks Hammond of San Rafael.

The plan now is for cooperative apartments, which might insure more stable ownership, he said. The area will be kept up by hired maintenance men, he promised.

Residents and the planning staff pointed out that the higher-density housing might crowd schools, access would be through a residential area, the area is surrounded by single family housing.

Commissioners agreed to continue the hearing to May 15, when developers are expected to bring in a master plan for the project, and have preliminary figures on any assessment district proceedings for providing services.

Dr. William Upton, planning commission chairman, Niels Schultz Jr., John S. Switzer and Felix M. Warburg said they had no specific opposition to the project. Commissioner Worth Fenner voiced no opinion. The planning staff outlined the plan and opposition to it but gave no pro or con opinion.

Old Billboard Business Gets Another Kick

A billboard measuring 12 by 24 feet, proposed for the Edgewater Inn and kicked around by Corte Madera officialdom during all of 1960, was rejected last night by the town council.

The door was left open for construction of a sign of sorts, however, when the councilmen agreed to meet with the applicant, James Stockman, to "work out a compromise."

The sign, proposed by Stockman to stand on the northeast edge of his property adjacent to Highway 101, would "violate the intent of the zoning ordinance," councilmen said.

LIMIT ON SPACE

If the sign were permitted, its area, combined with the area of signs now standing on the property, would exceed 400 square feet. The amended sign ordinance limits such signs to 300 square feet.

The sign in question had gained approval of both the board of design and the planning commission. Permission to erect had been denied by zoning administrator William McBride because Stockman had not agreed in writing to remove his other signs.

Councilmen Roger F. Morse and Raymond L. De Young were appointed to meet with Stockman "without prejudice" and discuss his problem.

A recent council move to take from the planning commission the final say on free standing (billboard) signs was dropped, the council agreeing to leave the authority in the hands of the planners.

ONLY 'EXCEPTIONS'

In a special message to the planning commission, however, councilmen made it clear they wished free-standing signs to be approved only as "exceptions" and that "burden of proof of need must be established by the applicant."

Two more signs gained town approval when the council agreed to install "do not enter" and "yield right of way" signs at the junction of Redwood Avenue and Tamalpais Drive.

The "yield" sign would be installed on the curb on the northwest side of the island in the center of the intersection. The "do not enter" sign would prevent traffic from continuing south of Redwood on the east side of the island, requiring all traffic to circle the island in a counterclockwise direction before entering Tamalpais to go south.

In other action last night, the Corte Madera council:

1. Introduced an ordinance annexing Tamal Vista Avenue which runs south from the shopping center into Fifer Industrial Park.
2. Approved construction of sidewalks on the west side of Menke Park parallel to Corte Madera Avenue and in front of the town library on Eastman Avenue. Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow was also instructed to prepare cost estimates on construction of sidewalks adjacent to the new San Clemente School on Paradise Drive.
3. Agreed to take no stand on legislation pending in the state legislature which would increase gasoline and auto taxes.
4. Granted a 30-day extension on completion of construction of Paradise Drive because of wet weather.
5. Agreed to install warning signs at the railroad crossing on Paradise Drive and to ask the public utilities commission if a flashing warning signal is still considered necessary.
6. Set a public hearing April 17 on a new electrical code which contains more than 100 revisions from that now in use in the town.
7. Postponed until April 3 discussion of a proposed animal control ordinance, and personnel ordinance and analysis of relative value to the town of duplex and multiple residential zoning.

Hubcaps Stolen

All four hubcaps were taken from his station wagon parked in his carport, I. W. Barda of 100 Bayo Vista reported yesterday to San Rafael police. The theft occurred sometime Saturday or Sunday, according to Barda.

Recreation Council Names First Officers

Peter Krug of Larkspur was chosen chairman of the newly organized Council of Marin Recreation Commissions at the group's first meeting last night in Larkspur.

Representatives from San Rafael, Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur and Marin County Park and Recreation Commission attended the organizational meeting.

Dorothy Meyer of Larkspur is acting secretary of the group. Krug, who called the meeting, hopes to have forum type discussions at the meetings.

The group last night set up a table of organization which calls for two representatives from the recreation and park commission of each city. Each city will take turns hosting the meetings, which will be held on the first Tuesday of each third month.

The next meeting falls on June 6. Alan Steinau of Belvedere will be host.

Tree Ordinance Hearing Planned

A public hearing on whether Corte Madera should have a tree ordinance will be held by the town park and recreation commission tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The proposed ordinance would prohibit removal of trees from private or public property. The meeting in the town hall will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Assembly Approves Vote Count Speedup

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly—in a party-line 43-29 vote—yesterday passed legislation to speed up California's count of absentee ballots.

Majority Democrats sponsoring the bill said it was prompted by the two week delay in determining the California winner—Richard M. Nixon—in the last presidential election.

Republicans protested that the measure would stop servicemen from listening to the vital last two days of campaign oratory before voting. They moved to reconsider the bill today.

The bill, by Assemblyman Jesse Unruh (D-Los Angeles), requires that the mailed ballots be received by county clerks three days before the election, and counted election night. Present law says the ballots do not have to be in until five days after the election.

Judge Carter Widow Gets All Of Estate

Mrs. Jean Woodward Carter, widow of Associate Justice Jesse W. Carter of the California Supreme Court, yesterday received all of her husband's estate when the decree of distribution was signed.

Mrs. Carter received an undisclosed amount of cash from the sale of their Sleepy Hollow property, which sold for $100,000 and all personal effects of the late judge.

In a handwritten will, Judge Carter left his entire estate to his widow. Three children, Oliver J. Carter, Harlan F. Carter and Mrs. Marian Rose, were omitted because of previous advances out of the estate.

The amount of money on hand was though to be in excess of $50,000. Mrs. Carter was administrator of the estate and therefore did not have to account to herself.

Bill On Textbooks Goes To Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation growing out of the destruction of surplus textbooks was passed unanimously by the Assembly yesterday. It now goes to the Senate.

The bill would permit the state to give the books to other nations or sell the texts to organizations that promise to distribute them for educational purposes.

Assemblyman Gordon Cologne (R-Indio) said his bill also would force the Education Department to tell the public before surplus books are destroyed. In that way, he said, interested persons can look at the volumes and possibly buy them.

Postponed Session

The Marin City Community Services District board will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the community lounge, having postponed its meeting from last week.

Street-Widening Plan Offered To San Rafael

Bellam Boulevard in East San Rafael will become a 100-foot-wide traffic arterial connecting with the new Highway 101 overpass at the Marin Motor Movies if a plan proposed to the San Rafael City Council last night is carried out.

Glen Wentz, owner of property in the area, offered to give the city 50 feet for widening Bellam Boulevard through his property if it is made a through street to Francisco Boulevard at the overpass connection.

He said he also plans improvement of West Railroad Avenue, an unaccepted street through his property to connect with Bellam Boulevard if it is put through.

The city would have to buy rights of way through other properties, however, which Councilman Louis H. Baar hazarded might cost $100,000. Wentz said he thought the figure would be about $60,000.

Bellam Boulevard now ends at about Larkspur Street (the old airport runway).

"I think we should make every effort to go ahead with this now," declared Councilman David Menary Jr.

"Money should be included in our next budget," said Mayor John F. McInnis.

The council directed City Manager Dan E. Andersen to employ an appraiser, have the land descriptions drawn up, and enter into preliminary negotiations with the property owners.

One of the first to be negotiated with is P. L. Friendshuh, who already has a building permit for a warehouse building straddle of the proposed road route. Friendshuh said he paid $13,000 for the property last year, but is willing to hold up his building plan and negotiate for its sale to the city if the road is to be put through.

The council last night added to the major street list, on which it will ask state approval for spending gasoline tax funds, the extension of Second Street, Third Street, H. Street and Court Street from Fifth Avenue to Fourth Street.

By 4-1 vote, the council approved a list of "through streets," on entrances to which the traffic commission may at its discretion place stop signs. Councilman Menary voted "no," objecting that "I don't even know where some of these streets are." Added were: Medway Street, Canal Street from Medway to its east end, Golden Hinde Boulevard, Nova Albion Way, Manuel Freitas Parkway within the city limits and Las Gallinas Avenue within the city limits.

Second Place Won By Marin Girl Speaker

Joan Moran, Marin Catholic High School senior and public speaking champion, won second place Sunday in the American Legion public speaking contest state finals in Riverside. She missed first place by only two points.

Miss Moran, representing Northern California, was the only girl of six finalists. A student from Clovis High School won first place with 147 points. The six judges gave Joan 145 points.

As second place winner she received $150 cash and a gold watch.

Contestants had to give a 10-minute original speech and four minutes extemporaneous speech on some phase of the Constitution.

To reach the finals Miss Moran won the countywide contest in Marin, the North Bay regional contest in Vallejo and the Northern California contest in Marysville.

Joan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Moran of 233 Laurel Place, San Rafael. She plans to major in speech and drama in college.

Bridge Player Champions Announced In Marin Event

Ernest W. Rovere of San Francisco, well-known bridge columnist and instructor, paired up with Peggy Dennes of Santa Rosa to walk off with top prize at Sunday's mixed pairs bridge championship sponsored by the Marin County Unit, American Contract Bridge League.

The double-session event, held at Rickey's Restaurant in Ignacio, drew players from various parts of the Bay Area.

The over-all winners, behind the Rovere-Dennes team, were Ed and Cathy Foehr of San Rafael, second; Eva Reed of San Rafael and Cal Puckett of Larkspur, third, and Col. and Mrs. Walter Keisel of Tiburon, fourth.

Afternoon session winners were the Foehrs and the Reed-Puckett pair. In the evening session, winners were Ed and Helen Israel of San Francisco, Rovere-Dennes pair, and the Keisels.

The Marin unit of ACBL provided free dinner for the players between the two sessions.

In the Saturday night monthly masterpoint event, held at the Marin Jewish Community Center, the top players were as follows:

North-South—(1) Millie Mazza of San Rafael and Dave Cutmore of San Anseimo; (2) Claire Cooke of Ross and James Carbaugh of Fairfax; (3) Resi Baerwald and Edith Van Gutman of San Rafael.

East-West—(1) Col. and Mrs. Walter Keisel of Tiburon; (2) Ed and Cathy Foehr of San Rafael, (3) Kenner Foote of Fairfax and Phro Wilson of San Rafael.

The next event sponsored by the Marin bridge unit is the Sixth Annual Marin Sectional Championship on April 7-9 at Bermuda Palms Hotel in San Rafael. Several thousand players, ranging from novices to experts, are expected to converge on San Rafael from all parts of the state.

Severt Gaustad, president of the Marin unit, announced that bridge players, regardless of experience, are welcome to attend the April sectional. "You may vie for prizes and masterpoints or just come to kibitz," Gaustad said.

THEY DIDN'T KNOW POLICE LIVED THERE

The odds were against them, but three Novato youths last night attempted to steal some lug nuts from a car parked at 2049 Feliz Road.

What they didn't know was that Novato police chief Roy McLaren lives at 2067 Feliz and officer Glenn Wright lives at 2013 Feliz.

A resident spotted the boys, aged 16, 16 and 15, tampering with the car. She called police. McLaren and officers Maurice Lafferty and Robert DiGrazia, all of whom were off duty, cornered the youngsters, reprimanded them and turned them over to their parents. None had a previous criminal record.

Civic Center Switchboard Approved

Supervisor J. Mansfield Lewis of the Marin County communications system obtained authorization from the board of supervisors yesterday to order equipment for the telephone system to be installed in the new civic center.

Initial installation calls for a two-operator dial PBX switchboard handling 320 phones, with possibility of expansion to 500 phones before the basic setup must be changed. Lewis had said it would be necessary to order within the next two months if the equipment was to be ready for installation when needed.

Lewis's letter said that the equipment chosen cuts operator requirements by 20 per cent as compared with less modern installations. Installation will cost $2,780 and the "recurring" cost, interpreted by the supervisors as the monthly charge, will be $1,631.50.

A feature of the mechanism is that if anybody tries to use one of the phones to put through a toll charge, the machine rebels and tattles to the operator.

Teen Program Is Scheduled

A new gymnasium program for teen-agers of high school age will start at 7 p.m. today at Terra Linda High School, under sponsorship of the San Rafael Recreation Department.

This open-play program will be for teen-agers only. It will run from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The Thursday evening program from now on will be for adults only.

San Rafael Girl, 5, Kittens Due On TV

Merry Lee Ness, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon L. Ness of 309 Glen Park Avenue, San Rafael, and her four 2-week-old kittens will be on the "Adventure School" television program tomorrow at 7:30 a.m., on KPIX (Channel 5).

Merry Lee is in kindergarten at Coleman School. Her father, formerly with San Francisco Engineering Co., is planning to open his own business in the Bay Area as a consulting engineer.

Defective Locks Allow Children In, Out Of School

Defective locks allowed three children to enter and leave Short School at will.

That is what the trio, two girls and a boy, 9 and 8 years old, told San Rafael police yesterday.

Principal Harold Delma reported the kindergarten room had been entered over the weekend by invaders who left writing on paper and on the blackboards. They were identified by their writing.

The children said they had entered the building several times, just opening the front and back doors due to defective locks.

Only things missing were some phonograph records which were found at the home of one of the children and returned to the school.

Crowded out on the upper level of vision, one Pekingese dog found his own peephole lower in the rear of his mistress' station wagon in Amersham, England. The six photogenic Pekes were bound for London to compete in a dog show.

Old Billboard Business Gets Another Kick

A billboard measuring 12 by 24 feet, proposed for the Edgewater Inn and kicked around by Corte Madera officialdom during all of 1960, was rejected last night by the town council.

The door was left open for construction of a sign of sorts, however, when the councilmen agreed to meet with the applicant, James Stockman, to "work out a compromise."

The sign, proposed by Stockman to stand on the northeast edge of his property adjacent to Highway 101, would "violate the intent of the zoning ordinance," councilmen said.

LIMIT ON SPACE

If the sign were permitted, its area, combined with the area of signs now standing on the property, would exceed 400 square feet. The amended sign ordinance limits such signs to 300 square feet.

The sign in question had gained approval of both the board of design and the planning commission. Permission to erect had been denied by zoning administrator William McBride because Stockman had not agreed in writing to remove his other signs.

Councilmen Roger F. Morse and Raymond L. De Young were appointed to meet with Stockman "without prejudice" and discuss his problem.

A recent council move to take from the planning commission the final say on free standing (billboard) signs was dropped, the council agreeing to leave the authority in the hands of the planners.

ONLY 'EXCEPTIONS'

In a special message to the planning commission, however, councilmen made it clear they wished free-standing signs to be approved only as "exceptions" and that "burden of proof of need must be established by the applicant."

Two more signs gained town approval when the council agreed to install "do not enter" and "yield right of way" signs at the junction of Redwood Avenue and Tamalpais Drive.

The "yield" sign would be installed on the curb on the northwest side of the island in the center of the intersection. The "do not enter" sign would prevent traffic from continuing south of Redwood on the east side of the island, requiring all traffic to circle the island in a counterclockwise direction before entering Tamalpais to go south.

In other action last night, the Corte Madera council:

1. Introduced an ordinance annexing Tamal Vista Avenue which runs south from the shopping center into Fifer Industrial Park.
2. Approved construction of sidewalks on the west side of Menke Park parallel to Corte Madera Avenue and in front of the town library on Eastman Avenue. Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow was also instructed to prepare cost estimates on construction of sidewalks adjacent to the new San Clemente School on Paradise Drive.
3. Agreed to take no stand on legislation pending in the state legislature which would increase gasoline and auto taxes.
4. Granted a 30-day extension on completion of construction of Paradise Drive because of wet weather.
5. Agreed to install warning signs at the railroad crossing on Paradise Drive and to ask the public utilities commission if a flashing warning signal is still considered necessary.
6. Set a public hearing April 17 on a new electrical code which contains more than 100 revisions from that now in use in the town.
7. Postponed until April 3 discussion of a proposed animal control ordinance, and personnel ordinance and analysis of relative value to the town of duplex and multiple residential zoning.

Hubcaps Stolen

All four hubcaps were taken from his station wagon parked in his carport, I. W. Barda of 100 Bayo Vista reported yesterday to San Rafael police. The theft occurred sometime Saturday or Sunday, according to Barda.

Recreation Council Names First Officers

Peter Krug of Larkspur was chosen chairman of the newly organized Council of Marin Recreation Commissions at the group's first meeting last night in Larkspur.

Representatives from San Rafael, Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur and Marin County Park and Recreation Commission attended the organizational meeting.

Dorothy Meyer of Larkspur is acting secretary of the group. Krug, who called the meeting, hopes to have forum type discussions at the meetings.

The group last night set up a table of organization which calls for two representatives from the recreation and park commission of each city. Each city will take turns hosting the meetings, which will be held on the first Tuesday of each third month.

The next meeting falls on June 6. Alan Steinau of Belvedere will be host.

Tree Ordinance Hearing Planned

A public hearing on whether Corte Madera should have a tree ordinance will be held by the town park and recreation commission tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The proposed ordinance would prohibit removal of trees from private or public property. The meeting in the town hall will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Assembly Approves Vote Count Speedup

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly—in a party-line 43-29 vote—yesterday passed legislation to speed up California's count of absentee ballots.

Majority Democrats sponsoring the bill said it was prompted by the two week delay in determining the California winner—Richard M. Nixon—in the last presidential election.

Republicans protested that the measure would stop servicemen from listening to the vital last two days of campaign oratory before voting. They moved to reconsider the bill today.

The bill, by Assemblyman Jesse Unruh (D-Los Angeles), requires that the mailed ballots be received by county clerks three days before the election, and counted election night. Present law says the ballots do not have to be in until five days after the election.

Judge Carter Widow Gets All Of Estate

Mrs. Jean Woodward Carter, widow of Associate Justice Jesse W. Carter of the California Supreme Court, yesterday received all of her husband's estate when the decree of distribution was signed.

Mrs. Carter received an undisclosed amount of cash from the sale of their Sleepy Hollow property, which sold for $100,000 and all personal effects of the late judge.

In a handwritten will, Judge Carter left his entire estate to his widow. Three children, Oliver J. Carter, Harlan F. Carter and Mrs. Marian Rose, were omitted because of previous advances out of the estate.

The amount of money on hand was though to be in excess of $50,000. Mrs. Carter was administrator of the estate and therefore did not have to account to herself.

Bill On Textbooks Goes To Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation growing out of the destruction of surplus textbooks was passed unanimously by the Assembly yesterday. It now goes to the Senate.

The bill would permit the state to give the books to other nations or sell the texts to organizations that promise to distribute them for educational purposes.

Assemblyman Gordon Cologne (R-Indio) said his bill also would force the Education Department to tell the public before surplus books are destroyed. In that way, he said, interested persons can look at the volumes and possibly buy them.

Postponed Session

The Marin City Community Services District board will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the community lounge, having postponed its meeting from last week.

Street-Widening Plan Offered To San Rafael

Bellam Boulevard in East San Rafael will become a 100-foot-wide traffic arterial connecting with the new Highway 101 overpass at the Marin Motor Movies if a plan proposed to the San Rafael City Council last night is carried out.

Glen Wentz, owner of property in the area, offered to give the city 50 feet for widening Bellam Boulevard through his property if it is made a through street to Francisco Boulevard at the overpass connection.

He said he also plans improvement of West Railroad Avenue, an unaccepted street through his property to connect with Bellam Boulevard if it is put through.

The city would have to buy rights of way through other properties, however, which Councilman Louis H. Baar hazarded might cost $100,000. Wentz said he thought the figure would be about $60,000.

Bellam Boulevard now ends at about Larkspur Street (the old airport runway).

"I think we should make every effort to go ahead with this now," declared Councilman David Menary Jr.

"Money should be included in our next budget," said Mayor John F. McInnis.

The council directed City Manager Dan E. Andersen to employ an appraiser, have the land descriptions drawn up, and enter into preliminary negotiations with the property owners.

One of the first to be negotiated with is P. L. Friendshuh, who already has a building permit for a warehouse building straddle of the proposed road route. Friendshuh said he paid $13,000 for the property last year, but is willing to hold up his building plan and negotiate for its sale to the city if the road is to be put through.

The council last night added to the major street list, on which it will ask state approval for spending gasoline tax funds, the extension of Second Street, Third Street, H. Street and Court Street from Fifth Avenue to Fourth Street.

By 4-1 vote, the council approved a list of "through streets," on entrances to which the traffic commission may at its discretion place stop signs. Councilman Menary voted "no," objecting that "I don't even know where some of these streets are." Added were: Medway Street, Canal Street from Medway to its east end, Golden Hinde Boulevard, Nova Albion Way, Manuel Freitas Parkway within the city limits and Las Gallinas Avenue within the city limits.

Second Place Won By Marin Girl Speaker

Joan Moran, Marin Catholic High School senior and public speaking champion, won second place Sunday in the American Legion public speaking contest state finals in Riverside. She missed first place by only two points.

Miss Moran, representing Northern California, was the only girl of six finalists. A student from Clovis High School won first place with 147 points. The six judges gave Joan 145 points.

As second place winner she received $150 cash and a gold watch.

Contestants had to give a 10-minute original speech and four minutes extemporaneous speech on some phase of the Constitution.

To reach the finals Miss Moran won the countywide contest in Marin, the North Bay regional contest in Vallejo and the Northern California contest in Marysville.

Joan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Moran of 233 Laurel Place, San Rafael. She plans to major in speech and drama in college.

Bridge Player Champions Announced In Marin Event

Ernest W. Rovere of San Francisco, well-known bridge columnist and instructor, paired up with Peggy Dennes of Santa Rosa to walk off with top prize at Sunday's mixed pairs bridge championship sponsored by the Marin County Unit, American Contract Bridge League.

The double-session event, held at Rickey's Restaurant in Ignacio, drew players from various parts of the Bay Area.

The over-all winners, behind the Rovere-Dennes team, were Ed and Cathy Foehr of San Rafael, second; Eva Reed of San Rafael and Cal Puckett of Larkspur, third, and Col. and Mrs. Walter Keisel of Tiburon, fourth.

Afternoon session winners were the Foehrs and the Reed-Puckett pair. In the evening session, winners were Ed and Helen Israel of San Francisco, Rovere-Dennes pair, and the Keisels.

The Marin unit of ACBL provided free dinner for the players between the two sessions.

In the Saturday night monthly masterpoint event, held at the Marin Jewish Community Center, the top players were as follows:

North-South—(1) Millie Mazza of San Rafael and Dave Cutmore of San Anselmo; (2) Claire Cooke of Ross and James Carbaugh of Fairfax; (3) Resi Baerwald and Edith Van Gutman of San Rafael.

East-West—(1) Col. and Mrs. Walter Keisel of Tiburon; (2) Ed and Cathy Foehr of San Rafael, (3) Kenner Foote of Fairfax and Phro Wilson of San Rafael.

Roadside Business Area At Tiburon Approved

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday approved rezoning of about 20,000 square feet of property owned by Reedlands, Inc., on the south side of Tiburon Boulevard from planned residential to limited roadside business district.

The land is opposite Bel Aire Shopping Center and south of the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The matter will go before the board of supervisors next Tuesday.

The commission also approved a request from First Congregational Church, San Rafael, for rezoning of property on the west side of Merrydale Road, from suburban agricultural to multiple residence district. The property, near the intersection of San Pedro Road, is a strip 10 feet by 192 feet.

The commission, in other business:

1. Approved plans for a change in use from a beauty parlor and real estate office to a retail liquor store for property on Tiburon Boulevard next to the Corner Market.

2. Denied an application from Joseph E. Richards for establishment of a home "light boat and motor repair" shop on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Inverness Park and Point Reyes Station.

3. Denied an application from Jeanne Scott for permission to establish a clubhouse at 1754 Indian Valley Road, near Novato, for a roping club and dancing school.

4. Set for April 3 a hearing on an application by Homer H. Tooley for rezoning property across from Novato Airport from agricultural to planned industrial.

works out at between 16 and 18 per cent of its area.

Fusselman agreed that "if they paid the ranchers the going price, then leased back, in time the ranchers would pay back the cost from the lease money. It amounts to a camouflage of confiscation."

"Higher officials are under pressure for it," said McCarthy. "Our beloved governor blindly endorsed the project."

Later Supervisor Walter P. Castro asked, "To whom do you have reference about this pressure of higher-ups?" Fusselman put in that it was "mostly led by the Sierra Club." When Castro persisted "how high?" McCarthy replied, "To the president of the United States."

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher was pledging adherence to the 53,000-acre plan about the same time the Marin supervisors were discussing it.

McCarthy said the Independent-Journal had manifested concern over the size of the project, and ranchers felt "somebody wanted to make this bigger than originally proposed, for no valid reason."

Asked what would happen to the new subdivision, Drakes Beach Estates, McCarthy said "everyone will be taken except Inverness and Inverness Park."

Capt. Adolph S. Oko, Point Reyes Station real estate man, said the area would be unsafe and couldn't be adequately cared for.

"The Sixth Army couldn't protect it," said Oko. "This project in the size proposed has not been planned, in my opinion."

Ludy put in: "We have been waiting for a feasibility report that hasn't been forthcoming. Are we going to sit on our duffs and do nothing forever?"

Ludy's letter said that pressure on him for board action had been increasing for two months and that it was time for board expression.

"I personally feel that the park in its present suggested area is both destructive and unrealistic," said the letter. "It would not only destroy the dairy industry in West Marin, but would increase our police and fire protection tenfold, in addition to taking 53,000 acres off our tax rolls.

"The Bear Valley Ranch now owned by Bruce Kelham, and the Tevis properties which constitute about 12,000 acres, have both expressed an interest to sell. These properties have all of the qualities that are required (beaches, wooded areas, meadows, lakes, streams, etc.)."

The letter concluded by asking opposition to the large project but support of "properties that have expressed an interest in selling."

Later discussion divulged that some holders within the proposed 20,000 acres have not shown a wish to sell. A count of McCarthy's mapped area showed 22 owners, of whom the majority have small holdings. Biggest are the Kelham and Tevis properties and the Golden Rule Church's Palomarin Ranch, which include the whole west coast side.

Other holders are Point Reyes Land and Development Co. with the one wholly enclosed interior property, Vedanta Society, Helen J. and Mary S. Shafter, Ludwig Schluckebier, Schultz Development Co., R. H. Menzies, Francis P. Blair, Frank Santori, Boyd Stewart, Emma K. Benevenga, Earl L. Lupton, Dorothy Williamson, Anna J. Murphy, S. A. Smoot, Gottachalk Sieroty Co., D. P. Habmaier, Joseph F. Teixeira Jr., Christina Silveira and Ethel Righetti.

First opposition, and last, to the resolution, was voiced by Castro who said that "while I feel that the ranchers need protection, I don't think we should rush."

"It's coming up this week," Ludy countered. (Committee hearings in Congress are scheduled Friday.)

"I don't feel we can, act on anything we don't know about fully," Castro persisted. "We agreed to wait for a report."

"I can't but feel for the ranchers," said Supervisor William Gnoss. "Knowing how I'd like it if somebody tried to take my place, I have to lean toward them. We've been waiting for an economic survey but it hasn't come. What are we going to do, pass the buck?"

"I feel we're getting a slap in the face from Washington," said Supervisor J. Walter Blair, just returned to board work after a month and a half of illness. "They've never asked us what we thought. From all indications they're on their toes, ready to take action."

Moving to oppose the big project but endorse the small one, Ludy summed up: "I don't feel we should wait until the patient is dead before we call the doctor."

Only Castro voted "no."

Bank Robber Nabbed Again

Bernard LeRoy Baisden, who was captured in Marin County last April, less than an hour after he allegedly robbed a Cotati bank of nearly $15,000, ws arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents yesterday in Alameda County.

A 53-year-old Santa Rosa carpenter, Baisden had been found mentally incompetent before he went to trial, and had been sent to Stockton State Hospital. He was released last January on his own recognizance.

Baisden did not return to Sacramento to stand trial, but took an apartment in Hayward and found employment as a carpenter in the construction of an apartment house in Alameda.

Marin Deputy William Bradford was credited with the capture of Baisden on the Pt. Reyes-Petaluma road. He had a paper bag stuffed with bills in the car. Deputies had every road in the county blocked in a matter of minutes after the robbery alarm was broadcast.

House Entered

Mrs. Bettey C. Oates of 16 Knoll Road, reported to San Rafael police that her house was entered while she was gone during the day yesterday. Entry was gained by removing the screen from an open back window, police reported. Nothing was reported missing. This is the third time that her house has been entered recent-

U.S. Renews Assurances On Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reported today that President John F. Kennedy has given the Soviet government renewed assurance that U.S. aircraft will avoid violating Soviet air space.

This was an outgrowth of a new RB47 incident which occurred in the vicinity of the island of Vize, Soviet territory in the Arctic waters of the Kara Sea.

The recent incident, the State Department reported, occurred "within a few days of the end of January," and several days after Kennedy had taken office.

Press officer Lincoln White said there was no firing on the American plane nor was there any formal Soviet protest.

HAFB Man's Wife Fights Off Intruder

The wife of a Hamilton Air Force Base airman drove off an attacker in the bedroom of her Petaluma home last night.

A bare-footed man broke a portion of a bedroom window in the James M. Collins home in Petaluma, unlocked the window and crawled through, Mrs. Collins told Petaluma police. He attempted to attack Mrs. Collins as she slept.

She fought the man, throwing things at him and attempting to break away. Mrs. Collins finally hit him in the head with a heavy bank filled with silver dollars, she reported.

With the threat of "I'll be back" and "Don't call the police," the attacker left by the window.

Collins is an airman first class with the 78th Armament and Electronic Squadron at the base and was at work last night. Their two children, in another room, slept through the fight, shortly after midnight, Mrs. Collins said.

HOSPITAL

pital and "all were in agreement that efforts to rebuild the old building would be a useless waste of money, entirely out of accord with the principel of economy to which Marin's board of supervisors are pledged."

Three programs could lesson the need for hospital beds at Lucas Valley, said the report.

First was the study started by Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority, on request of Supervisor William D. Fusselman to use federal money to provide homes for ambulatory and semi-ambulatory at Lucas Valley—a "sound suggestion" with "nearly everything in its favor" but "unfortunately, (it) does not begin to answer the total problem . . . We still have to build a hospital."

A "dynamic rehabilitation program" had been unanimously agreed by medical members of the committee, said the report, to increase ambulatory patients to 30 to 40 per cent of the facility's population, thus cutting the county's cost for care.

"This we feel, is real economy," continued the report, "and we feel that the county physician's admitted apathy on this topic is out of step with modern concepts of good medical practice."

A third "homemaking program," already activated, was praised as already saving the county more than $6,000 a month.

The report declared there is "need for prompt construction of a nursing home type of facility" for which plans have been prepared. "Delaying construction would be inexcusable," it said.

Reviewing the financial background including two refusals by the voters to pass a bond issue, the report said that "the voters have, in effect, authorized" a lease-purchase contract, despite its greater cost.

Candy Thieves Not Linked To Suspected Ring

Two Mill Valley boys, caught stealing candy from Shoreline Market in Tamalpais Valley on March 10, were not part of a theft ring suspected of pilfering some $20 of merchandise from the store each day, sheriff's deputies said today.

Inspectors Guido Battaglia and Carl Sears nabbed an 11-year-old boy with three candy bars and a 13-year-old with a package of mints. The boys told the inspectors that was all they ever stole, and they did not know each other or any group of youngsters engaged in methodical pilfering.

Inspectors said some youngsters were suspected of taking coffee and vitamins out of the store, then returning them for a refund. However, there was no evidence that the boys caught had ever taken coffee or vitamins, Inspector Battaglia said.

Fairfax School Board To Meet

The proposed semi-departmentalized program for the Fairfax schools will come up for discussion at tonight's regular meeting of the Fairfax School Board of Education, at the Manor School.

Under the proposal, the seventh and eighth grades would all go to Fairfax Central school. This would make the other schools teach through the sixth grades only. If the new system is adopted, regular subjects will be taught in the morning with the afternoon being used for wood working shops, home making classes, physical education, etc., according to Supt. Homer Sisk.

Tenants Council Plans Meeting

The Marin City Tenants Council will hold an emergency meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community lounge at which residents will be told the council does not believe they will be able to afford to rent or buy in Marin City under present redevelopment proposals.

Thomas M. Ryan, legal adviser to the council, reported that residents will not be able to afford either apartments or homes unless something is worked out prior to the signing of a land disposition contract Friday by the redevelopment agency and developer James H. Scheuer.

Car Radio Stolen

Mary Brink of 315 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to police yesterday that, while her car was parked outside her house Saturday and Sunday, someone stole the radio and two hubcaps.

Pastor Plans To Become Tam Teacher

The pastor of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church will exchange the role of religious teacher for that of public high school teacher in September.

Tamalpais Union High School District trustees last night hired Rev. John C. Bruce, 42, to teach business education at Tamalpais High School.

Rev. Bruce will be returning to a former career. He taught business education in Missouri high schools for three years before entering the ministry in 1942. He was pastor of a church in Van Nuys until coming to Marin County to attend San Francisco Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1950. Since then, he has been pastor of the Sleepy Hollow church. He lives at 1 Caletta Avenue, San Anselmo.

Rev. Bruce said today he could not yet comment on his plans, but that he would not attempt the double role of minister and school teacher.

Three other new teachers also were hired by the Tam High District board last night: Katherine M. Blickhahn, 26, of San Francisco, University of California graduate and teacher at Roosevelt Junior High School in Richmond, to teach English at Sir Francis Drake High School; Mary E. McCullough, 21, of Berkeley, a new graduate of U.C. to teach mathematics at Drake, and Robert O. Bachelder, 31, University of Missouri graduate now teaching at Central Valley High School in Redding, to teach mathematics at Redwood High.

The trustees granted maternity leave during 1960-61 to Mrs. Barbara Read, physical education instructor at Drake. Resignation of Mrs. Janet Carbaugh, mathematics instructor at Drake, was accepted. Mrs. Carbaugh told the trustees she was moving out of the area.

In other business, the trustees:

1. Approved a change in the district English program under which six semesters of English will be required of all graduates. Formerly, students were required five semesters of English and one of oral English. Oral English has now been dropped from the curriculum.

2. Declared their intent to lease land on the south end of the Tamalpais High School campus to the Greyhound Bus Co. for storage of busses. Before the lease could go into effect, the trustees noted, legal aspects would be worked out and public hearings held.

a test ban and particularly over the difficulty of detecting underground tests. To gain more information on this subject, the United States proposes to hold some underground tests using old devices. Under Dean's new proposal these would be open to unrestricted Soviet inspection.

The negotiations had been in recess since Dec. 5 to give President John F. Kennedy's new administration time to prepare its negotiating positions.

Novato Trustees, Parents To Meet

Trustees of Novato Unified School District will meet with parents of Olive School pupils tonight to attempt to come to agreement on what time youngsters may enter school.

Parents have complained that the multi-purpose room at the school is not open during poor weather so that youngsters can go inside before school in the morning.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the school, to be followed by a school board session on salaries of administrative personnel.

a confederation which would include secessionist Katanga province and the so-called mining state of South of Kasai.

Gizenga, a follower of the slain Patrice Lumumba, did not take part in the conference.

The Soviet foreign minister denounced the conference as "a link in the conspiracy to splinter the Congo and parcel out her territory to the colonialists." Those who participated, he said, were foreign puppets.

Gromyko blasted Hammarskjold's role in strong language. He accused him of usurping the functions of U.N. bodies and twisting U.N. actions to advance the interests of the Western powers.

"If Hammarskjold is allowed to follow this course," he said, "he may assume himself to be the prime minister of a world government."

Gromyko spoke as the 11-nation U.N. Conciliation Commission disclosed its recommendations for a broad five-point program for the Congo to be implemented with the help of the United Nations.

This included the arranging of a truce between different political factions; restoring law and order with U.N. aid; reorganization of administrative processes; reorganization of the Congo army in cooperation with the United Nations; taking of steps to enable Parliament to adopt a constitution to provide the Congo with a basis for a lasting constitutional structure.

The assembly debate got under way after an overnight delay because of the death of a Cuban delegate.

Roadside Business Area At Tiburon Approved

The Marin County Planning Commission yesterday approved rezoning of about 20,000 square feet of property owned by Reedlands, Inc., on the south side of Tiburon Boulevard from planned residential to limited roadside business district.

The land is opposite Bel Aire Shopping Center and south of the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

The matter will go before the board of supervisors next Tuesday.

The commission also approved a request from First Congregational Church, San Rafael, for rezoning of property on the west side of Merrydale Road, from suburban agricultural to multiple residence district. The property, near the intersection of San Pedro Road, is a strip 10 feet by 192 feet.

The commission, in other business:

1. Approved plans for a change in use from a beauty parlor and real estate office to a retail liquor store for property on Tiburon Boulevard next to the Corner Market.

2. Denied an application from Joseph E. Richards for establishment of a home "light boat and motor repair" shop on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Inverness Park and Point Reyes Station.

3. Denied an application from Jeanne Scott for permission to establish a clubhouse at 1754 Indian Valley Road, near Novato, for a roping club and dancing school.

4. Set for April 3 a hearing on an application by Homer H. Tooley for rezoning property across from Novato Airport from agricultural to planned industrial.

works out at between 16 and 18 per cent of its area.

Fusselman agreed that "if they paid the ranchers the going price, then leased back, in time the ranchers would pay back the cost from the lease money. It amounts to a camouflage of confiscation."

"Higher officials are under pressure for it," said McCarthy. "Our beloved governor blindly endorsed the project."

Later Supervisor Walter P. Castro asked, "To whom do you have reference about this pressure of higher-ups?" Fusselman put in that it was "mostly led by the Sierra Club." When Castro persisted "how high?" McCarthy replied, "To the president of the United States."

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher was pledging adherence to the 53,000-acre plan about the same time the Marin supervisors were discussing it.

McCarthy said the Independent-Journal had manifested concern over the size of the project, and ranchers felt "somebody wanted to make this bigger than originally proposed, for no valid reason."

Asked what would happen to the new subdivision, Drakes Beach Estates, McCarthy said "everyone will be taken except Inverness and Inverness Park."

Capt. Adolph S. Oko, Point Reyes Station real estate man, said the area would be unsafe and couldn't be adequately cared for.

"The Sixth Army couldn't protect it," said Oko. "This project in the size proposed has not been planned, in my opinion."

Ludy put in: "We have been waiting for a feasibility report that hasn't been forthcoming. Are we going to sit on our duffs and do nothing forever?"

Ludy's letter said that pressure on him for board action had been increasing for two months and that it was time for board expression.

"I personally feel that the park in its present suggested area is both destructive and unrealistic," said the letter. "It would not only destroy the dairy industry in West Marin, but would increase our police and fire protection tenfold, in addition to taking 53,000 acres off our tax rolls.

"The Bear Valley Ranch now owned by Bruce Kelham, and the Tevis properties which constitute about 12,000 acres, have both expressed an interest to sell. These properties have all of the qualities that are required (beaches, wooded areas, meadows, lakes, streams, etc.)."

The letter concluded by asking opposition to the large project but support of "properties that have expressed an interest in selling."

Later discussion divulged that some holders within the proposed 20,000 acres have not shown a wish to sell. A count of McCarthy's mapped area showed 22 owners, of whom the majority have small holdings. Biggest are the Kelham and Tevis properties and the Golden Rule Church's Palomarin Ranch, which include the whole west coast side.

Other holders are Point Reyes Land and Development Co. with the one wholly enclosed interior property, Vedanta Society, Helen J. and Mary S. Shafter, Ludwig Schluckebier, Schultz Development Co., R. H. Menzies, Francis P. Blair, Frank Santori, Boyd Stewart, Emma K. Benevenga, Earl L. Lupton, Dorothy Williamson, Anna J. Murphy, S. A. Smoot, Gottachalk Sieroty Co., D. P. Habmaier, Joseph F. Teixeira Jr., Christina Silveira and Ethel Righetti.

First opposition, and last, to the resolution, was voiced by Castro who said that "while I feel that the ranchers need protection, I don't think we should rush."

"It's coming up this week," Ludy countered. (Committee hearings in Congress are scheduled Friday.)

"I don't feel we can, act on anything we don't know about fully," Castro persisted. "We agreed to wait for a report."

"I can't but feel for the ranchers," said Supervisor William Gnoss. "Knowing how I'd like it if somebody tried to take my place, I have to lean toward them. We've been waiting for an economic survey but it hasn't come. What are we going to do, pass the buck?"

"I feel we're getting a slap in the face from Washington," said Supervisor J. Walter Blair, just returned to board work after a month and a half of illness. "They've never asked us what we thought. From all indications they're on their toes, ready to take action."

Moving to oppose the big project but endorse the small one, Ludy summed up: "I don't feel we should wait until the patient is dead before we call the doctor."

Only Castro voted "no."

Bank Robber Nabbed Again

Bernard LeRoy Baisden, who was captured in Marin County last April, less than an hour after he allegedly robbed a Cotati bank of nearly $15,000, ws arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents yesterday in Alameda County.

A 53-year-old Santa Rosa carpenter, Baisden had been found mentally incompetent before he went to trial, and had been sent to Stockton State Hospital. He was released last January on his own recognizance.

Baisden did not return to Sacramento to stand trial, but took an apartment in Hayward and found employment as a carpenter in the construction of an apartment house in Alameda.

Marin Deputy William Bradford was credited with the capture of Baisden on the Pt. Reyes-Petaluma road. He had a paper bag stuffed with bills in the car. Deputies had every road in the county blocked in a matter of minutes after the robbery alarm was broadcast.

House Entered

Mrs. Bettey C. Oates of 16 Knoll Road, reported to San Rafael police that her house was entered while she was gone during the day yesterday. Entry was gained by removing the screen from an open back window, police reported. Nothing was reported missing. This is the third time that her house has been entered recent-

U.S. Renews Assurances On Aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department reported today that President John F. Kennedy has given the Soviet government renewed assurance that U.S. aircraft will avoid violating Soviet air space.

This was an outgrowth of a new RB47 incident which occurred in the vicinity of the island of Vize, Soviet territory in the Arctic waters of the Kara Sea.

The recent incident, the State Department reported, occurred "within a few days of the end of January," and several days after Kennedy had taken office.

Press officer Lincoln White said there was no firing on the American plane nor was there any formal Soviet protest.

HAFB Man's Wife Fights Off Intruder

The wife of a Hamilton Air Force Base airman drove off an attacker in the bedroom of her Petaluma home last night.

A bare-footed man broke a portion of a bedroom window in the James M. Collins home in Petaluma, unlocked the window and crawled through, Mrs. Collins told Petaluma police. He attempted to attack Mrs. Collins as she slept.

She fought the man, throwing things at him and attempting to break away. Mrs. Collins finally hit him in the head with a heavy bank filled with silver dollars, she reported.

With the threat of "I'll be back" and "Don't call the police," the attacker left by the window.

Collins is an airman first class with the 78th Armament and Electronic Squadron at the base and was at work last night. Their two children, in another room, slept through the fight, shortly after midnight, Mrs. Collins said.

HOSPITAL

pital and "all were in agreement that efforts to rebuild the old building would be a useless waste of money, entirely out of accord with the principel of economy to which Marin's board of supervisors are pledged."

Three programs could lesson the need for hospital beds at Lucas Valley, said the report.

First was the study started by Bert Klahn, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority, on request of Supervisor William D. Fusselman to use federal money to provide homes for ambulatory and semi-ambulatory at Lucas Valley—a "sound suggestion" with "nearly everything in its favor" but "unfortunately, (it) does not begin to answer the total problem . . . We still have to build a hospital."

A "dynamic rehabilitation program" had been unanimously agreed by medical members of the committee, said the report, to increase ambulatory patients to 30 to 40 per cent of the facility's population, thus cutting the county's cost for care.

"This we feel, is real economy," continued the report, "and we feel that the county physician's admitted apathy on this topic is out of step with modern concepts of good medical practice."

A third "homemaking program," already activated, was praised as already saving the county more than $6,000 a month.

The report declared there is "need for prompt construction of a nursing home type of facility" for which plans have been prepared. "Delaying construction would be inexcusable," it said.

Reviewing the financial background including two refusals by the voters to pass a bond issue, the report said that "the voters have, in effect, authorized" a lease-purchase contract, despite its greater cost.

Candy Thieves Not Linked To Suspected Ring

Two Mill Valley boys, caught stealing candy from Shoreline Market in Tamalpais Valley on March 10, were not part of a theft ring suspected of pilfering some $20 of merchandise from the store each day, sheriff's deputies said today.

Inspectors Guido Battaglia and Carl Sears nabbed an 11-year-old boy with three candy bars and a 13-year-old with a package of mints. The boys told the inspectors that was all they ever stole, and they did not know each other or any group of youngsters engaged in methodical pilfering.

Inspectors said some youngsters were suspected of taking coffee and vitamins out of the store, then returning them for a refund. However, there was no evidence that the boys caught had ever taken coffee or vitamins, Inspector Battaglia said.

Fairfax School Board To Meet

The proposed semi-departmentalized program for the Fairfax schools will come up for discussion at tonight's regular meeting of the Fairfax School Board of Education, at the Manor School.

Under the proposal, the seventh and eighth grades would all go to Fairfax Central school. This would make the other schools teach through the sixth grades only. If the new system is adopted, regular subjects will be taught in the morning with the afternoon being used for wood working shops, home making classes, physical education, etc., according to Supt. Homer Sisk.

Tenants Council Plans Meeting

The Marin City Tenants Council will hold an emergency meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community lounge at which residents will be told the council does not believe they will be able to afford to rent or buy in Marin City under present redevelopment proposals.

Thomas M. Ryan, legal adviser to the council, reported that residents will not be able to afford either apartments or homes unless something is worked out prior to the signing of a land disposition contract Friday by the redevelopment agency and developer James H. Scheuer.

Car Radio Stolen

Mary Brink of 315 Eldridge Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to police yesterday that, while her car was parked outside her house Saturday and Sunday, someone stole the radio and two hubcaps.

Pastor Plans To Become Tam Teacher

The pastor of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church will exchange the role of religious teacher for that of public high school teacher in September.

Tamalpais Union High School District trustees last night hired Rev. John C. Bruce, 42, to teach business education at Tamalpais High School.

Rev. Bruce will be returning to a former career. He taught business education in Missouri high schools for three years before entering the ministry in 1942. He was pastor of a church in Van Nuys until coming to Marin County to attend San Francisco Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1950. Since then, he has been pastor of the Sleepy Hollow church. He lives at 1 Caletta Avenue, San Anselmo.

Rev. Bruce said today he could not yet comment on his plans, but that he would not attempt the double role of minister and school teacher.

Three other new teachers also were hired by the Tam High District board last night: Katherine M. Blickhahn, 26, of San Francisco, University of California graduate and teacher at Roosevelt Junior High School in Richmond, to teach English at Sir Francis Drake High School; Mary E. McCullough, 21, of Berkeley, a new graduate of U.C. to teach mathematics at Drake, and Robert O. Bachelder, 31, University of Missouri graduate now teaching at Central Valley High School in Redding, to teach mathematics at Redwood High.

The trustees granted maternity leave during 1960-61 to Mrs. Barbara Read, physical education instructor at Drake. Resignation of Mrs. Janet Carbaugh, mathematics instructor at Drake, was accepted. Mrs. Carbaugh told the trustees she was moving out of the area.

In other business, the trustees:

1. Approved a change in the district English program under which six semesters of English will be required of all graduates. Formerly, students were required five semesters of English and one of oral English. Oral English has now been dropped from the curriculum.

2. Declared their intent to lease land on the south end of the Tamalpais High School campus to the Greyhound Bus Co. for storage of busses. Before the lease could go into effect, the trustees noted, legal aspects would be worked out and public hearings held.

a test ban and particularly over the difficulty of detecting underground tests. To gain more information on this subject, the United States proposes to hold some underground tests using old devices. Under Dean's new proposal these would be open to unrestricted Soviet inspection.

The negotiations had been in recess since Dec. 5 to give President John F. Kennedy's new administration time to prepare its negotiating positions.

Novato Trustees, Parents To Meet

Trustees of Novato Unified School District will meet with parents of Olive School pupils tonight to attempt to come to agreement on what time youngsters may enter school.

Parents have complained that the multi-purpose room at the school is not open during poor weather so that youngsters can go inside before school in the morning.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the school, to be followed by a school board session on salaries of administrative personnel.

a confederation which would include secessionist Katanga province and the so-called mining state of South of Kasai.

Gizenga, a follower of the slain Patrice Lumumba, did not take part in the conference.

The Soviet foreign minister denounced the conference as "a link in the conspiracy to splinter the Congo and parcel out her territory to the colonialists." Those who participated, he said, were foreign puppets.

Gromyko blasted Hammarskjold's role in strong language. He accused him of usurping the functions of U.N. bodies and twisting U.N. actions to advance the interests of the Western powers.

"If Hammarskjold is allowed to follow this course," he said, "he may assume himself to be the prime minister of a world government."

Gromyko spoke as the 11-nation U.N. Conciliation Commission disclosed its recommendations for a broad five-point program for the Congo to be implemented with the help of the United Nations.

This included the arranging of a truce between different political factions; restoring law and order with U.N. aid; reorganization of administrative processes; reorganization of the Congo army in cooperation with the United Nations; taking of steps to enable Parliament to adopt a constitution to provide the Congo with a basis for a lasting constitutional structure.

The assembly debate got under way after an overnight delay because of the death of a Cuban delegate.

NEW COUNTY SETUP

Only One Contest For School Board

(This is the first of a series of stories on candidates for school boards in Marin County in the April 18 elections.)

Although four members of the Marin County Board of Education are to be elected April 18, there is a contest in only one of the four areas.

The county board, as reconstituted this year, will consist of seven members elected by trustee areas, instead of five area members and two at-large members as in the past. The state legislature last year ruled out at-large memberships on county boards of education.

Only contest this year is in the fifth trustee area, which is made up of Mill Valley and Sausalito Elementary School Districts.

Contending for the Area 5 seat on the county board are Robert G. Randolph, the incumbent, and William B. Scrimgeour, both Mill Valley residents.

In Area 3, made up of Fairfax, Lagunitas, Nicasio and San Anselmo Elementary School Districts, incumbent Harry N. Press of San Anselmo, now serving by appointment, is unopposed. Press was named to the county board to succeed Lyman B. McBride, also of San Anselmo, on McBride's resigning the office last year.

In Area 6, which now is composed of Bolinas-Stinson Beach, Point Reyes and West Marin Districts, incumbent OB Cavanaugh is unopposed.

Area 7 is a newly created area which has had no representative on the county board. It is composed of Burdell, Laguna, Lincoln, Tomales Bay and Union Elementary Districts, two of which—Laguna and Union—straddle the Sonoma County line. Arnold Dolcini Jr., who lives just within Marin County, is unopposed for member from this area.

The county board of education deals principally with the smaller school districts, as it provides audio-visual aids, music, art, counselling and other special services in many of the smaller districts by contract. It also must approve texts for use in the county, operates the Marindale School for the Handicapped and special classes at other schools, and deals with countywide policy matters. Its work is in close association with the county superintendent—Virgil S. Hollis—who also is elected.

Here are thumbnail biographies of the two candidates in the only contested race, who will be voted on by residents within the Fifth Trustee Area:

ROBERT G. RANDOLPH, 39, resides at 155 Circle Avenue, Mill Valley, with his wife and three sons. He is employed in the public relations department of Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco.

Randolph was born in South Dakota, attended high school in Florida, and was graduated from Stanford University with an A.B. degree in business. He has also taken some post-graduate courses at University of California.

He is an Army veteran of World War II and is a member of the Commonwealth Club. He has been active in Tamalpais Union High School District citizen committees and is a trustee of the Mill Valley Library.

Randolph advocates "adequate physical facilities, the best in teaching materials, good health conditions and an overall atmosphere conducive of the development of education and real intelligence" in Marin's schools.

WILLIAM B. SCRIMGEOUR, 32, resides with his wife and two sons at 288 Ricardo Road, Strawberry. He is a salesman with the Univac division of Sperry-Rand Corp. in San Francisco.

Scrimgeour was born in Galveston, Tex., went through high school there, and holds a B.S. degree from Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and master of public accounting degree from University of Texas. He was a varsity football player in college.

He served six years in the Air Force, including two years in Korea, attaining the rank of captain, and holds a presidential citation with oak leaf cluster. He is now in the Air Force Reserve. He is third district chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee and a member of several professional organizations. He is also a member of the Strawberry Property Owners Assn.

Declares Scrimgeour: "There is no easy way to the development of a keen mind—it takes hard work. I believe in mental as well as physical gymnastics. We must develop the whole child—body, mind and spirit."

School Board Candidates' Night Set

Three parent-teacher associations have scheduled public candidates' nights for the seven candidates seeking election to the San Rafael Board of Education.

Two members of the board, to succeed Willard E. Vernon and Harold H. Fulkerson, neither of whom is seeking reelection, are to be chosen by the voters in the municipal election of April 10. This is eight days ahead of school board elections for other school boards in Marin County.

The first candidates' night will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. at San Pedro School, announced Mrs. Charles Green, new San Pedro P-TA president.

Terra Linda High School will be the scene of a candidates' night at 8 p.m. on April 5, sponsored by the Terra Linda High P-TA, of which Frank Parker is president.

The following night—April 6 at 8 o'clock—a candidates' night will be held at West End School, also open to the public, announced Mrs. Bryce W. Anderson, P-TA president.

Candidates for the San Rafael board are Mrs. Bella Aaron, David Sokoloff, Howard L. Simon, Lothar Salin, Ben F. Petrini, John M. Bagshaw and Joseph Albanese.

Army To Call Bids For Jetty Repair

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bids to begin repair of the storm damaged jetty at Bodega Bay will be requested this week by the Army Corps of Engineers, Rep. Clement W. Miller (D-Corte Madera) said yesterday.

Congress appropriated $125,000 last year for the project, now estimated to cost $300,000. The job involves the placement of more than 16,000 tons of stone to close the jetty protecting the dredged entrance to the Sonoma County harbor.

Miller said he will seek a new appropriation of $185,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to complete the work.

Senate Approves, 33-1, Liquor License Curb

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Overwhelming Senate passage gave a solid lift today to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's proposed reforms of liquor licensing in California.

The Senate approved the bill yesterday, 33-1, without debate and sent it to the Assembly. Sen. Aaron Quick (D-Calexico) cast the only dissenting vote. He didn't say why.

Sen. Hugh M. Burns (D-Fresno), who introduced the measure, said it's designed to prevent a chaotic condition.

"If we don't pass this immediately," he told the Senate, "counties with large populations will find themselves flooded with licenses."

The legislation seeks to forestall the issuance of 4,301 new on-sale (bar) and 247 off-sale (package store) licenses as a result of state population growth.

At the same time, it would permit regulated inter-county license transfers to areas where they're scarce. Trading in liquor licenses under the present system has brought prices as high as $41,000.

The legislation, in brief, would:

Allow transfer of existing licenses between large counties, change the general quota for both on-sale and off-sale licenses from one per 1,000 population to one per 2,000, and set the fee for all new licenses at $6,000.

No county could get more than 25 new licenses in a year.

Under the proposed formula, the state would issue 153 new off-sale licenses in 14 counties and allow 174 inter-county transfers affecting 21 counties.

The bill authorizes 141 new on-sale general licenses in eight counties and 201 inter-county transfers in 27 counties. (Marin County would be eligible for 11 license transfers.)

NEW COUNTY SETUP

Only One Contest For School Board

(This is the first of a series of stories on candidates for school boards in Marin County in the April 18 elections.)

Although four members of the Marin County Board of Education are to be elected April 18, there is a contest in only one of the four areas.

The county board, as reconstituted this year, will consist of seven members elected by trustee areas, instead of five area members and two at-large members as in the past. The state legislature last year ruled out at-large memberships on county boards of education.

Only contest this year is in the fifth trustee area, which is made up of Mill Valley and Sausalito Elementary School Districts.

Contending for the Area 5 seat on the county board are Robert G. Randolph, the incumbent, and William B. Scrimgeour, both Mill Valley residents.

In Area 3, made up of Fairfax, Lagunitas, Nicasio and San Anselmo Elementary School Districts, incumbent Harry N. Press of San Anselmo, now serving by appointment, is unopposed. Press was named to the county board to succeed Lyman B. McBride, also of San Anselmo, on McBride's resigning the office last year.

In Area 6, which now is composed of Bolinas-Stinson Beach, Point Reyes and West Marin Districts, incumbent OB Cavanaugh is unopposed.

Area 7 is a newly created area which has had no representative on the county board. It is composed of Burdell, Laguna, Lincoln, Tomales Bay and Union Elementary Districts, two of which—Laguna and Union—straddle the Sonoma County line. Arnold Dolcini Jr., who lives just within Marin County, is unopposed for member from this area.

The county board of education deals principally with the smaller school districts, as it provides audio-visual aids, music, art, counselling and other special services in many of the smaller districts by contract. It also must approve texts for use in the county, operates the Marindale School for the Handicapped and special classes at other schools, and deals with countywide policy matters. Its work is in close association with the county superintendent—Virgil S. Hollis—who also is elected.

Here are thumbnail biographies of the two candidates in the only contested race, who will be voted on by residents within the Fifth Trustee Area:

ROBERT G. RANDOLPH, 39, resides at 155 Circle Avenue, Mill Valley, with his wife and three sons. He is employed in the public relations department of Standard Oil Co. of California in San Francisco.

Randolph was born in South Dakota, attended high school in Florida, and was graduated from Stanford University with an A.B. degree in business. He has also taken some post-graduate courses at University of California.

He is an Army veteran of World War II and is a member of the Commonwealth Club. He has been active in Tamalpais Union High School District citizen committees and is a trustee of the Mill Valley Library.

Randolph advocates "adequate physical facilities, the best in teaching materials, good health conditions and an overall atmosphere conducive of the development of education and real intelligence" in Marin's schools.

Budgets Being Prepared Now Set Your Tax Bill

The taxes you pay depend directly on the budgets that your county, your city, your school districts and your special districts approve.

First they decide how much money they are going to spend next year, then they tell you how much your share is.

From the county on down, most of the political subdivisions, including the schools, will soon be considering their budgets.

It's up to you to pay some attention to what they propose to spend. Now is the time you can save yourself some tax money. When the tax bill comes around, it's too late. There's nothing to do but pay. Before the budget is approved is the time to make your voice heard. All budget sessions are open meetings.

In that connection the Board of Supervisors was given by the county administrator some interesting comparisons of its 1960-61 budget with those of six neighboring counties — Sonoma, Contra Costa, Alemeda, Solano, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

For Marin, the comparison generally was quite favorable. Although the county's budget had increased 192 per cent in 10 years, the assessed value had increased 197 per cent. This was the highest budget increase and the second highest assessed value increase among the seven.

Nevertheless, the per capita county budget in Marin County was only $81.-05. This was the lowest except for Solano and San Mateo counties and well below the average of the six counties and even-farther below the state average.

The per capita assessed valuation also was well below most of the other counties. Only Solano and Alameda had assessed valuation per person less than Marin's $1,652. The state average was more than $230 higher.

Marin's percentage population increase trailed only Santa Clara and San Mateo, but the 71.5 per cent in the 10 years was far behind the 192 per cent increase in the budget, showing an increased demand for services on the part of the general public.

The figures which indicated the most why Marin residents complain of their tax bills was the administrator's breakdown of assessed valuations.

It revealed that 67 per cent of the county's assessed valuation is in residential property. Next closest is public utilities, only 11 per cent. Farms and unimproved lands were 9 per cent; commercial 7 per cent and industrial only 1 per cent.

No wonder the home owner thinks taxes are high, he has to pay about two thirds, an undue proportion. Unfortunately, the administrator didn't secure similar comparisons from other counties. They should be interesting for comparison.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

HIGH PRICE OF INGRATITUDE

Those who take their blessings for granted often lose them when least expected.

Several residents in a Connecticut town who had been receiving free firewood for the past ten years discovered this to their surprise and regret.

The local tree department had been giving away wood from storm-damaged and disease-stricken trees but found that this service was far from appreciated.

Recipients of the free wood complained that it didn't arrive cut in the correct lengths or wasn't stacked neatly in their cellars.

Ingratitude is at the bottom of many of the problems that beset the world. Those who are unthankful not only hurt themselves but withhold appreciation due others. Little wonder that Shakespeare said "Ingratitude! thou marble-headed fiend."

Take a few moments each day to thank God for the many blessings that come your way. You will be the better for it if you do—and others will, too!

"All the days of thy life have God in thy mind."

Thanks to you, O heavenly Father, for all that I am and ever hope to be.

Observations On Being 50 From A Four-Week Veteran Of Same

NEW YORK (AP) — What is it like to be 50 years old?

That question bothered me when I hit the half century mark a month ago. I feared the worst.

I had a half-formed dread that, like the wonderful one hoss shay, a fellow ran the risk of suddenly falling to pieces, worn out in every part.

At the best, I figured, life would be dramatically and dismayingly different.

But after a full four weeks of being 50, I learned a surprising thing—it isn't half as worrisome as being a teenager. You may have fewer big dreams, but you have fewer big problems, too.

At 50 you face up to the fact you are too old for President Kennedy to invite you into his Peace Corps, but somehow this is a blow you are able to weather without undue bitterness.

After all, it doesn't mean you are relegated to the wheel chair. You are still a bit young for that. You are also still too young to park in the chimney corner and start mumbling over your bowl of gruel.

Here's what it is really like to be 50:

Women of 40 become dangerously beautiful, and any girl under 25 seems gauche and immature.

Instead of thinking old age as beginning at 60, you decide it begins at 70, or 75, or maybe even 80.

You feel sorry for the young. They have so much trouble to go through which you yourself have already known. You decide that if you could have youth a second time you wouldn't want it.

THE BOSS, particularly if he is older than you, rises higher in your estimation. After all, any man smart enough to keep you on the payroll all these years can't be altogether dumb.

You appreciate your wife more, too. She has put up with a lot, and been loyal. Now and then you even catch yourself absentmindedly listening to something she says — and finding it intensely interesting.

Retirement, which seemed so distant, now looms nearer and nearer. Why, 65 is only 180 months away, 179, 178. You begin looking around for a hobby of some kind.

YOU HATE to throw away an old suit, an old pair of shoes, a favorite necktie getting shabby. It disturbs you even when an old enemy passes on. These things have been part of your life. You don't want to lose them.

The turning seasons become a recurrent miracle. It is as if time had peeled your eyes to a new freshness.

At 50 you are swept with gratitude for many things you took for granted before, because now you realize you won't know these sights and sounds and people and experiences forever.

If you have a chance to become 50, don't pass it by. It's just worth waiting for.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Only 2 Holidays Of Significance

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Bodeen's letter (March 16) prompted me to comment that there are two holidays of lasting significance — Christmas and Easter.

Respect for statesmen and heroes should be inculcated through students' classroom assignments, but it is a fatuous assumption that visualizes anyone staying at home on the four cited holidays (plus Columbus Day) to meditate upon the characters of history.

Working people get seven paid holiday each year. Celebrating these dates on days within the business week is an extravagance because the flow of trade, traffic and school is disrupted.

It is therefore recommended that the seven paid holidays be lumped into a third week of vacation.

As for school children, all one has to do is to count the total days in a year when schools are closed and compare this figure with the number of days in which American young people are given opportunity to learn enough to keep abreast of world competition.

Dental Program Outdid S. F.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The Marin County Dental Society wishes to express its thinks for the wonderful cooperation of your paper during Children's Dental Health Week this year.

The coverage of our program with the articles and pictures by your paper was truly superb and was very important in making a success of the program.

It might interest you to know that the San Francisco Dental Society ran the same type of program as we did in Marin. Instead of only one facility, as we had, they had 12 examining facilities scattered throughout the city; however, they examined only about 330 children to our 523 children.

The main reason for this was that they did not have the good newspaper publicity and coverage that we had here in Marin.

So again, we say thank you.

Burning Books Scandal Mild Along Side Of Unused Required Textbooks

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The furor over the "burning of the books" probably would be insignificant if compared with what could be developed as to the number of published and unused textbooks distributed throughout the state over the past several years. Someone would need the time and energy to spend a few thousand dollars a probe.

When the text-book situation was being investigated several years ago, the fact was brought out that over a wide range, state-published text-books were being distributed to school districts, only to collect dust on storage shelves.

ASKED TODAY how many books had been distributed and remained unused, representatives of the state Department of Education said they didn't know, and that there was no method of finding out.

The crux of the situation is that the old text-books for which plates were purchased by the state, were not considered satisfactory in some districts. Privately published books were purchased instead. Thus, the books published by the state, and paid for by taxpayers, were never used.

PLACING THE BLAME in the waste encountered in burning of surplus books, is difficult to do.

Under the old system, a three-year supply of books was ordered by the department, and held in stock for distribution to districts as required. The districts, using books purchased from private printing concerns, failed to order enough to use up the three-year supply. The Department of Education was unable to sell these overstocked supplies to outside sources, because clauses in contracts for the plates forbid sale outside the state.

Now the only solution, outside of burning the surplus, is to give the books to the federal government, if the federal government wants them, to use as it sees fit. The state by law can give nothing away except to the federal government.

QUESTIONS HAVE been raised as to why the books could not be salvaged at least for conversion into pulp. The state printing office explains that the covers of the books contain an ingredient which makes them unacceptable to pulp mills.

Further, it would cost more to tear off the covers and pulp the insides than it would to burn the books.

Fundamentally, the blame lies in the promotion of socialistic concepts of government in the education field. Had the text-books been purchased from private printers, the Department of Education would need only to buy an annual supply, thereby having a current, up-to-date text-book for California's school students, instead of being forced to offer obsolete books from the state printitng office.

It's All In The Way You Say It, Or At Least The Way It Comes Out

In the small towns in the Midwest (or back East), as Californians say) nobody ever dies.

The population explosion is stupendous. Read the local weekly papers and you'll find that people succumb, pass on, are taken, go to the final reward or expire.

It seems a tradition that small town weeklies do not admit that someone is dead, done and under. Nurses and doctors, who face more gruesome reality than most, also are prone to this phrasing, perhaps from trying to save too many relatives from shock.

THE INDEPENDENT-Journal sometimes succumbs to similar wording in death stories. But the most recent pearl was the headline "Man Dies In Paradise," meaning Paradise, Calif.

Kathy Morris, the real boss of Hamilton Air Force Base as secretary to base commander Col. Harvey Henderson, has a fine collection of headlines which I shall pass on.

Her father, I. P. McDowell, was a reporter for a good many Bay Area papers and after the reporter's experience, unlikely enough, became a San Rafael policeman.

FROM HIS collection, which she has saved, comes a church notice:

"Evening service, 7:30. 'On the Road to Disaster.' Come and join us."

There are headlines such as "Man Accused Of Stealing Flees From Police" and "Find 4 Skeletons Digging Reservoir."

From the social notes comes word that "Mrs. Howard L. Bacon gave a lunch for Mrs. Boswell Ham . . ." Kathy has even better ones, unintentional bloopers which could give Playboy a race for top circulation.

A FINE AND intentional example of goobledydook comes from a recent Novato Chamber of Commerce Bulletin by way of a company magazine which heisted it from someone else.

"Business Forecast: The Commerce Department reports that sales and income figures show an easing up of the rate at which business is easing off, which is taken as proof of the government's contention that there is a slowing up of the slowdown."

"Turning to unemployment: We find a definite decrease in the rate of increase, which clearly shows that there is a letting up of the letdown. Of course, if the slowdown should speed up, the decrease in the rate of increase of unemployment would turn into an increase in the rate of the decrease of employment.

"IN OTHER WORDS, the deceleration would be accelerated.

"But the indicators suggest rather a leveling off, followed by a gentle pickup, rather than a faster pickup, a slowdown of the pickup, and finally a leveling off again of the pickup.

"At any rate, the climate is right for a pickup this season, especially if you are unmarried and driving a convertible . . . "

Whole New Foreign Aid Approach Outlined In Latin-America Talk

WASHINGTON — In the President's address and message dealing with Latin American affairs, we have the outline of a new approach to the whole complex question of foreign aid.

The Kennedy view is that foreign capital alone will no longer do what is wanted.

If a country is to be helped and the money is not to be wasted, the country must have enough education, there must be enough social justice, there must be some administrative competence, and there must be a sense of what development means.

LOOKING BACK over the history of foreign aid we can now see that the first countries which received aid were the most advanced countries in the world. They had the education, the administrative experience, and the like. What they lacked in order to recover from the war, was the foreign exchange to buy essential imports to feed their people and to reconstruct their industries.

But when the policy of foreign aid was applied to truly underdeveloped countries, with an illiterate population and a feudal or tribal social order, the results have been disappointing. A great amount of the disillusionment in Congress and among our people stems from hearing about the waste of money in countries which are not advanced enough to use it effectively.

THERE IS something missing, so it seems to me, in the presentation of the new policy. What is missing is an effective answer to those who will say: Why should we do this? Why should we take upon ourselves as much as, let us say, two-thirds of the burden of helping the non-Communist countries?

I think there are answers to these questions. But I do not think that the convincing answer is to say to our people: If you don't pay up, Khrushchev will get you, Castro will get you.

The principle of the true answer is to be found in President Kennedy's inaugural address. We shall help them, said the President, to help themselves for as long a period as may be needed because it is right.

Why should the President not translate this noble principle into concrete form?

THERE IS AN IDEA, often proposed in recent years, that each nation should impose upon itself the obligation to help other people by contributing to foreign aid a fixed amount—say 1 per cent—of its gross national product. I believe it would be a great moment in the history of our time if the United States publicly acknowledged such an obligation.

If the principle were generally adopted, if by our action we could set an example which would be followed, every nation would contribute something to the international community. Even the poorer nations could afford to contribute something—say about 50 cents to a dollar per capita. They would feel better, they would like themselves and us better if they did.

Budgets Being Prepared Now Set Your Tax Bill

The taxes you pay depend directly on the budgets that your county, your city, your school districts and your special districts approve.

First they decide how much money they are going to spend next year, then they tell you how much your share is.

From the county on down, most of the political subdivisions, including the schools, will soon be considering their budgets.

It's up to you to pay some attention to what they propose to spend. Now is the time you can save yourself some tax money. When the tax bill comes around, it's too late. There's nothing to do but pay. Before the budget is approved is the time to make your voice heard. All budget sessions are open meetings.

In that connection the Board of Supervisors was given by the county administrator some interesting comparisons of its 1960-61 budget with those of six neighboring counties — Sonoma, Contra Costa, Alemeda, Solano, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

For Marin, the comparison generally was quite favorable. Although the county's budget had increased 192 per cent in 10 years, the assessed value had increased 197 per cent. This was the highest budget increase and the second highest assessed value increase among the seven.

Nevertheless, the per capita county budget in Marin County was only $81.-05. This was the lowest except for Solano and San Mateo counties and well below the average of the six counties and even-farther below the state average.

The per capita assessed valuation also was well below most of the other counties. Only Solano and Alameda had assessed valuation per person less than Marin's $1,652. The state average was more than $230 higher.

Marin's percentage population increase trailed only Santa Clara and San Mateo, but the 71.5 per cent in the 10 years was far behind the 192 per cent increase in the budget, showing an increased demand for services on the part of the general public.

The figures which indicated the most why Marin residents complain of their tax bills was the administrator's breakdown of assessed valuations.

It revealed that 67 per cent of the county's assessed valuation is in residential property. Next closest is public utilities, only 11 per cent. Farms and unimproved lands were 9 per cent; commercial 7 per cent and industrial only 1 per cent.

No wonder the home owner thinks taxes are high, he has to pay about two thirds, an undue proportion. Unfortunately, the administrator didn't secure similar comparisons from other counties. They should be interesting for comparison.

HIGH PRICE OF INGRATITUDE

Those who take their blessings for granted often lose them when least expected.

Several residents in a Connecticut town who had been receiving free firewood for the past ten years discovered this to their surprise and regret.

The local tree department had been giving away wood from storm-damaged and disease-stricken trees but found that this service was far from appreciated.

Recipients of the free wood complained that it didn't arrive cut in the correct lengths or wasn't stacked neatly in their cellars.

Ingratitude is at the bottom of many of the problems that beset the world. Those who are unthankful not only hurt themselves but withhold appreciation due others. Little wonder that Shakespeare said "Ingratitude! thou marble-headed fiend."

Take a few moments each day to thank God for the many blessings that come your way. You will be the better for it if you do—and others will, too!

"All the days of thy life have God in thy mind."

Thanks to you, O heavenly Father, for all that I am and ever hope to be.

Observations On Being 50 From A Four-Week Veteran Of Same

NEW YORK (AP) — What is it like to be 50 years old?

That question bothered me when I hit the half century mark a month ago. I feared the worst.

I had a half-formed dread that, like the wonderful one hoss shay, a fellow ran the risk of suddenly falling to pieces, worn out in every part.

At the best, I figured, life would be dramatically and dismayingly different.

But after a full four weeks of being 50, I learned a surprising thing—it isn't half as worrisome as being a teenager. You may have fewer big dreams, but you have fewer big problems, too.

At 50 you face up to the fact you are too old for President Kennedy to invite you into his Peace Corps, but somehow this is a blow you are able to weather without undue bitterness.

After all, it doesn't mean you are relegated to the wheel chair. You are still a bit young for that. You are also still too young to park in the chimney corner and start mumbling over your bowl of gruel.

Here's what it is really like to be 50:

Women of 40 become dangerously beautiful, and any girl under 25 seems gauche and immature.

Instead of thinking old age as beginning at 60, you decide it begins at 70, or 75, or maybe even 80.

You feel sorry for the young. They have so much trouble to go through which you yourself have already known. You decide that if you could have youth a second time you wouldn't want it.

THE BOSS, particularly if he is older than you, rises higher in your estimation. After all, any man smart enough to keep you on the payroll all these years can't be altogether dumb.

You appreciate your wife more, too. She has put up with a lot, and been loyal. Now and then you even catch yourself absentmindedly listening to something she says — and finding it intensely interesting.

Retirement, which seemed so distant, now looms nearer and nearer. Why, 65 is only 180 months away, 179, 178. You begin looking around for a hobby of some kind.

YOU HATE to throw away an old suit, an old pair of shoes, a favorite necktie getting shabby. It disturbs you even when an old enemy passes on. These things have been part of your life. You don't want to lose them.

The turning seasons become a recurrent miracle. It is as if time had peeled your eyes to a new freshness.

At 50 you are swept with gratitude for many things you took for granted before, because now you realize you won't know these sights and sounds and people and experiences forever.

If you have a chance to become 50, don't pass it by. It's just worth waiting for.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Mrs. Bodeen's letter (March 16) prompted me to comment that there are two holidays of lasting significance — Christmas and Easter.

Respect for statesmen and heroes should be inculcated through students' classroom assignments, but it is a fatuous assumption that visualizes anyone staying at home on the four cited holidays (plus Columbus Day) to meditate upon the characters of history.

Working people get seven paid holiday each year. Celebrating these dates on days within the business week is an extravagance because the flow of trade, traffic and school is disrupted.

It is therefore recommended that the seven paid holidays be lumped into a third week of vacation.

As for school children, all one has to do is to count the total days in a year when schools are closed and compare this figure with the number of days in which American young people are given opportunity to learn enough to keep abreast of world competition.

Burning Books Scandal Mild Along Side Of Unused Required Textbooks

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The furor over the "burning of the books" probably would be insignificant if compared with what could be developed as to the number of published and unused textbooks distributed throughout the state over the past several years. Someone would need the time and energy to spend a few thousand dollars a probe.

When the text-book situation was being investigated several years ago, the fact was brought out that over a wide range, state-published text-books were being distributed to school districts, only to collect dust on storage shelves.

ASKED TODAY how many books had been distributed and remained unused, representatives of the state Department of Education said they didn't know, and that there was no method of finding out.

The crux of the situation is that the old text-books for which plates were purchased by the state, were not considered satisfactory in some districts. Privately published books were purchased instead. Thus, the books published by the state, and paid for by taxpayers, were never used.

PLACING THE BLAME in the waste encountered in burning of surplus books, is difficult to do.

Under the old system, a three-year supply of books was ordered by the department, and held in stock for distribution to districts as required. The districts, using books purchased from private printing concerns, failed to order enough to use up the three-year supply. The Department of Education was unable to sell these overstocked supplies to outside sources, because clauses in contracts for the plates forbid sale outside the state.

Now the only solution, outside of burning the surplus, is to give the books to the federal government, if the federal government wants them, to use as it sees fit. The state by law can give nothing away except to the federal government.

QUESTIONS HAVE been raised as to why the books could not be salvaged at least for conversion into pulp. The state printing office explains that the covers of the books contain an ingredient which makes them unacceptable to pulp mills.

Further, it would cost more to tear off the covers and pulp the insides than it would to burn the books.

Fundamentally, the blame lies in the promotion of socialistic concepts of government in the education field. Had the text-books been purchased from private printers, the Department of Education would need only to buy an annual supply, thereby having a current, up-to-date text-book for California's school students, instead of being forced to offer obsolete books from the state printitng office.

Dental Program Outdid S. F.

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The Marin County Dental Society wishes to express its thinks for the wonderful cooperation of your paper during Children's Dental Health Week this year.

The coverage of our program with the articles and pictures by your paper was truly superb and was very important in making a success of the program.

It might interest you to know that the San Francisco Dental Society ran the same type of program as we did in Marin. Instead of only one facility, as we had, they had 12 examining facilities scattered throughout the city; however, they examined only about 330 children to our 523 children.

The main reason for this was that they did not have the good newspaper publicity and coverage that we had here in Marin.

So again, we say thank you.

GAS WAR FLARES, BUT NOT IN MARIN COUNTY

The gasoline price war, which flared up again yesterday in the East Bay sending prices to a low of 18.9 cents per gallon for regular gasoline, had not reached Marin County yet today.

Gasoline prices remained at the figure they reached when they were lowered last week. Regular gasoline was selling from 29.9 to 31.9 cents per gallon. Ethyl gasoline ranged from 32.9 to 36.9 cents per gallon.

Prices hit their lowest in East Oakland yesterday where the price on regular plunged to 18.9 cents a gallon for a brief period in the afternoon.

Many Public Lawsuits Over Drugs Possible

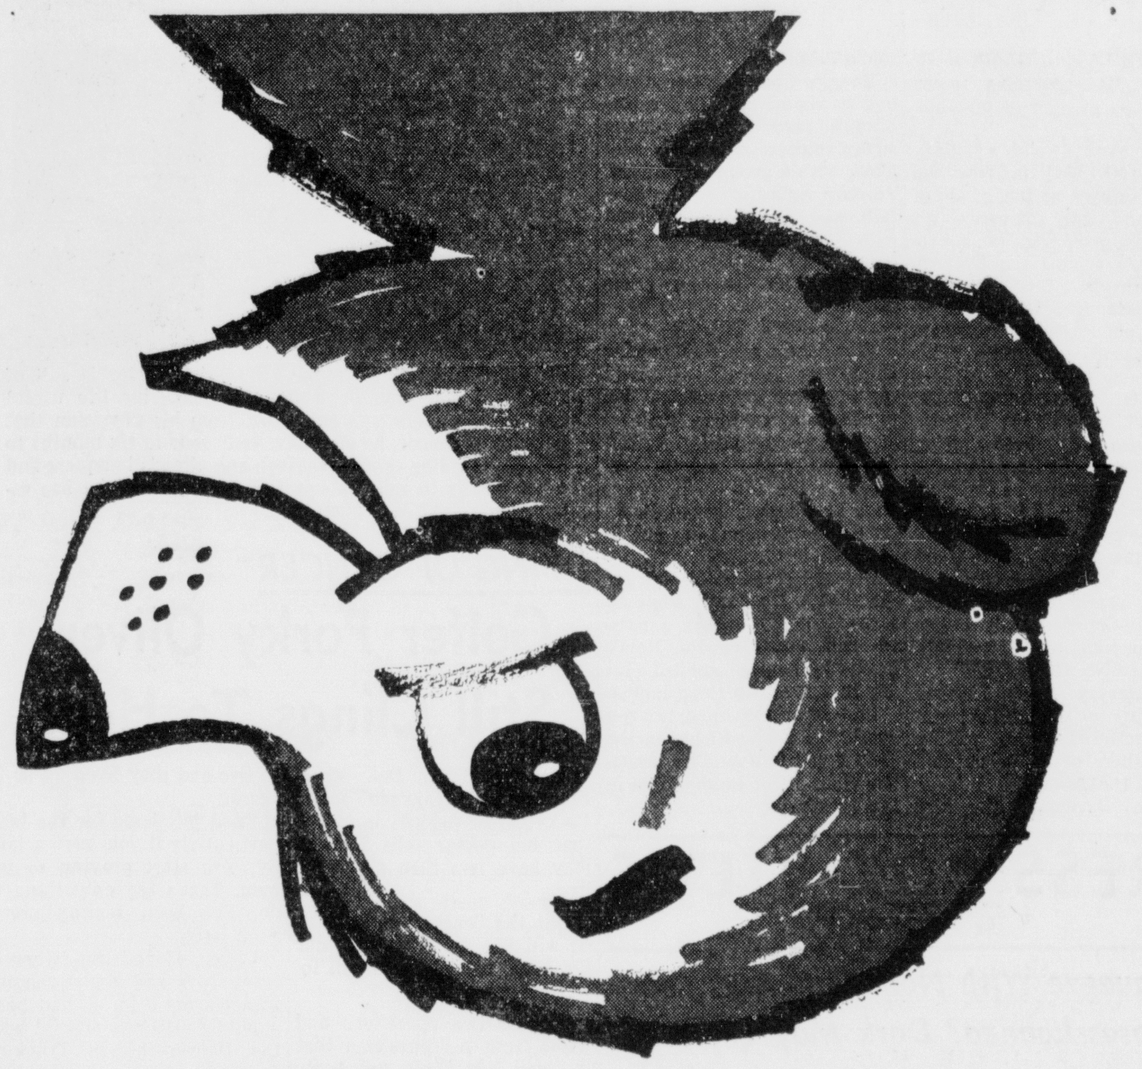
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The prospect that millions of Californians could sue for damages if the Northern California Pharmaceutical Assn. is found guilty of price-fixing was raised yesterday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Lloyd H. Burke suggested the possibility while granting a five-week delay in the trial of the association and its chairman, Donald K. Hedgpeth. Judge Burke granted a continuance postponing the jury trial from April 17 to May 22.

At one point Judge Burke said:

"Assuming this government's charges are true, and I am not admitting that, every person who has paid for a prescription drug during the period covered by the case has a treble-damage anti-trust action."

The pharmaceutical association had asked that the trial be postponed until Oct. 23. Judge Burke denied the request.



Town Offer For Land Not Same As Owners'

Corte Madera councilmen last night discovered their estimates of the value of condemned land varied sharply from estimates given by the owners of the land.

Frontage from six parcels of property were condemned by the town early in 1960 for widening and improvement of Paradise Drive. In return for the property taken, the town deposited with the county clerk what councilmen considered sufficient money to pay for the confiscated property.

One of the owners, William Wilkerson of 2 Harbor Drive, wants $2,150 for the land the town lopped off his property. The town offer, on deposit, is $333.

Another who lost property, Mrs. Edna Harris of Fairfax, said she considered $1,000 a fair price for her loss. The town offer is $780.

Others whose claims are still pending are David E. Swanson of 4 Echo Drive, in whose name the town has deposited $164; P. J. Tarrant of San Rafael, owner of a large parcel of uninhabited land, in whose name the town deposited $365.

Two property owners whose land was condemned and who have accepted the town's offers are Charles Garrison of 8 Echo Drive, who accepted $9 for a small corner of his lot and Frank Day Negro of 6 Echo Drive, who accepted $322.

Included in the town offer to each is the rebuilding of fences.

Town Atty. John B. Ehlen said the Wilkersons are asking $513 for the value of the land itself, based on appraisals of 60 cents per square foot. The remaining $1,637 is for "severance damages." The Wilkerson claim, Ehlen said, that noise and disturbance is increased because they are closer to the road and that the value of the parcel has been decreased.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow was instructed to estimate new offers to each of the owners whose claims are still pending, including a "fair severance offer."

Baker is youth director at First Baptist Church of Novato, and served as president of the student body at Grand Canyon College in Phoenix, Ariz.

Fish's Eye Can Roll, But Can't Blink

It's all right for a fish to roll its eyes on the proposed sign for the new Sabella's Restaurant on Richardson Bay.

The Marin County Planning Commission said so yesterday, by a 3-to-2 vote.

It's all right, that is, as long as the fish does not blink or flash its eye. That is not permitted by ordinance.

A majority of the commissioners decided, however, that all the fish eye would be doing was changing color as a color wheel turned at four revolutions per minute.

Commissioners Niels Schultz Jr., George Scott and Worth Fenner approved the sign. Chairman William Upton and Commissioner Felix M. Warburg voted against it.

The commission also approved the erection of three signs, including the fish, with a total area of about 250 square feet, for the new restaurant, on condition that Sabella obtain from Harry Johnson, the other owner of the property, a statement that no other signs would be placed on top of the building. Two of the signs give the restaurant name.

Sausalito Trustees Approve 'Satisfactory' Grade Plan

The Sausalito School District board last night approved a grading system by which a child can receive a "satisfactory" grade when he is unable to keep up with his class.

The new—and somewhat confusing—grading system was recommended to the board by Supt. Marcus F. Davis.

The present grades of A, B, C, D, and F would be retained. But in addition, grades of S (for satisfactory) and U (for unsatisfactory) would be used. These, however, explained Davis, would be only for those pupils who cannot keep up with their classes.

The idea, as the superintendent explained it, is that a pupil who is failing to keep up because of his own lack of work or attention would be graded D or F. But if a pupil is trying hard but still cannot do work of that grade level, he would get an S—for satisfactory.

The U would be for pupils who are not trying, but couldn't keep up if they did.

The "S" or "U" pupils might "catch on" during the year and start doing the work supposedly required in his class, the superintendent said. If so, he would be placed on an A-B-C-D-F grading system.

Davis said the purpose is "to upgrade the program so the children will get more out of their studies."

It will be tried for a year, the board decided, in first through sixth grades. And a series of meetings with parents will be held to try to explain the plan to them.

Attack Report Called False

A Mill Valley windows shade company worker, who said he was attacked by two men on Miller Avenue early Sunday, admitted last night that he had given sheriff's deputies a false crime report.

Richard Hampton Warne, 20, of 233 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, called Sheriff's Deputy Edmund Mauberret last night to apologize for the false report. What actually occurred was that he had had a fist fight with Robert Leland Johnson, 30, of 10 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, and lost the bout, Warne said.

Warne, who went to Marin General Hospital for treatment of injuries, said he gave the false report for fear he would get Johnson in trouble.

Runaway Boys Brought Home

Two boys, who ran away from Marin Juvenile Hall last Thursday, were to be brought back today from Quincy in Plumas County, where they were caught last night.

Sheriff's investigators said they want to question the boys on the possibility that they might be connected with a flatbed truck reported missing from a Marinwood construction site last Friday. The yellow truck with black fenders was found abandoned in Reno. Owner William M. Cash of Los Gatos was headed for Reno to drive the truck back to Marin.

The two runaway youths, age 14 and 15, bolted from juvenile hall while helping bring food from the County Hospital to the juvenile hall inmates.

PURITY OPENS A NEW FAMILY MARKET

GAS WAR FLARES, BUT NOT IN MARIN COUNTY

The gasoline price war, which flared up again yesterday in the East Bay sending prices to a low of 18.9 cents per gallon for regular gasoline, had not reached Marin County yet today.

Gasoline prices remained at the figure they reached when they were lowered last week. Regular gasoline was selling from 29.9 to 31.9 cents per gallon. Ethyl gasoline ranged from 32.9 to 36.9 cents per gallon.

Prices hit their lowest in East Oakland yesterday where the price on regular plunged to 18.9 cents a gallon for a brief period in the afternoon.

Many Public Lawsuits Over Drugs Possible

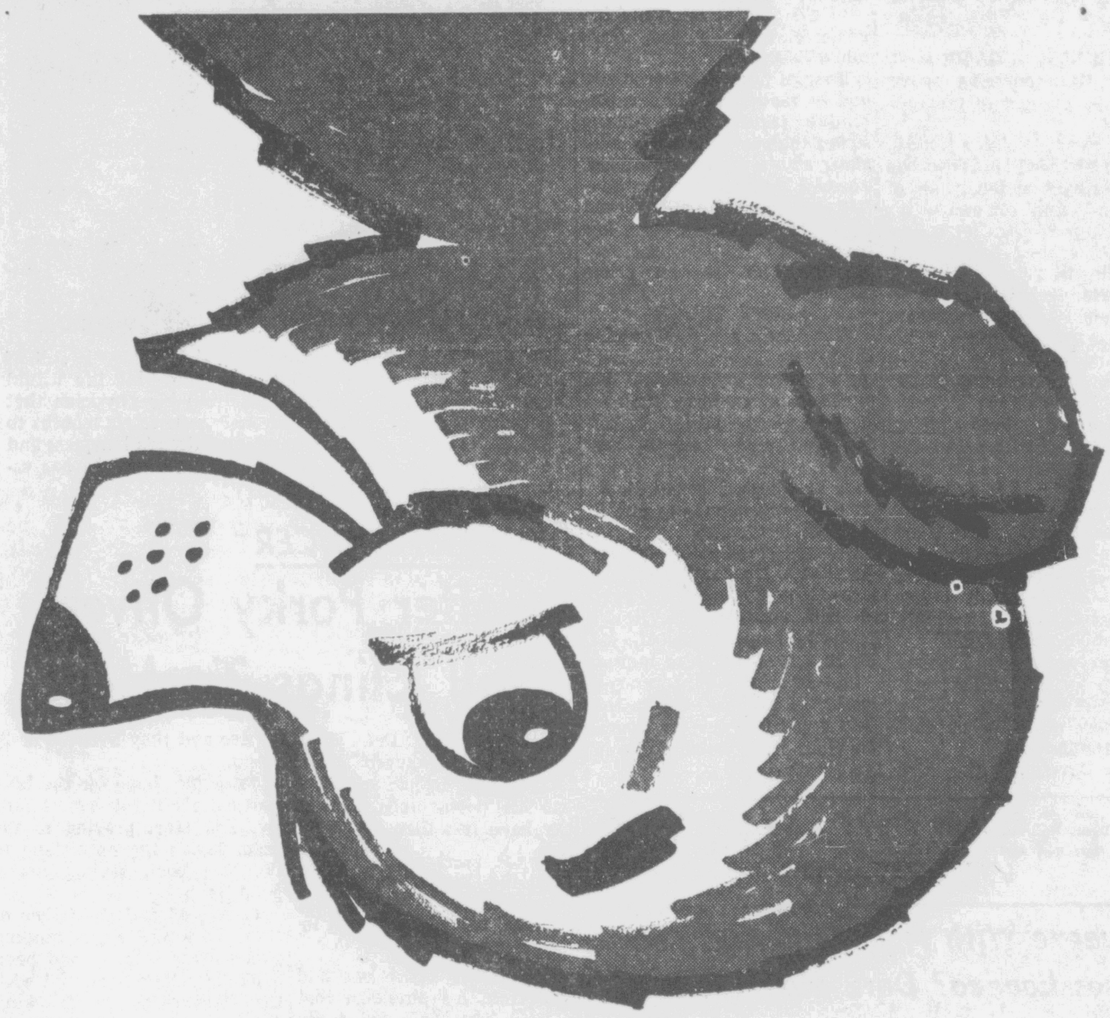
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The prospect that millions of Californians could sue for damages if the Northern California Pharmaceutical Assn. is found guilty of price-fixing was raised yesterday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Lloyd H. Burke suggested the possibility while granting a five-week delay in the trial of the association and its chairman, Donald K. Hedgpeth. Judge Burke granted a continuance postponing the jury trial from April 17 to May 22.

At one point Judge Burke said:

"Assuming this government's charges are true, and I am not admitting that, every person who has paid for a prescription drug during the period covered by the case has a treble-damage anti-trust action."

The pharmaceutical association had asked that the trial be postponed until Oct. 23. Judge Burke denied the request.



Town Offer For Land Not Same As Owners'

Corte Madera councilmen last night discovered their estimates of the value of condemned land varied sharply from estimates given by the owners of the land.

Frontage from six parcels of property were condemned by the town early in 1960 for widening and improvement of Paradise Drive. In return for the property taken, the town deposited with the county clerk what councilmen considered sufficient money to pay for the confiscated property.

One of the owners, William Wilkerson of 2 Harbor Drive, wants $2,150 for the land the town lopped off his property. The town offer, on deposit, is $333.

Another who lost property, Mrs. Edna Harris of Fairfax, said she considered $1,000 a fair price for her loss. The town offer is $780.

Others whose claims are still pending are David E. Swanson of 4 Echo Drive, in whose name the town has deposited $164; P. J. Tarrant of San Rafael, owner of a large parcel of uninhabited land, in whose name the town deposited $365.

Two property owners whose land was condemned and who have accepted the town's offers are Charles Garrison of 8 Echo Drive, who accepted $9 for a small corner of his lot and Frank Day Negro of 6 Echo Drive, who accepted $322.

Included in the town offer to each is the rebuilding of fences.

Town Atty. John B. Ehlen said the Wilkersons are asking $513 for the value of the land itself, based on appraisals of 60 cents per square foot. The remaining $1,637 is for "severance damages." The Wilkerson claim, Ehlen said, that noise and disturbance is increased because they are closer to the road and that the value of the parcel has been decreased.

Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow was instructed to estimate new offers to each of the owners whose claims are still pending, including a "fair severance offer."

Student Unit At Baptist School Elects

Jess Baker, second year ministerial student from Chandler, Ariz., was elected yesterday to lead the student council at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry.

He succeeds Charles Kenneth Glenn who will graduate with 58 others April 27. Baker defeated Melvin Gentry, second year ministerial student from DeLand, Fla.

Baker is youth director at First Baptist Church of Novato, and served as president of the student body at Grand Canyon College in Phoenix, Ariz.

Fish's Eye Can Roll, But Can't Blink

It's all right for a fish to roll its eyes on the proposed sign for the new Sabella's Restaurant on Richardson Bay.

The Marin County Planning Commission said so yesterday, by a 3-to-2 vote.

It's all right, that is, as long as the fish does not blink or flash its eye. That is not permitted by ordinance.

Commissioners Niels Schultz Jr., George Scott and Worth Fenner approved the sign. Chairman William Upton and Commissioner Felix M. Warburg voted against it.

The commission also approved the erection of three signs, including the fish, with a total area of about 250 square feet, for the new restaurant, on condition that Sabella obtain from Harry Johnson, the other owner of the property, a statement that no other signs would be placed on top of the building. Two of the signs give the restaurant name.

A, B, C, D, F,—AND S, U

Sausalito Trustees Approve 'Satisfactory' Grade Plan

The Sausalito School District board last night approved a grading system by which a child can receive a "satisfactory" grade when he is unable to keep up with his class.

The new—and somewhat confusing—grading system was recommended to the board by Supt. Marcus F. Davis.

The present grades of A, B, C, D, and F would be retained. But in addition, grades of S (for satisfactory) and U (for unsatisfactory) would be used. These, however, explained Davis, would be only for those pupils who cannot keep up with their classes.

The idea, as the superintendent explained it, is that a pupil who is failing to keep up because of his own lack of work or attention would be graded D or F. But if a pupil is trying hard but still cannot do work of that grade level, he would get an S—for satisfactory.

The U would be for pupils who are not trying, but couldn't keep up if they did.

The "S" or "U" pupils might "catch on" during the year and start doing the work supposedly required in his class, the superintendent said. If so, he would be placed on an A-B-C-D-F grading system.

Davis said the purpose is "to upgrade the program so the children will get more out of their studies."

It will be tried for a year, the board decided, in first through sixth grades. And a series of meetings with parents will be held to try to explain the plan to them.

Attack Report Called False

A Mill Valley windows shade company worker, who said he was attacked by two men on Miller Avenue early Sunday, admitted last night that he had given sheriff's deputies a false crime report.

Richard Hampton Warne, 20, of 233 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley, called Sheriff's Deputy Edmund Mauberret last night to apologize for the false report. What actually occurred was that he had had a fist fight with Robert Leland Johnson, 30, of 10 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, and lost the bout, Warne said.

Warne, who went to Marin General Hospital for treatment of injuries, said he gave the false report for fear he would get Johnson in trouble.

When Johnson learned that Warne had given an erroneous report, he took Warne to the sheriff's substation in Marin City to straighten out the record.

Boy, 4, On Bike Hurt In Wreck

Four-year-old Dennis Burkett of 5 Orchard Way, Novato, escaped with cuts and bruises yesterday when his bicycle hit the side of a truck.

Novato police reported a truck driven by Robert E. Farina, 30, Petaluma, was rounding a curve near 39 Orchard Way when the Burkett boy rode the bike across the road and hit the truck.

Dennis was treated and released from Novato hospital after the accident at 3 p.m. Farina was not cited.

SAN FRANCISCO—Appointment of Stuart Nixon, longtime California newspaperman, as publicity director of the Redwood Empire Assn., was announced today by Carney J. Campion, general manager.

Nixon has nearly 20 years' experience in newspaper and public relations work. Most recently he was editor and co-published of the weekly Fremont News Register in southern Alameda County.

Runaway Boys Brought Home

Two boys, who ran away from Marin Juvenile Hall last Thursday, were to be brought back today from Quincy in Plumas County, where they were caught last night.

Sheriff's investigators said they want to question the boys on the possibility that they might be connected with a flatbed truck reported missing from a Marinwood construction site last Friday. The yellow truck with black fenders was found abandoned in Reno. Owner William M. Cash of Los Gatos was headed for Reno to drive the truck back to Marin.

The two runaway youths, age 14 and 15, bolted from juvenile hall while helping bring food from the County Hospital to the juvenile hall inmates.

Dark Still Seeking Best Giant Combo

Skipper Plans To Experiment With Lineup In Next 10 Days

PHOENIX, Ariz., (AP)—"After the first of April," says San Francisco Giants Manager Alvin Dark, "you'll be able to almost tell our lineup for opening day."

Which means the new skipper plans to experiment the next 10 days seeking the best alignment to put on the field at Candlestick Park against Pittsburgh April 11.

GUESSING GAME

Now it's a guessing game with any number of possibilities.

Dark gave his club a holiday today after the Giants absorbed a 12-5 setback at the hands of Cleveland, and tomorrow it's off to Palm Springs for a two-game set against the Los Angeles Angels.

The manager seems unperturbed about the 4-6 exhibition game record, declaring, "This is the time to work to get into shape for the opening of the season."

He also has been giving youngsters a chance before the squad of 42 must be reduced. The first cut is due Saturday, when some players will be sent to the new minor league training camp at Casa Grande.

KUENN ON THIRD

Big Harvey Kuenn played third base for the third straight game yesterday and will be either there or in the outfield against the Angels.

Jimmy Davenport, the third baseman the past three seasons, will get further work at shortstop in addition to his accustomed position. Davenport was beaned in batting practice yesterday by a pitch thrown by rookie Ray Feldman. X-rays showed no serious damage but Jimmy will rest a couple of days.

"He'll play at least one full game at shortstop soon," Dark told newsmen.

Rookies Charlie Hiller at second base and Tom Haller behind the plate continue making strong bids to make the club along with a group of pitchers. To date right-hander Jim Duffalo, who posted a 16-5 record with Springfield last year, has been most impressive, and might provide needed relief hurling.

PERRY TOUGH

Cleveland's ace right-hander Jim Perry proved too tough for the Giants yesterday. He pitched six scoreless innings. San Francisco finally scored two runs in the eighth and three in the ninth off young Mike Lee, signed by the Giants for a $60,000 bonus but lost in the draft last year.

Georges Maranda started for the Giants. He didn't allow an earned run but errors, a passed ball and Woodie Held's three-run homer spoiled his day in a four-run third inning.

Tito Francona hit a two-run homer off Eddie Fisher in the sixth and Hal Jones hit a similar clout off of Bobby Bolin in the eighth.

FAITH UNSHAKEN—Golfer Ed (Porky) Oliver is full of faith and hope and determined to make his life useful despite two operations and word from his physician that because of cancer, he may have only four to six months to live. DYING OF CANCER

Golfer Porky Oliver Still Clings To Hope

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Cancer has weakened golfer Porky Oliver to such an extent that his doctor tells him he may have less than a year to live.

But the "curse," as he calls it, will not sap his spirit, nor his faith, nor his good will toward others.

Despite two operations and word from his physician that he may have only four-to-six months to live, Porky Oliver has not crawled into any dark corner to sit back and await death. He abounds in faith and is making his life useful by aiding cancer research.

"Hell," he said, "miracles happen. I've known some cases where people were told they had only a few months or years to live and they lived 20 or 30 years.

"You just hope for the best, particularly if you have a family. You start praying to the man. That's the only thing to do. I've been feeling pretty good lately."

Oliver, 45 and the father of three boys and a girl ranging in age from 9 to 18, had been a public relations official with the Denver-Chicago Trucking Co. of Denver for the past two years. He recently returned to Wilmington to live.

Hitters Again Hand Hurlers Their Lumps

St. Louis Cards Set Pace With 19-Hit Assault

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The way the hitters are smashing the ball off, and over, the fences in Florida and Arizona, the name of the game could be ricochet instead of baseball.

The carnage continued unabated yesterday with the St. Louis Cardinals inflicting the worst damage by pounding Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits, including seven doubles and a triple, in a 14-5 exhibition victory over the Reds.

The Cleveland Indians, who rocked San Francisco hurlers for 18 hits Sunday, continued their assault on the Giants' shell-shocked staff with a 3-homer, 14-hit attack for a 12-5 triumph.

MORE OF SAME

Elsewhere, it was the same story. Twenty-seven hits were sprayed around the field as the New York Yankees beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in an 11-8 slugfest, and another 27 caromed off booming bats as the Boston Red Sox outlasted the Los Angeles Angels 8-7.

Baltimore settled for nine hits in a come-from-behind 7-6 triumph over the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, while in a night game the Kansas City A's edged the Washington Senators 4-3 on Jerry Lumpe's two-run double in the ninth inning.

Bill White led the Cardinals with four hits, two of them doubles, and Stan Musial contributed a single, double and triple against Cincinnati pitching hopefuls Ray Ripplemeyer, Dave Stenhouse and Zach Monroe. Vada Pinson had a single and two triples for the Reds.

HELD HOMERS

Cleveland right-hander Jim Perry pitched scoreless, four-hit ball in a six-inning stint against the Giants. Woodie Held led the homering triumverate with a three-run shot while Tito Francona and Hal Jones added two-run clouts.

The Yankees put together a four run outburst in the sixth and came up with six in the seventh to hold off the Dodgers, who got a homer and triple from Willie Davis and four RBI performance by Wally Moon. Mickey Mantle had a homer and double for New York.

Vic Wertz, with 3-for-4, powered the Red Sox. Wertz' run-producing single in the ninth chased the winning run across after his three-run homer had kept Boston in contention. Gene Leek had a homer, double and single for the Angels.

ESSEGIAN CLOUTS

Chuck Essegian's two-run homer by Ron Samford in the sixth brought the Orioles, trailing 6-0, within range of the Pirates. Baltimore then won it with two in the ninth on Essegian's double, singles by Jerry Adair and Whitey Herzog, and an error.

Lumpe's game-winning double for Kansas City came with two out and the bases loaded off Washington reliever Marty Kutyna. The Athletics entered the bottom of the ninth trailing 3-2 when Ray Semproch filled the bases on three walks. Bud Daley, Johnny Kucks and Don Larsen worked for the A's, who won their seventh game in nine starts.

FAN NAMED CASEY—Casey Stengal, now a Glendale banker, wore a sports shirt and souvenir hat just like any Palm Springs fan as he joined manager Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels for a chat just before yesterday's L.A.-Boston Red Sox game in Palm Springs. (AP Wirephoto)

Quarter-Final Foes In Garden Hoop Meet Show Respect For Each Other

NEW YORK (AP) — The long and the short of the National Invitation Tournament meet in one of the quarter-finals in Madison Square Garden tonight. They're scared stiff of each other.

Dayton, five times a finalist and never a winner, has the tallest team in the tourney. The Flyers play Temple's Tiny Tims in the opener of the doubleheader.

In the second game, Niagara—the only other seeded team left besides Dayton—goes against Providence. The winners go into the semi-finals on Thursday. The final is scheduled for Saturday.

"I know all about these little guys," said Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn, referring to Temple. "They are not easy to beat. In fact, the little teams have been dominating this tournament.

"Furthermore, one of our tall guys, Bill Cramsey (6-3) may not be able to play. He suffered a hairline break in his elbow three weeks ago. He's been working out and shooting, but the shots have not been going in. The doctors will take another look at him before the game and tell us whether he can play."

COACH SHUDDERS

Temple's Coach Harry Litwack shudders when he thinks of Dayton's figures—a 19-7 regular season record and over 90 points five times. Even if Cramsey is out, he'll still have to cope with the likes of Bill Westerkamp (6-10), Gary Rogenburk (6-6) and Pat Allen (6-6). Temple's tallest operative is Russ Gordon at 6-4½.

"The big men have been killing us all season" moaned Litwack. "In fact, we've made them look like All-Americas."

The Niagara-Providence game will be a replay of an earlier season game between the two teams. Providence won that one 76-74 in double overtime when Jim Hadnot made good on a one-and-one foul with four seconds to go.

MADDREY HURT

Niagara Coach Taps Gallagher, who is leading his club into the NIT for the eighth time—also without a championship—is worried that Joe Maddrey, his 6-4 corner man, will be out. Maddrey has a 16.2 scoring average. He has a twisted knee and an injured shoulder.

Niagara plays strictly a man-to-man defense, but Friar Coach Joe Mullaney calls his defense a "Chinese man-to-man."

"It's basically a zone," sniffed Gallagher. "I talk only one language, English."

Squeeze With None Out And The Bases Loaded? Dark May Try It

HANLEY

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Squeeze bunt with none out and the bases full?

Don't be surprised this season if Al Dark tries it, provided the situation presents itself. John McGraw abominated the play as a curse on baseball, but he managed the Giants in another era.

"McGraw hated the squeeze with three on," said John Bernard (Hans) Lobert, "but I've seen Alvin try it. McGraw always felt you should go for a bundle."

"The time I saw Alvin try it was shortly after he came to the Giants from Boston," recalled the old timer who played with Pittsburgh in the first world series against the Red Sox in 1903 and finished his playing career with McGraw's Giants of 1915-16-17.

"Of course, he was acting under Leo Durocher's orders. It was a Giant-Philly game in the Polo Grounds. Eddie Stanky had just missed the squeeze sign and was out on the next pitch. Dark was up next and he got the sign all right but popped into an unassisted DP to the first baseman."

EVEN THOUGH the squeeze with the bags loaded backfired twice on that occasion and ultimately cost the Giants that ball game, Lobert is convinced Dark feels it is a good percentage play and will not hesitate to use it.

Now in his 80th year but as young as he looks which is a spry 60, Lobert is grounds supervisor of the Giants new minor league training base at Casa Grande. It was there, while Dark smiled silent acquiescence, that Lobert recalled the bases-loaded squeeze that didn't work and then predicted that the new Giant manager would welcome an opportunity to prove its value.

"Like McGraw," said Lobert, "I never did like the squeeze with three on. But I certainly understand how the threat of it would be disconcerting to an infield defense not quite sure whether to play back for the double play or come in for the squeeze.

"In such situations infield defenses almost invariably drop back into deep positions, willing to give one run for a double play. They unhesitantingly go into the deep defensive positions because the bases-loaded squeeze generally has been ignored.

"CERTAINLY there is a decided percentage going for the squeeze if the defensive infield is back. Now, Dark is the kind of fellow who always is looking for a percentage. If he sees it he won't lack the courage to take advantage of it."

Lobert, in addition to being a very agile and healthy octogenarian, also is a very logical and observant student of Dark's outlook in the game.

"He hasn't had the opportunity this spring to use the squeeze with three on," said Lobert, "but I've counted four times where he has tried squeezing a man in from third, being successful twice. I'm sure he'll do it with the bags loaded, too."

Only Dark can answer that for certain. He would prefer to give the answer when the occasion calls for it.

"No need, is there now, to tell the enemy ahead of time what to do in a given situation," he says.

San Rafael Swimmers Beat Lowell

San Rafael High School swimmers stroke and dove to a 60-35 victory over Lowell High of San Francisco in the San Rafael pool yesterday.

Paul Heard set the pace for the victors by copping two events—the individual medley and the 200-yard freestyle. San Rafael also won both relays, and captured additional first places in the diving (Jim Flanagan), breastroke (Mike Fennell), and butterfly (Bruce Howard).

San Rafael made it a clean sweep for the day by also taking the B meet—66 to 20.

Grid Toland swam the 100-yard freestyle in the good time of 1:03 for the San Rafael Bs.

Wallace-Rissman Team Up For Win

Tom Wallace and Carl Rissman teamed up to win the two-ball foursome tournament Sunday at the Mill Valley Golf Club.

Coming in second were 81-year-old Bill Rees and club champion Byron Eggleston. Andre Hahn and John Arter finished third.

Next Sunday will be President's Day at the course, with club president Gran Wyatt donating his trophy at the close of competition among club members.

Hawks Eager For Crack At Lakers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, inactive the past 10 days, are raring to go as they open their National Basketball Association Western Division best-of-seven final playoffs against the Los Angeles Lakers at home tonight.

The Hawks have been taking it easy while the Lakers were extended to five games before eliminating the Detroit Pistons in a semifinal series.

The second game of the Eastern Division finals also is on tap tonight with the Boston Celtics meeting the Nationals in Syracuse. The Celts won the opener in Boston Sunday, 128-115. The Nats reached the finals with a three-game sweep of the Philadelphia Warriors.

St. Louis coach Paul Seymour isn't afraid the Hawks will be rusty from their long layoff. "We needed the rest," he said. "Several players were run down but now the entire club is in good shape."

Last season the Hawks defeated the Lakers, who were then representing Minneapolis, 4-3 in the playoffs. Two years ago the Lakers won the series from St. Louis 4-2.

The second game of the series will be played in St. Louis tomorrow night.

Boston is aiming for its fourth NBA championship in five seasons. The Celts defeated St. Louis in seven games for the title last year.

The third game in the Eastern finals will take place Thursday night in Boston.

Kefauver To Press Ahead On Boxing Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said today a go-slow warning from the Kennedy administration has not dimmed his hopes for a bill to place big-time boxing under federal control.

Kefauver, the bill's author, said he still believes an administration endorsement of the measure's objectives, if not its details, is possible.

He went ahead with plans to introduce the controversial measure in the Senate this week.

It would place professional boxing having interstate aspects under control of a federal boxing commissioner, who would operate from the Justice Department.

This official would have broad powers for three years to license fighters, managers, promoters and matchmakers, and use his licensing authority to drive racketeers and hoodlums from the sport.

Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., who was an amateur boxer at Chico State College as a youth, said in a separate interview he liked the Kefauver bill and hopes the administration can support it.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California has contended the states can't cope with interstate aspects of the racketeer influence exposed in hearings last year by Kefauver's Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

"We've got to clear the hoodlums and scoundrels out of boxing," Engle said.

"I favor putting the federal government into it for some fixed period of years, as the Kefauver bill would do, and then find other means to let the states or professional boxing take over and keep it clean."

Engle suggested that if the Justice Department doesn't want to be involved in policing boxing, the bill could be rewritten in the committee to place the proposed new agency in the Commerce Department.

It was there, while Dark smiled silent acquiescence, that Lobert recalled the bases-loaded squeeze that didn't work and then predicted that the new Giant manager would welcome an opportunity to prove its value.

"Like McGraw," said Lobert, "I never did like the squeeze with three on. But I certainly understand how the threat of it would be disconcerting to an infield defense not quite sure whether to play back for the double play or come in for the squeeze.

"In such situations infield defenses almost invariably drop back into deep positions, willing to give one run for a double play. They unhesitantingly go into the deep defensive positions because the bases-loaded squeeze generally has been ignored.

"CERTAINLY there is a decided percentage going for the squeeze if the defensive infield is back. Now, Dark is the kind of fellow who always is looking for a percentage. If he sees it he won't lack the courage to take advantage of it."

Lobert, in addition to being a very agile and healthy octogenarian, also is a very logical and observant student of Dark's outlook in the game.

"He hasn't had the opportunity this spring to use the squeeze with three on," said Lobert, "but I've counted four times where he has tried squeezing a man in from third, being successful twice. I'm sure he'll do it with the bags loaded, too."

Only Dark can answer that for certain. He would prefer to give the answer when the occasion calls for it.

"No need, is there now, to tell the enemy ahead of time what to do in a given situation," he says.

Santa Barbara Hosts Big Meet On Saturday

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — More than 1,000 athletes will compete Saturday in the 23rd annual Santa Barbara Easter Relays, including the outstanding local college stars.

FAITH UNSHAKEN—Golfer Ed (Porky) Oliver is full of faith and hope and determined to make his life useful despite two operations and word from his physician that because of cancer, he may have only four to six months to live. DYING OF CANCER

Golfer Porky Oliver Still Clings To Hope

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Cancer has weakened golfer Porky Oliver to such an extent that his doctor tells him he may have less than a year to live.

But the "curse," as he calls it, will not sap his spirit, nor his faith, nor his good will toward others.

Despite two operations and word from his physician that he may have only four-to-six months to live, Porky Oliver has not crawled into any dark corner to sit back and await death. He abounds in faith and is making his life useful by aiding cancer research.

"Hell," he said, "miracles happen. I've known some cases where people were told they had only a few months or years to live and they lived 20 or 30 years.

"You just hope for the best, particularly if you have a family. You start praying to the man. That's the only thing to do. I've been feeling pretty good lately."

Oliver, 45 and the father of three boys and a girl ranging in age from 9 to 18, had been a public relations official with the Denver-Chicago Trucking Co. of Denver for the past two years. He recently returned to Wilmington to live.

San Rafael Swimmers Beat Lowell

San Rafael High School swimmers stroke and dove to a 60-35 victory over Lowell High of San Francisco in the San Rafael pool yesterday.

Paul Heard set the pace for the victors by copping two events—the individual medley and the 200-yard freestyle. San Rafael also won both relays, and captured additional first places in the diving (Jim Flanagan), breastroke (Mike Fennell), and butterfly (Bruce Howard).

San Rafael made it a clean sweep for the day by also taking the B meet—66 to 20.

Grid Toland swam the 100-yard freestyle in the good time of 1:03 for the San Rafael Bs.

Wallace-Rissman Team Up For Win

Tom Wallace and Carl Rissman teamed up to win the two-ball foursome tournament Sunday at the Mill Valley Golf Club.

Coming in second were 81-year-old Bill Rees and club champion Byron Eggleston. Andre Hahn and John Arter finished third.

Next Sunday will be President's Day at the course, with club president Gran Wyatt donating his trophy at the close of competition among club members.

Hawks Eager For Crack At Lakers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, inactive the past 10 days, are raring to go as they open their National Basketball Association Western Division best-of-seven final playoffs against the Los Angeles Lakers at home tonight.

The Hawks have been taking it easy while the Lakers were extended to five games before eliminating the Detroit Pistons in a semifinal series.

The second game of the Eastern Division finals also is on tap tonight with the Boston Celtics meeting the Nationals in Syracuse. The Celts won the opener in Boston Sunday, 128-115. The Nats reached the finals with a three-game sweep of the Philadelphia Warriors.

St. Louis coach Paul Seymour isn't afraid the Hawks will be rusty from their long layoff. "We needed the rest," he said. "Several players were run down but now the entire club is in good shape."

Last season the Hawks defeated the Lakers, who were then representing Minneapolis, 4-3 in the playoffs. Two years ago the Lakers won the series from St. Louis 4-2.

The second game of the series will be played in St. Louis tomorrow night.

Boston is aiming for its fourth NBA championship in five seasons. The Celts defeated St. Louis in seven games for the title last year.

The third game in the Eastern finals will take place Thursday night in Boston.

Hitters Again Hand Hurlers Their Lumps

St. Louis Cards Set Pace With 19-Hit Assault

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The way the hitters are smashing the ball off, and over, the fences in Florida and Arizona, the name of the game could be ricochet instead of baseball.

The carnage continued unabated yesterday with the St. Louis Cardinals inflicting the worst damage by pounding Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits, including seven doubles and a triple, in a 14-5 exhibition victory over the Reds.

The Cleveland Indians, who rocked San Francisco hurlers for 18 hits Sunday, continued their assault on the Giants' shell-shocked staff with a 3-homer, 14-hit attack for a 12-5 triumph.

MORE OF SAME

Elsewhere, it was the same story. Twenty-seven hits were sprayed around the field as the New York Yankees beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in an 11-8 slugfest, and another 27 caromed off booming bats as the Boston Red Sox outlasted the Los Angeles Angels 8-7.

Baltimore settled for nine hits in a come-from-behind 7-6 triumph over the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates, while in a night game the Kansas City A's edged the Washington Senators 4-3 on Jerry Lumpe's two-run double in the ninth inning.

Bill White led the Cardinals with four hits, two of them doubles, and Stan Musial contributed a single, double and triple against Cincinnati pitching hopefuls Ray Ripplemeyer, Dave Stenhouse and Zach Monroe. Vada Pinson had a single and two triples for the Reds.

HELD HOMERS

Cleveland right-hander Jim Perry pitched scoreless, four-hit ball in a six-inning stint against the Giants. Woodie Held led the homering triumverate with a three-run shot while Tito Francona and Hal Jones added two-run clouts.

The Yankees put together a four run outburst in the sixth and came up with six in the seventh to hold off the Dodgers, who got a homer and triple from Willie Davis and four RBI performance by Wally Moon. Mickey Mantle had a homer and double for New York.

Vic Wertz, with 3-for-4, powered the Red Sox. Wertz' run-producing single in the ninth chased the winning run across after his three-run homer had kept Boston in contention. Gene Leek had a homer, double and single for the Angels.

ESSEGIAN CLOUTS

Chuck Essegian's two-run homer by Ron Samford in the sixth brought the Orioles, trailing 6-0, within range of the Pirates. Baltimore then won it with two in the ninth on Essegian's double, singles by Jerry Adair and Whitey Herzog, and an error.

Lumpe's game-winning double for Kansas City came with two out and the bases loaded off Washington reliever Marty Kutyna. The Athletics entered the bottom of the ninth trailing 3-2 when Ray Semproch filled the bases on three walks. Bud Daley, Johnny Kucks and Don Larsen worked for the A's, who won their seventh game in nine starts.

Quarter-Final Foes In Garden Hoop Meet Show Respect For Each Other

NEW YORK (AP) — The long and the short of the National Invitation Tournament meet in one of the quarter-finals in Madison Square Garden tonight. They're scared stiff of each other.

Dayton, five times a finalist and never a winner, has the tallest team in the tourney. The Flyers play Temple's Tiny Tims in the opener of the doubleheader.

In the second game, Niagara —the only other seeded team left besides Dayton—goes against Providence. The winners go into the semi-finals on Thursday. The final is scheduled for Saturday.

"I know all about these little guys," said Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn, referring to Temple. "They are not easy to beat. In fact, the little teams have been dominating this tournament.

"Furthermore, one of our tall guys, Bill Cramsey (6-3) may not be able to play. He suffered a hairline break in his elbow three weeks ago. He's been working out and shooting, but the shots have not been going in. The doctors will take another look at him before the game and tell us whether he can play."

COACH SHUDDERS

Temple's Coach Harry Litwack shudders when he thinks of Dayton's figures—a 19-7 regular season record and over 90 points five times. Even if Cramsey is out, he'll still have to cope with the likes of Bill Westerkamp (6-10), Gary Rogenburk (6-6) and Pat Allen (6-6). Temple's tallest operative is Russ Gordon at 6-4½.

"The big men have been killing us all season" moaned Litwack. "In fact, we've made them look like All-Americas."

The Niagara-Providence game will be a replay of an earlier season game between the two teams. Providence won that one 76-74 in double overtime when Jim Hadnot made good on a one-and-one foul with four seconds to go.

MADDREY HURT

Niagara Coach Taps Gallagher, who is leading his club into the NIT for the eighth time—also without a championship—is worried that Joe Maddrey, his 6-4 corner man, will be out. Maddrey has a 16.2 scoring average. He has a twisted knee and an injured shoulder.

Niagara plays strictly a man-to-man defense, but Friar Coach Joe Mullaney calls his defense a "Chinese man-to-man."

"It's basically a zone," sniffed Gallagher. "I talk only one language, English."

Kefauver To Press Ahead On Boxing Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said today a go-slow warning from the Kennedy administration has not dimmed his hopes for a bill to place big-time boxing under federal control.

Kefauver, the bill's author, said he still believes an administration endorsement of the measure's objectives, if not its details, is possible.

He went ahead with plans to introduce the controversial measure in the Senate this week.

It would place professional boxing having interstate aspects under control of a federal boxing commissioner, who would operate from the Justice Department.

This official would have broad powers for three years to license fighters, managers, promoters and matchmakers, and use his licensing authority to drive racketeers and hoodlums from the sport.

Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., who was an amateur boxer at Chico State College as a youth, said in a separate interview he liked the Kefauver bill and hopes the administration can support it.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California has contended the states can't cope with interstate aspects of the racketeer influence exposed in hearings last year by Kefauver's Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

"We've got to clear the hoodlums and scoundrels out of boxing," Engle said.

"I favor putting the federal government into it for some fixed period of years, as the Kefauver bill would do, and then find other means to let the states or professional boxing take over and keep it clean."

Engle suggested that if the Justice Department doesn't want to be involved in policing boxing, the bill could be rewritten in the committee to place the proposed new agency in the Commerce Department.

West Best In Track, Says Jordan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Payton Jordan of Stanford says the nation's top three track and field teams will be found along the Pacific Coast this year with Villanova the best squad east of the Rockies.

Jordan, who conducted the U.S. Olympic trials at Stanford last spring, rates mighty Southern California, speedy San Jose State and versatile Oregon in a pack atop the nation's collegiate teams.

"But I wouldn't try to guess how those three would finish on a 1-2-3 basis," he told Norern California track and field writers yesterday.

OTHERS LISTED

After USC, San Jose State and Oregon, Payton figures the nation's best as Villanova, Oklahoma, Occidental, Oregon State and UCLA.

And UCLA, he warns, thanks to a one-man gang named C.K. Yang, could leap to the top of the national heap.

Yang, from Formosa, finished second in the Olympic decathlon last year and still is improving.

"He's good for 15 points in a dual meet," says Jordan, "and on a hot day he might account for 20—maybe 30 points."

TOUGH SLATE

Jordan says his own Stanford Indians face one of the nation's toughest schedules — meeting every one of the teams he rates among the best except Villanova.

"But we're too young this year. We're mostly sophomores and juniors and 22 of our kids are less than 19 years old," Jordan said.

He rates the big three—USC, San Jose State and Oregon—this way:

USC's Trojans have the most depth and probably the nation's best aggregation of field stars, led by Dallas Long, the finest collegiate shot putter at 64-6½.

San Jose's Spartans are loaded in the sprints, with Willie Williams 9.5 and 20.5 and Dennis Johnson, a sophomore flash from Jamaica who already has turned in a world record-tying 9.3 this year.

Oregon, Jordan figures, is deeper and more balanced than San Jose.

HAMILTON'S VIEWS

Brutus Hamilton of California, coach of the 1952 U.S. Olympic team, said:

"We have a pretty good team at Cal. If we competed against Ohio State, Wisconsin, Army or Notre Dame, we'd make a good showing.

"But unfortunately we have to face Southern California, San Jose State, Stanford, Oregon State, Occidental and UCLA."

ALL THAT GLITTERS IS GOLD

Marin Sports, Boat Show Opens Friday

"Something of interest for every member of the family!" That's the way co-chairmen John Marzetta and Barney DeBisschop summed up the Marin Rod and Gun Club's eighth annual Sports and Boat Show that explodes on the local entertainment scene this weekend at San Rafael's Bermuda Palms.

Attractions ranging from skin diving to archery, gun collections to fashion shows, Karate demonstrations to synchronized swimming—not to mention display of countless items in the outdoors world—will draw an expected 35,000 persons to the annual extravaganza starting Friday night and continuing through Sunday.

DeBisschop and Marzetta, who originated the show as a small, one-night stand eight years ago, said the 1961 display "is by far the best we've ever had."

FOR THE GALS

Marzetta explained, "When we say something for every member of the family, we mean it. For example, if you're dying to check the latest angling gear, and your wife doesn't give a hoot about anything in the outdoors world, we'll have something to draw her interest. Models from the John Robert Powers school will put on a fashion show," Marzetta noted, "and there's always the fascinating water ballet show. Ann Curtis Cuneo will feature her senior synchronized swim team in the Bermuda Palms pool."

Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin and the Crossman Arms Co. will see to it that children are entertained, the co-chairmen said. The Northwoods archers will display their bag of tricks and conduct a junior tournament for children 6 to 13 years of age Sunday at 9:30 a.m. The bowmen also will sponsor an open tournament Saturday and Sunday, featuring the outstanding marksmen in northern California.

RIFLE GALLERY

The Crossman Arms Co. will sponsor a free air rifle shooting gallery that should prove popular with the young set.

Other innovations to the show this year, DeBisschop noted, will be demonstrations of the Karate technique of hand-to-hand fighting by Professor Duke Moore's expert team from San Francisco, weightlifting contests by the MarVel Athletic Club of San Rafael, and the display of the gun collection of Harold's Club, Reno.

The latter features two rare 1851 Starr conversion revolvers carried by General George A. Custer, plus a wide variety of priceless weapons.

SKIN DIVING

Once again, DeBisschop said, skin diving techinques will be featured regularly in the pool by a team of experts.

As in past years, the main area will be jam-packed with the latest in hunting, fishing, camping, boating and other outdoors items.

The co-chairmen reminded Marin sportsmen that theirs is the only free sports and boat show in northern California sponsored by a sportsmen's organization.

Doors will be open from 6:30 to 11 p.m. Friday, 1 to 11 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Senior Signups Slated By Hub

Signups for the Senior League division of San Anselmo's summer youth baseball program will be held Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Room 219 at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Boys who will be 15 as of July 31, but not 18, are eligible. A parent or guardian must sign up with the ballplayer, and boys joining for the first time must present birth certificates. To be eligible, a boy must live in the San Anselmo city limits, or have played in the city's youth baseball program in the past, according to Phil Hiaring, vice president for the Senior League.

The 15-game season will begin March 28, and conclude July 23, with games being played Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 6 p.m., to allow boys to have time for daytime jobs.

All players will be assigned to teams on the basis of the Thursday night signup, Hiaring said.

Yankees After Snider For Bench Insurance

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Veteran Duke Snider of the Los Angeles Dodgers is the man the New York Yankees are after to rebuild the bench that was broken up by player pool for the American League's two new clubs.

A Yankee spokesman has been talking with Dodger General Manager Buzzy Bavasi about the 34-year-old outfielder as a follow-up to discussions about Snider which were held during the winter baseball meetings in St. Louis last December.

The Dodgers want catching help in return and the Yanks are well-stocked in that department. Since the inter-league trading period isn't in effect now, any deal between the two clubs would have to be made via the purchase or waiver route.

EXCELLENT TRIM

Bavasi is in no particular hurry to get rid of Snider, who looks in excellent trim at 195 pounds, the lowest he has been in 12 years, and feels he can start 125 to 130 games this year.

"Buzzy never told me definitely that I wouldn't go to another club," said Snider, who tailed off to .243 last season, but still managed to hit 14 homers in 101 games. "What he did say at the time I signed my contract was that he would not trade me unless he was certain that it would benefit the ball club."

Snider would just as soon finish his career with the Dodgers, whom he first reported to in 1947.

"If I can't play for this club, though," he said, "I would just as soon go to some club that would give me a chance to play. I feel like I'm gonna have a good year."

Snider looks the part, too. No longer puffy around the jowls or flabby around the waist line, the Duke has been rocketing balls over the right field wall here at Dodgertown all spring to the delight of all the Los Angeles brass.

"I feel better this spring than I have felt in any spring since 1958, the year I underwent that operation on my left knee," Snider declared.

"I wasn't a regular last year. I got off bad and they (the Dodgers) went with young fellows. On the last day of the 1960 season I stepped on the scales and weighed 215 pounds. I'm 20 pounds lighter this minute. What did it? A diet during the winter and hard work on my farm in California. I also did a lot of bowling to strengthen my left knee."

GOOD REPORTS

Obviously, the Yankees have received good reports on Snider and they would like him in one of their uniforms to make up for the departure of Bob Cerv, Dale Long, Gil McDougald and Kent Hunt. All four were being counted on as bench strength. McDougald retired, however, and the other three were snapped up by the league's two new clubs when the Yankees placed them on the expansion draft list.

"In my heart I know I have a couple of more years left," Snider said. "When I can't help a club any longer I'll be the first one to admit it. I know I can help some club this year. I hope it'll be this one. But if it's someone else, I know darn well I can do them some good, too."

Tension High As Probe Into Hoop Scandal Pressed

NEW YORK (AP)—The interrogation by the office of the district attorney into the latest college basketball scandal continued today.

A spokesman disclosed yesterday that "more players" had been questioned at the district attorney's headquarters but he refused to identify the individuals or what schools were involved.

Tension was high in the metropolitan area as school officials awaited answers to the claims that 15 to 20 colleges may be implicated on a national scale.

Twenty-five detectives are investigating the case.

Last Friday two men, both convicted gamblers, were arrested and charged with bribing three players to hold down their team's scoring.

Harry Campbell Handed Licking By Oaklander

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Oakland's Al Medrano made a realist out of previously unbeaten lightweight Harry Campbell last night.

Medrano, 135, banged Campbell, 135½, a former Olympic star, from pillar to post to gain an upset decision in a wild 10-rounds in Kezar Pavilion.

Medrano dropped his man in the third with a sweeping left hook. There were no other knockdowns, although Medrano, a 1-4 underdog, rocked Campbell in the eighth and tenth rounds.

It was the first loss in six pro fights for Campbell, a San Jose State College sophomore from Detroit.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The University of Southern California swim team travels to Seattle, Wash., this weekend to defend its National Collegiate Assn. championship with its finest team of all time.

Cooper Gets Chance To Prove Self

LONDON (AP)—The man described by champion Floyd Patterson as a "very worthy challenger" tonight steps into a London ring to prove to the world he's deserving of a shot at the heavyweight boxing crown.

His name: Henry Cooper, a 26-year-old blond Briton with a left hook and undefeated in his last seven fights.

Cooper is putting his British and Empire titles on the line against Welshman Joe Erskine, a clever boxer but one lacking a punch capable of stopping most of the world's heavyweights.

"I know my hopes of getting a crack at Patterson's title rests on tonight's fight," Cooper said. "I've no intention of letting the chance slip by."

Cooper is rated the fifth challenger for the crown. Erskine in most lists is just outside the top 10.

Benefit Slated For Colt Team

A benefit dance for the Northbridgers, Gallinas Valley Colt League baseball team, will be held Saturday night at the VFW Hall in Santa Venetia.

Dancing will be to the taped music of John Steuber. Decorations will have a baseball theme, and will be in the team colors—red, black and gray.

Bavasi, Dressen Feud As Tampering Charged

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—General Manager Buzzie Bavasi of the Dodgers claims that Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen has been tampering with Los Angeles players.

"If this happens again, I'll file a protest with the commissioner," Bavasi stormed yesterday.

Dressen expressed amazement at the charge.

"Tampering? I don't know about that," said Dressen, a former Dodger manager and coach.

Bavasi said Dressen tampered with pitcher Art Fowler, a 1959 Dodger reliefer now on the Omaha roster. He said Fowler came to him and asked why the Dodgers had turned down a Milwaukee offer for his minor league contract last season.

Dressen had this to say on that score: "Fowler came to me at Vero Beach and said: 'I can still pitch. I can help your club.' I told him: 'There is no way we can get you. You're on the Omaha roster."

Bavasi also said that last year Dressen told a story of having offered $50,000 and a player for pitcher Danny McDevitt. There was absolutely no truth in this report, Bavasi said, "and all it did was cause discontent on our club."

Bavasi said he called John McHale, Milwaukee general manager and said that since his club had made this offer, he would go through with the deal. "Of course, there was nothing to it," Bavasi added.

"We don't tamper with Dressen's players, and I don't want him tampering with ours. Next time the commissioner gets the case."

New Prexy Named For Marin Bowmen

A change in officers of the Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin County was announced today.

President Glenn Davis, who has moved to southern California, has been replaced in the top spot by Bob Bailey, who was promoted from the vice-presidency.

The board of directors then elected Stanley J. Makinson the new vice president.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Payton Jordan of Stanford says the nation's top three track and field teams will be found along the Pacific Coast this year with Villanova the best squad east of the Rockies.

Jordan, who conducted the U.S. Olympic trials at Stanford last spring, rates mighty Southern California, speedy San Jose State and versatile Oregon in a pack atop the nation's collegiate teams.

"But I wouldn't try to guess how those three would finish on a 1-2-3 basis," he told Norern California track and field writers yesterday.

OTHERS LISTED

After USC, San Jose State and Oregon, Payton figures the nation's best as Villanova, Oklahoma, Occidental, Oregon State and UCLA.

And UCLA, he warns, thanks to a one-man gang named C.K. Yang, could leap to the top of the national heap.

Yang, from Formosa, finished second in the Olympic decathlon last year and still is improving.

"He's good for 15 points in a dual meet," says Jordan, "and on a hot day he might account for 20—maybe 30 points."

TOUGH SLATE

Jordan says his own Stanford Indians face one of the nation's toughest schedules — meeting every one of the teams he rates among the best except Villanova.

"But we're too young this year. We're mostly sophomores and juniors and 22 of our kids are less than 19 years old," Jordan said.

He rates the big three—USC, San Jose State and Oregon—this way:

USC's Trojans have the most depth and probably the nation's best aggregation of field stars, led by Dallas Long, the finest collegiate shot putter at 64-6½.

San Jose's Spartans are loaded in the sprints, with Willie Williams 9.5 and 20.5 and Dennis Johnson, a sophomore flash from Jamaica who already has turned in a world record-tying 9.3 this year.

Oregon, Jordan figures, is deeper and more balanced than San Jose.

HAMILTON'S VIEWS

Brutus Hamilton of California, coach of the 1952 U.S. Olympic team, said:

"We have a pretty good team at Cal. If we competed against Ohio State, Wisconsin, Army or Notre Dame, we'd make a good showing.

"But unfortunately we have to face Southern California, San Jose State, Stanford, Oregon State, Occidental and UCLA."

ALL THAT GLITTERS IS GOLD

Marin Sports, Boat Show Opens Friday

"Something of interest for every member of the family!" That's the way co-chairmen John Marzetta and Barney DeBisschop summed up the Marin Rod and Gun Club's eighth annual Sports and Boat Show that explodes on the local entertainment scene this weekend at San Rafael's Bermuda Palms.

Attractions ranging from skin diving to archery, gun collections to fashion shows, Karate demonstrations to synchronized swimming—not to mention display of countless items in the outdoors world—will draw an expected 35,000 persons to the annual extravaganza starting Friday night and continuing through Sunday.

DeBisschop and Marzetta, who originated the show as a small, one-night stand eight years ago, said the 1961 display "is by far the best we've ever had."

FOR THE GALS

Marzetta explained, "When we say something for every member of the family, we mean it. For example, if you're dying to check the latest angling gear, and your wife doesn't give a hoot about anything in the outdoors world, we'll have something to draw her interest. Models from the John Robert Powers school will put on a fashion show," Marzetta noted, "and there's always the fascinating water ballet show. Ann Curtis Cuneo will feature her senior synchronized swim team in the Bermuda Palms pool."

Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin and the Crossman Arms Co. will see to it that children are entertained, the co-chairmen said. The Northwoods archers will display their bag of tricks and conduct a junior tournament for children 6 to 13 years of age Sunday at 9:30 a.m. The bowmen also will sponsor an open tournament Saturday and Sunday, featuring the outstanding marksmen in northern California.

RIFLE GALLERY

The Crossman Arms Co. will sponsor a free air rifle shooting gallery that should prove popular with the young set.

Other innovations to the show this year, DeBisschop noted, will be demonstrations of the Karate technique of hand-to-hand fighting by Professor Duke Moore's expert team from San Francisco, weightlifting contests by the MarVel Athletic Club of San Rafael, and the display of the gun collection of Harold's Club, Reno.

The latter features two rare 1851 Starr conversion revolvers carried by General George A. Custer, plus a wide variety of priceless weapons.

SKIN DIVING

Once again, DeBisschop said, skin diving techinques will be featured regularly in the pool by a team of experts.

As in past years, the main area will be jam-packed with the latest in hunting, fishing, camping, boating and other outdoors items.

The co-chairmen reminded Marin sportsmen that theirs is the only free sports and boat show in northern California sponsored by a sportsmen's organization.

Doors will be open from 6:30 to 11 p.m. Friday, 1 to 11 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Yankees After Snider For Bench Insurance

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Veteran Duke Snider of the Los Angeles Dodgers is the man the New York Yankees are after to rebuild the bench that was broken up by player pool for the American League's two new clubs.

A Yankee spokesman has been talking with Dodger General Manager Buzzy Bavasi about the 34-year-old outfielder as a follow-up to discussions about Snider which were held during the winter baseball meetings in St. Louis last December.

The Dodgers want catching help in return and the Yanks are well-stocked in that department. Since the inter-league trading period isn't in effect now, any deal between the two clubs would have to be made via the purchase or waiver route.

EXCELLENT TRIM

Bavasi is in no particular hurry to get rid of Snider, who looks in excellent trim at 195 pounds, the lowest he has been in 12 years, and feels he can start 125 to 130 games this year.

"Buzzy never told me definitely that I wouldn't go to another club," said Snider, who tailed off to .243 last season, but still managed to hit 14 homers in 101 games. "What he did say at the time I signed my contract was that he would not trade me unless he was certain that it would benefit the ball club."

Snider would just as soon finish his career with the Dodgers, whom he first reported to in 1947.

"If I can't play for this club, though," he said, "I would just as soon go to some club that would give me a chance to play. I feel like I'm gonna have a good year."

Snider looks the part, too. No longer puffy around the jowls or flabby around the waist line, the Duke has been rocketing balls over the right field wall here at Dodgertown all spring to the delight of all the Los Angeles brass.

"I feel better this spring than I have felt in any spring since 1958, the year I underwent that operation on my left knee," Snider declared.

"I wasn't a regular last year. I got off bad and they (the Dodgers) went with young fellows. On the last day of the 1960 season I stepped on the scales and weighed 215 pounds. I'm 20 pounds lighter this minute. What did it? A diet during the winter and hard work on my farm in California. I also did a lot of bowling to strengthen my left knee."

GOOD REPORTS

Obviously, the Yankees have received good reports on Snider and they would like him in one of their uniforms to make up for the departure of Bob Cerv, Dale Long, Gil McDougald and Kent Hunt. All four were being counted on as bench strength. McDougald retired, however, and the other three were snapped up by the league's two new clubs when the Yankees placed them on the expansion draft list.

"In my heart I know I have a couple of more years left," Snider said. "When I can't help a club any longer I'll be the first one to admit it. I know I can help some club this year. I hope it'll be this one. But if it's someone else, I know darn well I can do them some good, too."

Tension High As Probe Into Hoop Scandal Pressed

NEW YORK (AP)—The interrogation by the office of the district attorney into the latest college basketball scandal continued today.

A spokesman disclosed yesterday that "more players" had been questioned at the district attorney's headquarters but he refused to identify the individuals or what schools were involved.

Tension was high in the metropolitan area as school officials awaited answers to the claims that 15 to 20 colleges may be implicated on a national scale.

Twenty-five detectives are investigating the case.

Last Friday two men, both convicted gamblers, were arrested and charged with bribing three players to hold down their team's scoring.

Harry Campbell Handed Licking By Oaklander

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Oakland's Al Medrano made a realist out of previously unbeaten lightweight Harry Campbell last night.

Medrano, 135, banged Campbell, 135½, a former Olympic star, from pillar to post to gain an upset decision in a wild 10-rounds in Kezar Pavilion.

Medrano dropped his man in the third with a sweeping left hook. There were no other knockdowns, although Medrano, a 1-4 underdog, rocked Campbell in the eighth and tenth rounds.

It was the first loss in six pro fights for Campbell, a San Jose State College sophomore from Detroit.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The University of Southern California swim team travels to Seattle, Wash., this weekend to defend its National Collegiate Assn. championship with its finest team of all time.

Cooper Gets Chance To Prove Self

LONDON (AP)—The man described by champion Floyd Patterson as a "very worthy challenger" tonight steps into a London ring to prove to the world he's deserving of a shot at the heavyweight boxing crown.

His name: Henry Cooper, a 26-year-old blond Briton with a left hook and undefeated in his last seven fights.

Cooper is putting his British and Empire titles on the line against Welshman Joe Erskine, a clever boxer but one lacking a punch capable of stopping most of the world's heavyweights.

"I know my hopes of getting a crack at Patterson's title rests on tonight's fight," Cooper said. "I've no intention of letting the chance slip by."

Cooper is rated the fifth challenger for the crown. Erskine in most lists is just outside the top 10.

Benefit Slated For Colt Team

A benefit dance for the Northbridgers, Gallinas Valley Colt League baseball team, will be held Saturday night at the VFW Hall in Santa Venetia.

Dancing will be to the taped music of John Steuber. Decorations will have a baseball theme, and will be in the team colors—red, black and gray.

Bavasi, Dressen Feud As Tampering Charged

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—General Manager Buzzie Bavasi of the Dodgers claims that Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen has been tampering with Los Angeles players.

"If this happens again, I'll file a protest with the commissioner," Bavasi stormed yesterday.

Dressen expressed amazement at the charge.

"Tampering? I don't know about that," said Dressen, a former Dodger manager and coach.

Bavasi said Dressen tampered with pitcher Art Fowler, a 1959 Dodger reliefer now on the Omaha roster. He said Fowler came to him and asked why the Dodgers had turned down a Milwaukee offer for his minor league contract last season.

Dressen had this to say on that score: "Fowler came to me at Vero Beach and said: 'I can still pitch. I can help your club.' I told him: 'There is no way we can get you. You're on the Omaha roster."

Bavasi also said that last year Dressen told a story of having offered $50,000 and a player for pitcher Danny McDevitt. There was absolutely no truth in this report, Bavasi said, "and all it did was cause discontent on our club."

Bavasi said he called John McHale, Milwaukee general manager and said that since his club had made this offer, he would go through with the deal. "Of course, there was nothing to it," Bavasi added.

"We don't tamper with Dressen's players, and I don't want him tampering with ours. Next time the commissioner gets the case."

New Prexy Named For Marin Bowmen

A change in officers of the Northwoods Bowmen's Club of Marin County was announced today.

President Glenn Davis, who has moved to southern California, has been replaced in the top spot by Bob Bailey, who was promoted from the vice-presidency.

The board of directors then elected Stanley J. Makinson the new vice president.

Senior Signups Slated By Hub

Signups for the Senior League division of San Anselmo's summer youth baseball program will be held Thursday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Room 219 at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Boys who will be 15 as of July 31, but not 18, are eligible. A parent or guardian must sign up with the ballplayer, and boys joining for the first time must present birth certificates. To be eligible, a boy must live in the San Anselmo city limits, or have played in the city's youth baseball program in the past, according to Phil Hiaring, vice president for the Senior League.

The 15-game season will begin March 28, and conclude July 23, with games being played Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday at 6 p.m., to allow boys to have time for daytime jobs.

All players will be assigned to teams on the basis of the Thursday night signup, Hiaring said.

School Children Overpass Asked

The California Division of Highways will be asked by San Rafael to build an elevated walkway over Highway 101 in the vicinity of Paloma Avenue, principally for the use of children going to and from Coleman School.

A petition bearing 85 names advocating the overpass was presented to the city council last night. Several residents were present to give it verbal backing.

Mrs. Edward Jacobson of 20 Pacheco Street pointed out that children in fourth through sixth grade must walk to Coleman School although smaller children can ride a bus. The children, she said, cross the Mission Avenue turnoff, where one pedestrian has been killed and two others injured in the last three months.

She asked that the city insist the state build the walkway before signing an agreement for expansion of the highway.

All councilmen agreed.

"The matter of children getting out on the highway appalls me," declared Mayor John F. McInnis.

"They do it. They climb two fences to do it," Mrs. Jacobson assured him.

The mayor directed Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa to also have police check closely for children crossing the highway. City Manager Dan E. Andersen was instructed by the council to include full background of the situation, including the pedestrian accident record, in his letter urging the project on the state.

In another safety measure, the council by 4-1 vote approved four-way stop signs at two intersections: Belle Avenue and Irwin Street, and Fourth and Mary Streets. Both were recommended by the traffic commission, and Public Works Director Norris Rawles reported 42 residents had signed a petition for four-way stop signs or a traffic signal at Belle and Irwin.

Councilman David Menary Jr. voted "no," saying he was against putting stop signs on Fourth Street at Mary Street.

Yacht Club Plan Hits Snag As City Mulls Lease Price

The San Rafael Yacht Club ran into another delay last night on its proposal to lease city property on San Rafael Canal for construction of a clubhouse. The new question is the matter of price.

Last month, Les Simmons, a past commander of the yacht club, presented the city council an elevation sketch of the proposed 2,400-square foot clubhouse. He was told to return with a plot plan.

Last night he presented two alternate plans for placement of the clubhouse on the 4,500-square foot lot adjoining the city corporation yard.

Some question as to offstreet parking was raised by councilmen. Then City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw asked what length of lease the club sought. Simmons said 25 years.

Bagshaw said the lease could not be in excess of five years, although it might be drawn so that it would be renewable for five-year periods.

Then Mayor John F. McInnis put the stumper: "First let's arrive at the fair value of the property." Councilmen and club members took that to mull over further.

The city council approved hiring of Earl Gregg of Petaluma as assistant building inspector at $520 per month. Gregg is a journeyman plumber and worked two years as a building inspector for the City of Petaluma, said City Manager Dan E. Andersen. Orlando Conti, plumbing contractor, planning commissioner and city council candidate had urged that an inspector be hired at $581 per month as plumbing inspector only, but the council last month rejected the idea. Conti was not present last night.

Also at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting:

1. The council called for bids for two 16-inch water lines to serve the Marin Bay Subdivision to be opened April 11 at 1 p.m. for action by the council on April 17. The lines will be paid for by the Marin Bay Assessment District.

2. The 1959 uniform electrical code was adopted, with three changes, most important of which is one setting the fee schedule on the basis of square footage of a building instead of the number of electrical outlets.

3. Public Works Director Norris Rawles reported receipt of a letter from six residents of Fair Drive complaining that trucks hauling materials to homes being built by R. E. Nolan and Son are breaking down the street. Rawles proposed the city force Nolan to make repairs, but City Attorney Bagshaw said he doubted whether it can do so. The city is not posted against trucks, he noted, and is not constructed to city standards. Said Councilman Charles W. Aby: "The whole thing needs sewerage, drainage and streets. It's going to require an assessment district."

4. Payment of warrants totaling $17,707 (not including the payroll) was approved.

5. The council recessed until 9 a.m. today, when it met again to formally approve the setup for the April 10 municipal election, required by city charter to be done on this date.

TERRA LINDA MERGER VOTE TALLY OFFICIAL

The official vote on annexation of Terra Linda to San Rafael: No, 853; yes, 676.

The city council last night canvassed the vote and counted the absentee ballots. There were 36 absentee ballots, of which two were found invalid. Of the remainder, 20 were "no" votes and 14 "yes" votes.

These, added to the previous tally by City Clerk W. L. Morgan, gave the 853 no, 676 yes result.

Boat Owners Pass Up Tax Refunds

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A good many of California's pleasure boat owners still are passing up gasoline tax refunds they have coming, says State Controller Alan Cranston.

Cranston reminded boaters recently that the six-cent state tax on a gallon of gasoline is refundable if the fuel is used for boating. The state refunds taxes paid on gasoline used for other than travel on streets and highways.

He noted that the state refunded $176,766 to 7,400 pleasure boaters last year.

San Rafael Council Approves Contracts

Piombo Brothers of San Rafael won a contract for rebuilding of Cijos Street last night with a bid more than $3,000 below the city engineer's estimate for the job.

Piombo was low of five bidders, at $9,148.85 for the job which will include resurfacing of the street, placing a new storm drain and a larger water line to improve fire protection. Cecotti and Son of Corte Madera was high at $13,040.90. The engineer's estimate was $12,610.

Bids on a new road roller for the city were held over for study by the public works department, with the contract to be awarded at the April 3 city council meeting. Spears-Wells Co. of Oakland was low at $4,348, with other bids ranging up to $5,295.55.

Russell Lauterwasser of Larkspur was awarded the contract for removing the old caretaker's house at Gerstle Park, on a low bid of $2,740. Ghilotti Brothers, high bidder, had claimed Lauterwasser's state license did not cover such work, but City Manager Dan E. Andersen said he had been informed otherwise by the state contractor's licensing board.

"I think before we pay him we ought to get a legal opinion," ventured Councilman David E. Menary Jr. But City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw said the city already has such an opinion from the counsel of the licensing board, and pointed out that Lauterwasser's bid was so far below Ghilotti's that "if you voted it out you would certainly be subject to some criticism." The difference between the bids was about $1,300.

Bids were called for furnishing a half-ton truck for the fire department to be opened April 3, with Mayor John F. McInnis asking and receiving assurance that the specifications were so drawn that "any manufacturer of that type of truck can bid."

Concert Tomorrow At Redwood High

Student musicians from Redwood, Tamalpais and Sir Francis Drake high schools will perform in a concert tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Redwood high gymnasium.

The performance is for the benefit of the American Field Service student exchange program.

DIRECTS OPERA — Peggy Donovan will direct the University of California Opera Workshop in "Opera Highlights" at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in the College of Marin's Olney Hall. The program is part of the college concert and lecture series, open to the public. Free tickets may be obtained at the college book store or at Olney Hall before the performance.

Barbecue Stolen

Legislative Probe Of Adult Authority Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan (D-Los Angeles) wants the Legislature to investigate the California Adult Authority.

The seven-member authority sets prison terms and grants paroles.

McMillan complained yesterday that the authority was overworked and under pressure by police departments and sheriffs not to free some prisoners.

He said up to 1,000 inmates could be released from state prisons without endangering society.

The Los Angeles legislator said the authority handles some 23,000 cases a year, and it's unable to give adequate attention to all of them.

At his request, an Assembly Ways and Means Subcommittee held up approval of the authority's $339,760 budget. It will be considered later by the full committee.

McMillan gave no specific examples of attempts by law enforcement officers to keep certain offenders locked up.

"I have heard of cases and might give some concrete examples to the full Ways and Means Committee," he said.

Drunken Driver Gets $210 Fine

Warren A. Palmer of 135 South Ridgewood Road, Kentfield, a San Francisco attorney, was connected in Marin Municipal Court of drunken driving.

He was fined $210 and placed on six months summary probation. Palmer was arrested on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur on Feb. 10.

Cancer Campaign Chairman Named

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Wesley S. Bagby, comptroller of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., has been selected today as chairman of the 1961 fund-raising committee of the California division of the American Cancer Society.

The California society has a goal of $3,030,000 for support of cancer research, education and service to patients. The annual campaign opens April 3 and lasts through the month.

The American Cancer Society has allocated $1,057,545 to California institutions for research during the year.

Our canceled checks made tax time easier!

"When my husband and I were working on the income tax report, our canceled checks made the job much easier! The branch manager at Wells Fargo American Trust suggested I sort all of our 1960 checks for deductible medical expenses, local tax payments, contributions—everything—so they would be ready for Bob to figure.

San Rafael Council Approves Contracts

Piombo Brothers of San Rafael won a contract for rebuilding of Cijos Street last night with a bid more than $3,000 below the city engineer's estimate for the job.

Piombo was low of five bidders, at $9,148.85 for the job which will include resurfacing of the street, placing a new storm drain and a larger water line to improve fire protection. Cecotti and Son of Corte Madera was high at $13,040.90. The engineer's estimate was $12,610.

Bids on a new road roller for the city were held over for study by the public works department, with the contract to be awarded at the April 3 city council meeting. Spears-Wells Co. of Oakland was low at $4,348, with other bids ranging up to $5,295.55.

Russell Lauterwasser of Larkspur was awarded the contract for removing the old caretaker's house at Gerstle Park, on a low bid of $2,740. Ghilotti Brothers, high bidder, had claimed Lauterwasser's state license did not cover such work, but City Manager Dan E. Andersen said he had been informed otherwise by the state contractor's licensing board.

"I think before we pay him we ought to get a legal opinion," ventured Councilman David E. Menary Jr. But City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw said the city already has such an opinion from the counsel of the licensing board, and pointed out that Lauterwasser's bid was so far below Ghilotti's that "if you voted it out you would certainly be subject to some criticism." The difference between the bids was about $1,300.

Bids were called for furnishing a half-ton truck for the fire department to be opened April 3, with Mayor John F. McInnis asking and receiving assurance that the specifications were so drawn that "any manufacturer of that type of truck can bid."

A portable barbecue, valued at $30, was taken from her apartment, Mrs. Ruth A. Murray of 150 Clark Street, reported yesterday to San Rafael police.

Legislative Probe Of Adult Authority Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assemblyman Lester A. McMillan (D-Los Angeles) wants the Legislature to investigate the California Adult Authority.

The seven-member authority sets prison terms and grants paroles.

McMillan complained yesterday that the authority was overworked and under pressure by police departments and sheriffs not to free some prisoners.

He said up to 1,000 inmates could be released from state prisons without endangering society.

The Los Angeles legislator said the authority handles some 23,000 cases a year, and it's unable to give adequate attention to all of them.

At his request, an Assembly Ways and Means Subcommittee held up approval of the authority's $339,760 budget. It will be considered later by the full committee.

McMillan gave no specific examples of attempts by law enforcement officers to keep certain offenders locked up.

"I have heard of cases and might give some concrete examples to the full Ways and Means Committee," he said.

Drunken Driver Gets $210 Fine

Our canceled checks made tax time easier!

"When my husband and I were working on the income tax report, our canceled checks made the job much easier! The branch manager at Wells Fargo American Trust suggested I sort all of our 1960 checks for deductible medical expenses, local tax payments, contributions—everything—so they would be ready for Bob to figure.

"Now we're going to keep our file right through the year. Canceled checks are accurate records of payment—we want them handy. Wells Fargo American Trust has always helped us manage our finances so much more efficiently. That's why it's our family bank."

Alpha Gam Club Plans Style Show

"Spring Fever" is the theme that has been selected by the Alpha Gamma Delta Mothers' Club for its benefit luncheon and fashion show.

The event will be held Friday, April 13 at 12:30 p.m. at the Berkeley Chapter House, 2424 Warring Street.

Daughters modeling will present the latest fashions adapted to campus life and proceeds will benefit the house furnishing fund.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Walter Haley, general chairman, 2616 17th Avenue, San Francisco.

Sisterhood Will Be Honored At 'Correctly Koret' Show

"Correctly Koret" on Tuesday at Rickey's popular Fashion Focus luncheon will be The Sisterhood of the Jewish Community Center.

The attractive models of The Sisterhood will show why the fashion press have acclaimed the 1961 spring and summer collection of Designer Stephanie Koret as "terrific."

Without budging from a coffee cup, guests can visualize themselves "Correctly Koret" lounging at La Jolla, motoring to Monterey, journeying by jet, or digging in the garden in the amazingly versatile coordinates that are at home north, east, south or west.

With a wardrobe "Correctly Koret" life simply breezes along. There is time for so many outside interests and volunteer work such as The Sisterhood performs for the Jewish Community Center.

Without a wrinkle or a worry in a carload, the Stephanie Koret happy go togethers include knowledgable knits, shorts, bermudas and tapers in an array of rainbow color, town ensembles, luncheon classic, and lazy loungers.

Sun-sensational play clothes for a sun-sensational summer will include two completely new Koret swimsuits, country toggery, beach beauties and patio partners to have their place in the sun.

Reservations to see the Stephanie Koret collection may be made by calling Rickey's. Luncheon is served at 12:30 p.m. and the public is cordially invited to the popular weekly series.

Dental Auxiliary's Program Slated

The lovely Marin Golf and Country Club home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Albert will be the setting for the monthly meeting of the auxiliary to the Marin County Dental Society on Thursday, March 23, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Frank Rossman, auxiliary president, will preside at the business meeting which will be followed by a program at which Lee Marriott, Marin County interior decorator, will speak on "Modern Trends in Interior Decoration." Mr. Marriott will demonstrate the use of color coordination with present trends and the establishment of gracious, comfortable living. He will also describe the blending of antique and contemporary furniture, with emphasis on elegance.

The auxiliary has been busy this year showing puppet shows throughout Marin County schools as a part of its dental health education program, and now is making plans for the state dental convention which will meet in San Francisco next month.

Reservations for members and their guests at the meeting may be made by calling Mrs. Albert.

Tree Planting Rites To Climax Jubilee Activities Of Camp Fire

Climax of their Golden Jubilee activities for Marin Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds in the Southern Marin District will be tree planting ceremonies Saturday in Mill Valley's 17-acre recreation district in the marshlands and at the Tiburon Railroad Depot.

Mrs. William Pemberton, director for the Southern Marin District of Camp Fire, announces that Mrs. Harold Bright will be in charge of the 10:30 a.m. planting and ceremony of accepjtance by Mill Valley city officials, and that Mrs. Robert Samilson will be in charge of the 9 a.m. acceptance by city officials in Tiburon.

Making the presentation in Mill Valley will be members of the Belvedere Ka Ta Ni group under Mrs. William Myers.

While 20 groups are planting the trees in Mill Valley, three Blue Bird groups from Bel Aire will be planting at the Tiburon Railroad Depot under the direction of their leaders, Mesdames Paul Wilson, E. J. Mitchell and John Maxon.

At 11:30 a.m. all girls will go by caravan to Boyle Park in Mill Valley for a Golden Jubilee birthday celebration planned by Mrs. William Thorpe. Highlight of the party will be talks on camping by Camp Fire field directors Mrs. Dennis Molloy and Miss Laura Warren, and instead of one huge birthday cake, each girl will have a cup cake with a single candle.

Some of the 40 trees to be planted were donated by local nurseries, and money for the others was raised by the girls, not by panning for gold but in "Panning for Pennies" parties in observance of this Golden Jubilee project of beautifying their cities.

Groups participating in the project in addition to those mention will be: Mill Valley Park School Blue Birds under Mesdames Peter Behr, Nicholas Gravem, J. H. Bennett and Eric Johnson and Park School Camp Fire Girls under Mrs. Bright and Mrs. John Sullivan; Mill Valley Old Mill Blue Birds under Mesdames H. S. Folker and Robert Frost; Mill Valley Marin Terrace Blue Birds under Mrs. Dudley Browning;

Homestead Blue Birds under Mesdames G. F. Barrett, Tsugio Kubota and M. J. Frick; Marin City Camp Fire Girls under Mesdames Joseph Harris and Helen Jackson; Strawberry Blue Birds under Mrs. K. S. Caldwell; Alto Blue Birds under Mesdames Duane Spangler and T. J. De Lasaux Jr., and Alto Camp Fire Girls under Mrs. Monte Steadman; Tam Valley Camp Fire Girls under Mesdames Marian A. Findley and R. C. Sinclair; and Sausalito Blue Birds under Mrs. J. F. Phipps and Sausalito Camp Fire Girls under Mrs. Harold Puhrich.

Cecilia O'Neil Will Address Teachers' Assn.

Miss Cecilia O'Neil, past president of the California Retired Teachers' Assn., will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Marin Division on Thursday, at 1 p.m. in the social hall of the Fairfax Community Church.

Because of the rapid growth of the Marin Division, program chairman Nettie Shaver has planned a hobby, fun, get acquainted meeting.

Among the hobbies already listed are art, photography, rocks, poetry, music, and group singing.

Since this meeting celebrates the fourth birthday of Marin Division, hospitality chairman Katie Murchison and her committee members, Orbie Griffith, Allie Jamieson and Ethel Porteous will serve a birthday dessert. Spring flowers will be the table decor.

The group will bid bon voyage to President Jack Uhte and Mrs. Uhte, who are leaving early in April for a European trip. Katies Murchison and Belle McPhail are leaving on an extended tour of the British Isles in June.

Members are acked to send names of sick friends to Kathleen Donnelly, welfare chairman. Recipients of cards have been pleased by Miss Donnelly's promptness and excellent selections.

President Uhte has appointed Eleanor G. Murray chairman of the nominating committee. Two other members will be elected at the Thursday meeting.

Valerie Ansel, membership chairman, reports that Marin Division now has 115 members.

Junior Social Service Group Plans Easter Party Saturday

Eighty young children from Marin County are looking forward to an Easter party being planned for them by members of the Junior Social Service Auxiliary.

This annual event will be held at St. Rita's Parish Hall in Fairfax on Saturday, March 25 from 1 until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Chairmen for the event are Mesdames Henry Ghilotti and Charles Hoffman.

Transportation chairman is Mrs. William Barr of San Rafael. Her committee will pick up the children for the party and return them to their homes. Some mothers attend the party with their children, and these are given corsages, under the direction of Mrs. William Larkins.

Mrs. Roy Olson, entertainment chairman, has planned what should be a very merry and exciting party for the children. The Easter bunny, Mrs. Alan Pedroli, will hand out gaily decorated baskets filled with the special goodies typical of Easter. A puppet show is also to be presented and stories will be told. Refreshments of cup cakes, ice cream and milk will be served by members of Mrs. Anton Lonich's committee.

Other members of the Junior Auxiliary who are helping to make this party a success are: Mesdames David Shippey, decorations; Emil Bettini, telephone; Louis Bartolini, invitations; Dolores Thornhill, Easter baskets, and Charles Brown, egg coloring.

NEWLYWEDS HONEYMOON IN SPAIN

When Nancy King became the bride of Hugh Girard Pastoriza Jr. Saturday at the Episcopal Church in Mt. Vernon, N.Y., she wore the ivory handmade lace mantilla her grandmother, the late Elvira Kendall Conklin, bought in Granada, Spain, before Nancy was born.

Nancy's ivory peau gown was designed with a portrait neckline, elbow length sleeves and bouffant skirt. Small white rosebuds were in the bridal bouquet.

The bride was given in marriage by Alexander Schmidt-Felner of Riverside, Conn., whose wife was matron of honor. Mrs. Schmidt-Felner and the bridesmaid, Mrs. Howard Bollinger, also of Riverside, sister of the bridegroom, were gowned alike in light blue silk and had small matching hats. They carried pale yellow daisies. The bridegroom's brother, James Pastoriza of Pacific Palisades, Calif., was best man.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Conklin King of San Anselmo, was present at the wedding. She wore an almond and cream silk brocade suit and a flowered hat of the same color. Her orchids were brown and green.

The wedding was followed by a reception at the Bronxville Field Club.

The newlyweds flew to Spain for the honeymoon and and will live in Paris for two years. The bridegroom has been made a director of Products and Market Planning for IBM World Trade Europe Corp. Son of Hugh Pastoriza of Mt. Vernon, and the late Mrs. Pastoriza, he is a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard School of Business Administration.

Nancy, whose father, Leslie Biddle King resides in Bakersfield, has one brother, Robert King of Bakersfield, and she is the niece of Capt. A. P. Conklin of Ross and of Miss Sybil Conklin of San Anselmo. The bride attended Katharine Branson School and was graduated from University of California. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Mrs. King will return home the latter part of the week. She is now visiting Mrs. Fred Searls Jr. of New York City.

Fair Contest For School Seamstresses

Junior and senior high school seamstresses are urged to mail entry blanks soon for California's large Sew-It-Yourself contest which will close March 20, according to the California Spring Festival committee on women's activities.

The statewide even is part of California's Spring Festival scheduled April 15-23 at the State Fair Grounds in Sacramento. The nine-day Festival is co-sponsored by the California State Fair and Exposition and the Sacramento County Fair.

Entrants from the seventh grade through high school in California schools will compete for a total of $1,750 in U.S. Savings Bonds. The contest is divided into two divisions with five sections in each division. First place section winners and her home economics teacher will each received a $100 Savings Bond.

Seventh through ninth graders can submit entries for casual dresses, suits, coats, jackets and miscellaneous items. Tenth through twelfth graders can make entries in formal dresses, casual dresses, suits, coats and jackets.

Entry blanks may be secured by writing to California's Spring Festival, Sew-It-Yourself Fashion Contest, P.O. Box 2036, Sacramento.

Attendance Records Broken At Sausalito Club's Founders' Day

All attendance records were broken at Thursday's Founders' Day luncheon and High Jinks at the Sausalito Woman's Club.

As mistress of ceremonies, the junior past president, Mrs. Richard F. Phillips presided at the head table seating the current president, Mrs. S. C. Stapp, past presidents and honorary members.

Following a reading of the club collection by Mrs. James Wyatt, an honorary member and the pledge of allegiance led by Mrs. John E. Koenig, a past president, festivities opened with the traditional chorus of greeting by new members who also served as waitresses and took part in the Jinks.

Immediately following the luncheon, Mrs. Phillips read notes of regret from absent past presidents, and the only founder, Miss Fanny A. Shoobert, whose wit has always been a highlight of Founders' Day. Past presidents were seated and called upon in the order of their regimes with Mrs. James Lanagan, 1917-'20 leading the list. Others present were Mesdames Leonard S. Wood, '28-'29, William Donaldson, '29-'30; Paul Hastings, '30-'31; John E. Koenig, '35-'36; William DeJung, '36-'37; Richard Shaler, '42-'43; Carl W. Spring, '45-'47; Gordon E. Smith, '47-'49; Clyde F. Trudell, '49-'50; Howard Sievers, '50-'52; Emmet L. Rixford, '52-'53; Sylvester J. McAtee, '53-'55; Ernest H. King, '55-'56; King Hettrich, '56-'57; Leonard G. James, '57-'58; Van Allen Treat, '58-'59. Honorary members taking a bow were Mesdames Marshall Keyt, J. E. Laidlaw, James Lanagan, Herbert Ward, Leonard S. Wood and James Wyatt.

The Jinks, always a secret and surprise, was titled "L'Opera Cornique" with programs compiled by Mrs. Carl Spring. Conceived by Mrs. Clayton D. Mote and directed by Mrs. Emmet L. Rixford with tongue in cheek, the performance was hilarious from beginning to end. With Mrs. Lauren D. Mooney and Mrs. Herbert Ward depicting Mr. and Mrs. Operagoer seated in their season box, the antics on stage were parodies of 'I Pagliacci", "The Valkyrie", "Madame Butterfly", "Faust", "The Barber of Seville", "Rigoletto", the ballet from "Sylvia" and "Carmen". The quartette from "Rigoletto" was the show stealer with Mesdames Robert K. Bond, A. Keefer, Chester Solberg and R. H. Zumwalt proving their ability as comediennes.

New members in the cast who claim it was nothing but fun were Mesdames Charles W. Ashley, Thomas W. Crosby, Jan P. Dyk, Clebert L. Hail Felix Johnson, Roland T. Lamb, J. R. Lehmkuhl and A. S. Lyon.

Others contributing to the operatic nightmare were Mesdames Delman D. Smith, Martin M. Brownstein, James J. Carroll Frank E. Rossman, Mervyn Cowen, R. Jerrold Hooper, Leonard S. Wood, Paul Hastings, J. E. Laidlaw and Hal Fletcher, the accompanist for Margaret Rossman's rendition of Rosina's aria "Una Voce Poco Fa" from "The Barber of Seville".

Costuming honors go to Mesdames John F. Churchill and Martin May, with Mesdames John Alexander, Richard Cruikshank, Charles Knaebel, Edwin S. Long and Leonard S. Wood providing stage decorations and props. Both Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Becker supervised the lighting, and other males who had a hand in the successful show were "Mike" Quinn and Ed Davis.

In the audience were several members who have moved from Sausalito but never miss a Founders' Day. Among them: Mesdames Thomas R. Decket, Chester I. Dennis, Fay Sparks and Emile Waldteufel of Mill Valley; Clayton L. Drew of Corte Madera; F. A. Pereira of Tiburon; L. P. McNear of San Rafael; William McAfee up from Hillsborough and Gordon E. Smith from Sacramento.

The performance was repeated to a full house on Saturday evening. Due to unforeseen circumstances, both the director, Mrs. Rixford, and the producer, Mrs. Mote, were eleventh-hour substitutes in two of the numbers and were cheered loudly.

Followed by dancing, the two day annual celebration was brought to a close in the wee small hours of the morning and voted unanimously, "the best ever."

Cecilia O'Neil Will Address Teachers' Assn.

Miss Cecilia O'Neil, past president of the California Retired Teachers' Assn., will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Marin Division on Thursday, at 1 p.m. in the social hall of the Fairfax Community Church.

Because of the rapid growth of the Marin Division, program chairman Nettie Shaver has planned a hobby, fun, get acquainted meeting.

Among the hobbies already listed are art, photography, rocks, poetry, music, and group singing.

Since this meeting celebrates the fourth birthday of Marin Division, hospitality chairman Katie Murchison and her committee members, Orbie Griffith, Allie Jamieson and Ethel Porteous will serve a birthday dessert. Spring flowers will be the table decor.

The group will bid bon voyage to President Jack Uhte and Mrs. Uhte, who are leaving early in April for a European trip. Katies Murchison and Belle McPhail are leaving on an extended tour of the British Isles in June.

Members are acked to send names of sick friends to Kathleen Donnelly, welfare chairman. Recipients of cards have been pleased by Miss Donnelly's promptness and excellent selections.

President Uhte has appointed Eleanor G. Murray chairman of the nominating committee. Two other members will be elected at the Thursday meeting.

Valerie Ansel, membership chairman, reports that Marin Division now has 115 members.

Junior Social Service Group Plans Easter Party Saturday

Eighty young children from Marin County are looking forward to an Easter party being planned for them by members of the Junior Social Service Auxiliary.

This annual event will be held at St. Rita's Parish Hall in Fairfax on Saturday, March 25 from 1 until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Chairmen for the event are Mesdames Henry Ghilotti and Charles Hoffman.

Transportation chairman is Mrs. William Barr of San Rafael. Her committee will pick up the children for the party and return them to their homes. Some mothers attend the party with their children, and these are given corsages, under the direction of Mrs. William Larkins.

Mrs. Roy Olson, entertainment chairman, has planned what should be a very merry and exciting party for the children. The Easter bunny, Mrs. Alan Pedroli, will hand out gaily decorated baskets filled with the special goodies typical of Easter. A puppet show is also to be presented and stories will be told. Refreshments of cup cakes, ice cream and milk will be served by members of Mrs. Anton Lonich's committee.

Other members of the Junior Auxiliary who are helping to make this party a success are: Mesdames David Shippey, decorations; Emil Bettini, telephone; Louis Bartolini, invitations; Dolores Thornhill, Easter baskets, and Charles Brown, egg coloring.

MARGO OLIVER ANNOUNCES BETROTHAL TO GILL HAYES

With the presentation of the traditional box of candy Marjorie Ruth Oliver, known as Margo, announced her engagement to Henry Gillespie Hayes IV last night to her Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sisters at University of California. Formal announcement was made on Saturday night by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Letts Oliver Jr., at their home in Menlo Park.

Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gillespie Hayes III of Kent Woodlands, is a graduate of Tamalpais School for Boys and received the B.A. degree from Stanford University in 1956. He served as field artillery officer in the Marine Corps from 1957 to 1960. His fraternities are Alpha Sigma Phi and Alpha Delta Sigma. He is the brother of Margaret Collin Hayes, Barbara Clarke Hayes and David Proctor Hayes and is the grandson of the late Dr. and Mrs. Henry Louis Hayes of Washington, D. C., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hill Collins of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Margo, who has one sister, Shirley Oliver who attends U. C. at Santa Barbara, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Redmond C. Staats of Berkeley and the late Mr. Staats and the late Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Letts Oliver of Piedmont.

Margo and Gill are planning a wedding in July in Menlo Park. After their marriage they will live in San Francisco.

Camp Fire Girls Mark Birthday

The candles of Wohelo (work, health and love) will be lighted many times this week as Camp Fire Girls all over the county celebrate their fifth birthday with ceremonials.

The Ko-Da-Shu-Wa Camp Fire Girls of San Anselmo will have, as their ceremonial theme, the thought of how each group is being a part of, and strengthened by, the total organization. This thought will be symbolized by the breaking of one twig, and the inability to break a sheath of twigs bound together. The Wakata group, also from San Anselmo, will have a springtime theme, "Winds of March."

The Ton-Ki-Ki group of Camp Fire Girls from San Pedro School will entertain Blue Birds groups this week. They are planning a ceremonial at which time honor beads will be presented by their guardians, Mrs. Paul Nelson and Mrs. Edward McCurdy. The girls will serve birthday cake to their guests, the Happy Blue Birds and the Miss Blue Birds.

Shelley Hecht, Jean Holloway, Christine Kane, Kathleen McCurdy, Florence Nelson, Barbara Pedroli, Rhoann Ponseti and Jama Tegler are members of the Ton-Ki-Ki group and Deborah Hoyt, Diane Johnston, Marjorie Ann Joost, Andrea Purdy, Lorena Smith, Mary Tayler Smith, Sharman Van Pelt, Carol Waxman, Laura White and Roxanne Wright belong to Miss Blue Birds with Mrs. William Joost as their leader. Mrs. Ted Ponseti is the leader of Happy Blue Birds, Marcy Fraser, Joann Juzuk, Kathleen Menary, Marthe Ponseti and Suzanne Scherini.

The Burton Saunders Memorial Museum at Berryville, Ark., has a Colt-Walker 1847 model revolver valued at more than $3,500.

The Arkansas Children's Colony at Conway is recognized as the nation's outstanding training facility for mentally retarded children.

Work Parties Named For Antique Sale

Work-parties are well underway for the ninth annual Marin County Antiques Show and Sale, sponsored by the churchwomen of the Mill Valley Church of Our Saviour.

The four-day event will be held again this year at the IDESST Hall, 511 Caledonia Street, Sausalito from April 20 through 23, noon until 10 p.m., daily.

Mrs. Eugene W. McGeorge, chairman of the Show, announces that 27 dealers from all over California will bring interesting and unusual antiques for display and sale. Since its inception, nine years ago, the Marin County Antiques Show and Sale has become unique among its kind, with the special features of free decorating advice, round-the-clock lunches and snacks, and the gourmet "Grandmother's Cupboard" section.

Decorating consultants Helen van Cleave Park, A.I.D., and Betty Perdue, A.I.D., will be available for information and advice to shoppers. Mrs. Christopher Forwood of Mill Valley, china repair expert, will be on hand to mend fine china and demonstrate her craftsmanship.

Committee members include Mesdames Sidney C. DeGuerre, night chairman; J. Ralph Martindale, staffing; Harrison M. Leppo, public relations; Herbert B. Marsh, kitchen; Leslie Wellington, floor spacing; Richard D. Rider, hostess and registrar; Leigh Athearn, advance tickets; Richard Jessup, outdoor advertising; James H. Behr, printing; E. M. Tobin, mailing; Aubrey Harwood, telephone; Jay Chilton, decorations; John Savage, dining room; John B. Wyand, treasurer; Philip T. Smith, advisory; Dashwood Darling and John Richardson, Grandmother's Cupboard; Peter Behr and Robert E. Byard, Jr., dealer relations; Pieter van Dalen and Robert Murphy, program, and Ronald Brindley, scrapbook.

Rosarium To Be Host To Catholic Council

Rosarium Institute 175, YLI, will be co-hostess organization with St. Patrick's Guild for the meeting of Marin County Council, National Council of Catholic Women on Thursday night, March 23 at St. Patrick's Center, Larkspur, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Lawrence Arntz, president, held a meeting at her home in Corte Madera last night when proposed fundrasing for the year was discussed. Mrs. Arntz, who vacationed in Mexico expressed her appreciation to Mrs. David Miller, first vice president, who had conducted Rosarium affairs during her absence.

Rosarium will also be hostess at the meeting of the Redwood Empire District of the institute at St. Patrick's Center on April 21.

Overblouse Leads

Overblouse, long and loose or sashed, leads among spring toppings. One of its favorite partners is the pleated skirt.

Woodwardia Schedules Its Salad Luncheon

Woodwardia Circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft, will hold its first salad luncheon of the year tomorrow at the IOOF Temple in San Rafael. Luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend. For those who wish there will be tables for playing cards. Mrs. Esther Lewis and Mrs. Charles Bell, guardian neighbor, are general chairmen. Mrs. Juel Nissum and Mrs. John Barnards are to take care of the card games.

In the evening the monthly meeting of Woodwardia will be held. Mrs. Lawrence Hancock, captain of the guards, and her team will be honored for their cooperation in all of the circle's activities during the past year.

Scouts Plan Gold Rush Dinner

The Marin Council has invited adult Scouts to celebrate the 49th birthday of the Girl Scouts of the USA by following the "Gold Rush trail to the annual box social and covered dish supper" at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Honored guests will include leaders, committee members, board members, and other registered volunteers and their mates who have blazed the trail for scouting in Marin.

The theme of the evening's program, "We struck it rich in Girl Scouting," will be marked by the presentation of annual awards to "pioneer stock and a few gold nuggets."

The program will include an "assay report" by Girl Scout president Mrs. Harold Green, and a "howdy" from senior Scout Miss Bobbie Hauser of Fairfax, newly elected president of the Bay Area Senior Conference Planning Board. Other entertainment will include songs by senior scouts as the Music Hall Maids and an "old fashioned mellerdrama" titled "Follow Me, Girls."

Wagon Master or general chairman for the evening is Mrs. George Daum of Corte Madera and her team including Mesdames Richard W. Morgan, Victors Fuerst, Roderick Martinelli, Albert De Mello, Thomas J. Mellon, Howard Perry Louis Harding, Martin Seaver, Harold Green, Joseph Johnson, James D. Adams, Robert Rohner, and Miss Myrna Reed.

National Magazine Reviews Work Of 'Candy Stripers'

A group of Marin County high school girls found a recent article in a national magazine of special interest.

The girls are members of the junior branch of the Women's Auxiliary at San Rafael General Hospital, and the article they read with such interest is entitled "The Girls in Candy Stripes." It appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

The article describes the work of high school girls who work as junior volunteers in some 2,000 hospitals all over the United States. The local "Candy Stripers" are among these 150,000 teen-agers who contribute thousands of hours to their community hospitals.

Like most of their counterparts in all sections of the country, the girls at San Rafael General wear red and white striped pinafores and white blouses. This is also the uniform of the senior volunteers at the hospital, except that the insignia worn by the juniors designates their branch

The Junior Auxiliary at the San Rafael hospital was organized in January 1960 in accordance with the national teenage program outlined by the American Hospital Association.

During their first year, the girls served a total of 674 hours.

Three of the group received their stripes for 50 hours of service at a recent meeting: Ida Cardellini, Lydia Collie, and Patricia Kearny. Five others were awarded their 25-hour emblems. They are Charlotte Brown, Marcia Stewart, Mae Anne Jackson, Diane Nelson, and Barbara McDermott.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

By RICHARD BARBOUR, Ph. D.
Guidance Counselor

Frustrated Parent Vents His Own Aggressions On Helpless Children

Do you recognize this man? He wanted to be a big shot, but he failed and is frustrated. He takes it out by playing God with his babies and small children.

He gives loud and unnecessary orders. If the kids don't obey immediately, he blows his top. He has a heavy hand, and uses it. He gets mad at his tiny baby for crying at night. He spanks the wee one, unable to understand why the crying continues.

His children live in terror and so does his wife. If she is normal she frequently asks herself how she happened to marry him. But maybe she is abnormal, the type who wants brutal treatment and enjoys being browbeaten. In that case she still loves him. But she's the only one who does.

He is unfair in the way he plays with his youngsters. He always wins. He can't tolerate any game in which they might defeat him. His children hate to play with him, but he forces them to. Then he gloats over their weakness, compared with his strength.

The worst thing he does is to risk the lives of his children. He tosses them high in the air, and catches them. He picks them up by the wrists and swings them in great circles. I saw this man, or one like him, hold his son over the edge of a skyscraper. A slip and the boy would have plunged 20 stories. The little guy had enough sense to be frightened. He cried. His father spanked him for it. "You should be brave," he said. "You should be brave."

Thank heavens this man occurs rarely!

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Are many babies hurt by the gymnastics their parents put them through?"

A. L.

(A) Yes, thousands are injured each year. Visit any large hospital and you will see some of them. Little skulls are fractured, joints are dislocated, bones and backs are broken needlessly by parents who do gymnastics with their babies.

Machine Shop Moving To San Rafael

Removal of Pioneer Enterprises, Inc., a job machine shop specializing in precision work, from Sausalito to larger quarters in San Rafael was announced today by P. H. Bechtel and E. N. Reese, principals in the company, through the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

The firm will occupy 5,500 square feet in a modern concrete building at 97 Jordan Street, more than double what it had formerly. The number of employees will be increased to 20, and new precision machinery is being added.

In addition to machining, the company does metal fabrication and welding. Much of its activity is on a subcontract basis for the electronic and missile industries. Bechtel has been active in the machine shop field in Marin for several years. Reese was, until recently, connected with the Dumont Manufacturing Corp. in San Rafael.

Leasing of the new space was handled by Charles Rosenbaum and George Rademacher of Maynard Redmond and Co., San Rafael.

Council Will Get Matter Of Lease

Sausalito's city atty. John B. Ehlen will give an opinion at the meeting of the city council today at 8 p.m. with regard to whether the lease to Madden and Lewis boat yard permits building of docks on the south side of the sandspit.

Also to be discussed again will be the development plan for Marinship.

Recreation Group Favors Parking Lot

The Sausalito Recreation Commission has gone on record as favoring a parking lot on Humboldt Avenue as it extends into the bay as an answer to the need for more parking for boat owners using the Turney Street launching ramp on weekends and holidays.

A proposal made before the city council Feb. 28 for the Humboldt parking area is being studied by city manager Charles A. Brown.

Discussion Program

The University of California Extension discussion program "Values in Conflict: The American Century in Theory and Practice" will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Macgowan on Ranch Road in Tiburon. Enrollments will be accepted at the meeting.

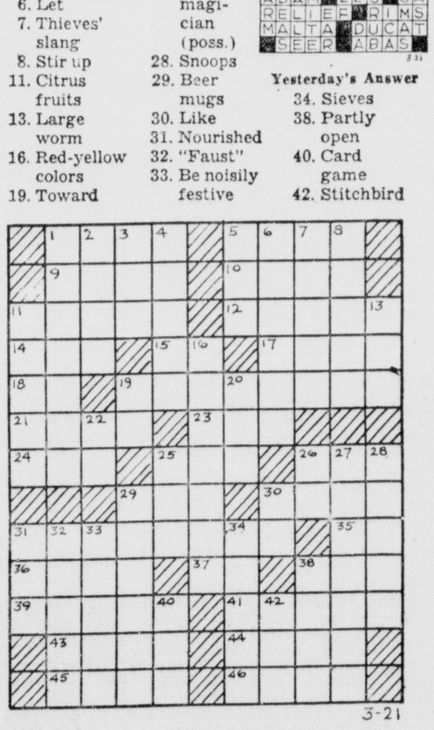
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

H Z X G E'K G N V V Z S G A'B S V S J J, E'K V Z S G A'B X G N I F Z — M E X J B E G F.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: PLOUGH DEEP WHILE SLUGGARDS SLEEP—FRANKLIN.

DEMANDS INCREASED

Larkspur's Financial Shape Reported Good

The City of Larkspur ended 1960 in better shape financially in spite of increased demands on city services, according to the annual report of City Manager Ronald E. Piper.

The city started the year with a total balance of $25,012. At the end of the year this had risen to $70,263.

This is broken down to three categories. The general fund started the year with $15,036 and ended with $65,349. The library had $6,808 at the beginning of the year and ended it with $2,462. The recreation department had $3,168 at the beginning of the year and finished with $2,452.

This was accounted for by the city having an income of $235,583 and only spending $190,332 of it.

The city derived its income with 45.6 per cent coming from property taxes; 21.3 per cent coming from sales taxes; 11.5 per cent coming from motor vehicle license fees; 8.2 per cent coming from gasoline taxes; 7 per cent from licenses and permits; 2.3 per cent from other government agencies; 1.8 per cent from franchises; 1.6 per cent from fines and .7 per cent from miscellaneous.

The city spends 33.5 per cent of its income for streets and drains; 21 per cent for fire protection; 18.6 for general government; 14.6 per cent for police protection; 5.3 per cent for library; 5.2 for parks and recreation; 1.8 per cent for inspection.

Like all other areas in California, crime showed a decided increase in Larkspur during the year.

During the year, 873 cases were investigated, an increase of 57 per cent over the previous year and 178 per cent over 1957. The police department reported 89 major crimes last year as compared to 77 in 1959.

The police department cleared 24 of the cases by arrest for a rate of 28 per cent. In 1959 it cleared 50 per cent. Police arrested 112 persons, of which 56 were over and 56 were under 25 years of age. Of the second 56, 37 were under 18 years of age.

The fire department answered 193 alarms during the year. These consisted of 13 structural fires, 12 appliance fires, 28 grass and brush fires and 94 miscellaneous calls, 15 resuscitator calls, four accident calls, 14 automobile fires and 11 false alarms.

Among the improvements in the department was installation of two-way radio equipment in all engines and a base station for the main station. This gives immediate contact with Kentfield under the mutual aid program.

The building department issued 206 permits valued at $2,773,916. This was $993,648 more than last year.

Cane Street, and a portion of Corte Lenosa, Hidalgo and El Portal Drive were resurfaced. Approximately 700 feet of subsurface drain was installed on Magnolia Avenue. The offstreet parking lot between Magnolia and Locust Avenues was graded and paved.

Cooperative street improvements on Bayo Vista, Palm Court, Olive and Myrtle Avenues were completed.

A new control system was installed on the sewage pumps to provide positive pump control at all times. The city also constructed 179 feet of new sewer line on Baltimore Avenue and 170 feet on Bayo Vista. New manholes were constructed in the sewer system to provide access for cleaning.

During the year, 460 new books were added to the library, making a total of approximately 17,000 volumes valued at more than $55,000. More than 3,000 residents hold library cards.

The Larkspur library tax of nine cents per $100 assessed valuation is the lowest in the county.

The planning commission granted two rezonings and 17 variances during the year. Four cases of zoning violations were acted upon. The commission committee is studying the city subdivision ordinance and revisions of commercial zoning in the city.

The need for additional parks and developments of the present parks was felt as the biggest need of the city by the recreation commission. The proposed harbor program is still pending before the State Small Craft Harbor Commission.

4 Youths Hurt As Car Hits Tree

Four San Anselmo youths suffered minor injuries when their car skidded wide and struck a tree as they were driving out of Legend Road into Raven Road in Sleepy Hollow yesterday afternoon.

William Edward Foti, of 16 Scenic Avenue, 16-year-old student of Sir Francis Drake High School, told the California Highway Patrol that he had been eastbound on Legend Road at 3:25 p.m. and as he was entering Raven Road he was blinded by the sun and "the steering went out."

Treated with Foti at Marin General Hospital were Darrel Denbo, 18, of 48 Tamalpais Avenue, left arm scraped; Edwin Brown, 17, 99 Scenic Avenue, right arm and legs scraped; and Charles Terzian, 16, of 217B San Anselmo Avenue, chin cut. Foti suffered scrapes of chin and right arm.

Before hitting the tree Foti's sedan broke a water line and mowed down a fence and some shrubbery. Patrol inspection later disclosed nothing amiss with the steering gear.

Sausalito To Discuss Civic Center Plan

Location of Sausalito's proposed civic center will be discussed by the Sausalito planning commission at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Recommendations to be considered are from the Sausalito citizens' central waterfront plan committee report of Aug. 12, 1960, which proposed the center be either on city property next to the Bank of America or on property within the area of Litho, Bee and Caledonia Streets and Bridgeway Boulevard.

Lecture Tomorrow On Sierra Birdlife

An illustrated lecture on "Birdlife of the Sierra Nevada" will be presented tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin Little Theater. Speaker will be Howard L. Cogswell, assistant professor of biological sciences at Mills College, Oakland, and an instructor at Audubon Camp of California at Donner Pass. The talk is presented by University of California Extension.

Driver Hits Tree In Order To Stop

A sailor driving down the Shoreline Highway into Olema last night chose to "run into a tree to stop the car before I killed somebody," he told the California Highway Patrol.

He didn't kill anybody but he put his passenger, 21-year-old Michael Behaylo of San Francisco, in Marin General Hospital for emergency treatment for cuts on left lower eyelid and nose.

The driver was John Danto Pinkston, 22, of Oakland, sailor for an oil company. He and Behaylo had been going south and Pinkston tried to turn left at 8:15 p.m. into Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Unable to slacken speed sufficiently, he skidded off to the south side of the boulevard.

Mill Valley Artist's Paintings On Display

Water color paintings by Mill Valley artist Helen Gapen Oehler are being shown as Preston Associates continues its exhibitions of works by local artists.

Mrs. Oehler, honor graduate of Chicago Art Institute and member of many artist societies, including the Society of Western Artists, has exhibited in the United States and Europe. Her paintings will be shown at least another month at 322 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Frustrated Parent Vents His Own Aggressions On Helpless Children

Do you recognize this man? He wanted to be a big shot, but he failed and is frustrated. He takes it out by playing God with his babies and small children.

He gives loud and unnecessary orders. If the kids don't obey immediately, he blows his top. He has a heavy hand, and uses it. He gets mad at his tiny baby for crying at night. He spanks the wee one, unable to understand why the crying continues.

His children live in terror and so does his wife. If she is normal she frequently asks herself how she happened to marry him. But maybe she is abnormal, the type who wants brutal treatment and enjoys being browbeaten. In that case she still loves him. But she's the only one who does.

He is unfair in the way he plays with his youngsters. He always wins. He can't tolerate any game in which they might defeat him. His children hate to play with him, but he forces them to. Then he gloats over their weakness, compared with his strength.

The worst thing he does is to risk the lives of his children. He tosses them high in the air, and catches them. He picks them up by the wrists and swings them in great circles. I saw this man, or one like him, hold his son over the edge of a skyscraper. A slip and the boy would have plunged 20 stories. The little guy had enough sense to be frightened. He cried. His father spanked him for it. "You should be brave," he said. "You should be brave."

Thank heavens this man occurs rarely!

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "Are many babies hurt by the gymnastics their parents put them through?"

A. L.

(A) Yes, thousands are injured each year. Visit any large hospital and you will see some of them. Little skulls are fractured, joints are dislocated, bones and backs are broken needlessly by parents who do gymnastics with their babies.

Machine Shop Moving To San Rafael

Removal of Pioneer Enterprises, Inc., a job machine shop specializing in precision work, from Sausalito to larger quarters in San Rafael was announced today by P. H. Bechtel and E. N. Reese, principals in the company, through the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

The firm will occupy 5,500 square feet in a modern concrete building at 97 Jordan Street, more than double what it had formerly. The number of employees will be increased to 20, and new precision machinery is being added.

In addition to machining, the company does metal fabrication and welding. Much of its activity is on a subcontract basis for the electronic and missile industries. Bechtel has been active in the machine shop field in Marin for several years. Reese was, until recently, connected with the Dumont Manufacturing Corp. in San Rafael.

Leasing of the new space was handled by Charles Rosenbaum and George Rademacher of Maynard Redmond and Co., San Rafael.

Council Will Get Matter Of Lease

Sausalito's city atty. John B. Ehlen will give an opinion at the meeting of the city council today at 8 p.m. with regard to whether the lease to Madden and Lewis boat yard permits building of docks on the south side of the sandspit.

Also to be discussed again will be the development plan for Marinship.

Recreation Group Favors Parking Lot

The Sausalito Recreation Commission has gone on record as favoring a parking lot on Humboldt Avenue as it extends into the bay as an answer to the need for more parking for boat owners using the Turney Street launching ramp on weekends and holidays.

A proposal made before the city council Feb. 28 for the Humboldt parking area is being studied by city manager Charles A. Brown.

Discussion Program

The University of California Extension discussion program "Values in Conflict: The American Century in Theory and Practice" will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Macgowan on Ranch Road in Tiburon. Enrollments will be accepted at the meeting.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DEMANDS INCREASED

Larkspur's Financial Shape Reported Good

The City of Larkspur ended 1960 in better shape financially in spite of increased demands on city services, according to the annual report of City Manager Ronald E. Piper.

The city started the year with a total balance of $25,012. At the end of the year this had risen to $70,263.

This is broken down to three categories. The general fund started the year with $15,036 and ended with $65,349. The library had $6,808 at the beginning of the year and ended it with $2,462. The recreation department had $3,168 at the beginning of the year and finished with $2,452.

This was accounted for by the city having an income of $235,583 and only spending $190,332 of it.

The city derived its income with 45.6 per cent coming from property taxes; 21.3 per cent coming from sales taxes; 11.5 per cent coming from motor vehicle license fees; 8.2 per cent coming from gasoline taxes; 7 per cent from licenses and permits; 2.3 per cent from other government agencies; 1.8 per cent from franchises; 1.6 per cent from fines and .7 per cent from miscellaneous.

The city spends 33.5 per cent of its income for streets and drains; 21 per cent for fire protection; 18.6 for general government; 14.6 per cent for police protection; 5.3 per cent for library; 5.2 for parks and recreation; 1.8 per cent for inspection.

Like all other areas in California, crime showed a decided increase in Larkspur during the year.

During the year, 873 cases were investigated, an increase of 57 per cent over the previous year and 178 per cent over 1957. The police department reported 89 major crimes last year as compared to 77 in 1959.

The police department cleared 24 of the cases by arrest for a rate of 28 per cent. In 1959 it cleared 50 per cent. Police arrested 112 persons, of which 56 were over and 56 were under 25 years of age. Of the second 56, 37 were under 18 years of age.

The fire department answered 193 alarms during the year. These consisted of 13 structural fires, 12 appliance fires, 28 grass and brush fires and 94 miscellaneous calls, 15 resuscitator calls, four accident calls, 14 automobile fires and 11 false alarms.

Among the improvements in the department was installation of two-way radio equipment in all engines and a base station for the main station. This gives immediate contact with Kentfield under the mutual aid program.

A huge increase in building was shown by the permits issued last year over the year before. Nearly one million dollars more in building permits were issued last year than the previous year.

The building department issued 206 permits valued at $2,773,916. This was $993,648 more than last year.

Cane Street, and a portion of Corte Lenosa, Hidalgo and El Portal Drive were resurfaced. Approximately 700 feet of subsurface drain was installed on Magnolia Avenue. The offstreet parking lot between Magnolia and Locust Avenues was graded and paved.

Cooperative street improvements on Bayo Vista, Palm Court, Olive and Myrtle Avenues were completed.

A new control system was installed on the sewage pumps to provide positive pump control at all times. The city also constructed 179 feet of new sewer line on Baltimore Avenue and 170 feet on Bayo Vista. New manholes were constructed in the sewer system to provide access for cleaning.

During the year, 460 new books were added to the library, making a total of approximately 17,000 volumes valued at more than $55,000. More than 3,000 residents hold library cards.

The Larkspur library tax of nine cents per $100 assessed valuation is the lowest in the county.

The planning commission granted two rezonings and 17 variances during the year. Four cases of zoning violations were acted upon. The commission committee is studying the city subdivision ordinance and revisions of commercial zoning in the city.

The need for additional parks and developments of the present parks was felt as the biggest need of the city by the recreation commission. The proposed harbor program is still pending before the State Small Craft Harbor Commission.

4 Youths Hurt As Car Hits Tree

Four San Anselmo youths suffered minor injuries when their car skidded wide and struck a tree as they were driving out of Legend Road into Raven Road in Sleepy Hollow yesterday afternoon.

William Edward Foti, of 16 Scenic Avenue, 16-year-old student of Sir Francis Drake High School, told the California Highway Patrol that he had been eastbound on Legend Road at 3:25 p.m. and as he was entering Raven Road he was blinded by the sun and "the steering went out."

Treated with Foti at Marin General Hospital were Darrel Denbo, 18, of 48 Tamalpais Avenue, left arm scraped; Edwin Brown, 17, 99 Scenic Avenue, right arm and legs scraped; and Charles Terzian, 16, of 217B San Anselmo Avenue, chin cut. Foti suffered scrapes of chin and right arm.

Before hitting the tree Foti's sedan broke a water line and mowed down a fence and some shrubbery. Patrol inspection later disclosed nothing amiss with the steering gear.

Sausalito To Discuss Civic Center Plan

Location of Sausalito's proposed civic center will be discussed by the Sausalito planning commission at its meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Recommendations to be considered are from the Sausalito citizens' central waterfront plan committee report of Aug. 12, 1960, which proposed the center be either on city property next to the Bank of America or on property within the area of Litho, Bee and Caledonia Streets and Bridgeway Boulevard.

Lecture Tomorrow On Sierra Birdlife

An illustrated lecture on "Birdlife of the Sierra Nevada" will be presented tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the College of Marin Little Theater. Speaker will be Howard L. Cogswell, assistant professor of biological sciences at Mills College, Oakland, and an instructor at Audubon Camp of California at Donner Pass. The talk is presented by University of California Extension.

Driver Hits Tree In Order To Stop

A sailor driving down the Shoreline Highway into Olema last night chose to "run into a tree to stop the car before I killed somebody," he told the California Highway Patrol.

He didn't kill anybody but he put his passenger, 21-year-old Michael Behaylo of San Francisco, in Marin General Hospital for emergency treatment for cuts on left lower eyelid and nose.

The driver was John Danto Pinkston, 22, of Oakland, sailor for an oil company. He and Behaylo had been going south and Pinkston tried to turn left at 8:15 p.m. into Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Unable to slacken speed sufficiently, he skidded off to the south side of the boulevard.

Mill Valley Artist's Paintings On Display

Water color paintings by Mill Valley artist Helen Gapen Oehler are being shown as Preston Associates continues its exhibitions of works by local artists.

Mrs. Oehler, honor graduate of Chicago Art Institute and member of many artist societies, including the Society of Western Artists, has exhibited in the United States and Europe. Her paintings will be shown at least another month at 322 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

NOTICE OF DEFAULT

HAROLD STOLL and LOIS F STOLL, husband and wife, as joint tenants, the present owners and holders of the beneficial interest under that certain deed of or transfer in trust executed by SUBURBAN PROPERTIES, INC., a California corporation, as trustor, to MARIN TITLE GUARANTY COMPANY, a California corporation, as trustee, and REEDLANDS, INC., a California corporation, as beneficiary, dated October 21, 1959, and recorded November 30, 1959 in Book 1327, page 561 of Official Records, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, by mesne assignments of record, the beneficial interest under the above deed of trust having been assigned to HAROLD STOLL and LOIS F. STOLL, husband and wife, as joint tenants, by instrument dated November 7, 1960 and recorded January 24, 1961 in Book 1430, page 552 of Official Records, in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin, State of California, hereby give notice that a breach of the obligation for which such transfer in trust is security has occurred, the nature of such breach being the failure to pay installments of principal and interest when due, and that the beneficiaries elect to sell or cause to be sold the trust property to satisfy said obligation.
Dated: March 14, 1961.
/s/ HAROLD STOLL
/s/ LOIS F. STOLL
STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
City and County
of San Francisco—ss.
On this 14th day of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixty-one before me, PHILIP STEINER, a Notary Public in and for the City and County of San Francisco, State of California, residing therein, duly commissioned and sworn, personally appeared HAROLD STOLL and LOIS F. STOLL known to me to be the persons whose names are subscribed to the within instrument, and acknowledged to me that they executed the same.
IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal in the City & County of San Francisco, the day and year in this certificate first above written.
(SEAL)
/s/ PHILIP STEINER,
Notary Public in and for the City and County of San Francisco, State of California. My Commission Expires August 9, 1962.

TAX FACTS

Some Levies Deductible In California

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

California permits the deduction of certain taxes. All other taxes are not deductible on your California return.

Federal income taxes are not deductible on your California tax return, although California income taxes are deductible on your federal income tax return. The following taxes are deductible on your California tax return, very few are deductible on the federal:

Peter J. Wikel

Admission tax, auto licenses fee, federal dues tax, state gasoline tax, import duties, personal property tax, real estate taxes, safety deposit box rental tax, sales taxes, telephone tax, theatre admission tax and transportation tax.

Unemployment disability taxes deducted from your paychecks. Not more than $36 and only if paid into the state. Not deductible if paid to an insurance company under a voluntary plan.

71 At College Make Dean's List

Seventy-one College of Marin students have been named to the dean's list for the fall semester which ended in January, it was announced today.

The dean's list is an honor roll of students who have earned a B average or better, with no grade below a C.

Students on the dean's list are awarded certificates of merit and are eligible for temporary membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, scholastic honor society. A student may become a permanent member at graduation if he has attained a B average for three out of four semesters.

Relics Of Old Indian Village Uncovered

OROVILLE (UPI) — The remains of an old Indian village, believed to have been inhabited by about 50 to 75 Nisenans (a branch of the Maidu tribe) has been discovered in the spillway site of the future Oroville Dam.

Francis Riddell, State Water Resources Department archeologist, said the village contained about a dozen "house pits" which are still visible. The pits were dug by the Indians before erecting the upper structures of their shelters over them, Riddell said.

In Armor Training

Army Pvt. Kenneth F. Sawitzky Jr., 18, whose parents live at 2 Foothill Road, San Anselmo, is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual armor training at Fort Knox, Ky. The training is scheduled to end April 22.

Two Dredging Permits Asked

The U. S. Army Engineer District in San Francisco has received two applications for permission to dredge in Marin County waters.

Tom E. Nowell of Mill Valley has applied for a permit to dredge and fill on his property on Richardson Bay, immediately downstream of the Richardson Bay Bridge on Highway 101 near Sausalito. He plans to use the dredge material to reclaim shoreward tidelands.

Any objections to the proposal must be filed with the Corps of Engineers not later than April 15.

The M. W. Finley Co. of Temple City has asked for a permit to dredge an approach channel 1.2 miles long across the tidal flats of San Pablo Bay to the mouth of Novato Creek, then upstream 2.7 miles. A 200-foot-wide channel would be dredged between the existing federal entrance channel to Petaluma River and the mouth of Novato Creek.

From the mouth of the creek the channel would be 100 feet wide. Any objections must be filed not later than April 13.

TAX FACTS

Some Levies Deductible In California

By PETER J. WIKEL, CPA

California permits the deduction of certain taxes. All other taxes are not deductible on your California return.

Federal income taxes are not deductible on your California tax return, although California income taxes are deductible on your federal income tax return. The following taxes are deductible on your California tax return, very few are deductible on the federal:

Peter J. Wikel

Admission tax, auto licenses fee, federal dues tax, state gasoline tax, import duties, personal property tax, real estate taxes, safety deposit box rental tax, sales taxes, telephone tax, theatre admission tax and transportation tax.

Unemployment disability taxes deducted from your paychecks. Not more than $36 and only if paid into the state. Not deductible if paid to an insurance company under a voluntary plan.

71 At College Make Dean's List

Seventy-one College of Marin students have been named to the dean's list for the fall semester which ended in January, it was announced today.

The dean's list is an honor roll of students who have earned a B average or better, with no grade below a C.

Students on the dean's list are awarded certificates of merit and are eligible for temporary membership in Alpha Gamma Sigma, scholastic honor society. A student may become a permanent member at graduation if he has attained a B average for three out of four semesters.

DeMolay Chapter Will Install Officers Sunday

Gregory I. Baskin will be installed as master councilor of Marin Chapter 115, Order of DeMolay, in ceremonies at 8 p.m. Sunday at the San Rafael Masonic Temple.

Bask is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Baskin of 88 Cypress Drive, Fairfax. He is a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Other elected officers to be installed are Eugene Andrews, senior councilor; Gary Henderson, junior councilor and Larry Majore, senior deacon.

Appointed officers are James Baker, junior deacon; Darryl Belach, senior steward; George Williams, junior steward; Barry Levin, chaplain; James Tucker, sentinel; Bruce Brower, standard bearer; John Tanner, almoner; David Hartley, marshal; Larry Fong, orator; Bob Kantnor, frst preceptor; George Peeples, second preceptor; Calvin White, third preceptor; Eric Gulbransen, fourth preceptor, and Kenneth Outsen, seventh preceptor.

Bonnie Hoag will be installed as the chapter sweetheart. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoag of 224 Van Tassel Court, San Anselmo. She is worthy adviser of Tamalpais Assembly Order of Rainbow for Girls.

Stryker Warren will be the accompanist for the installation. Frank Northcutt will be the vocalist.

Refreshments and dancing will follow the installation.

Relics Of Old Indian Village Uncovered

OROVILLE (UPI) — The remains of an old Indian village, believed to have been inhabited by about 50 to 75 Nisenans (a branch of the Maidu tribe) has been discovered in the spillway site of the future Oroville Dam.

Francis Riddell, State Water Resources Department archeologist, said the village contained about a dozen "house pits" which are still visible. The pits were dug by the Indians before erecting the upper structures of their shelters over them, Riddell said.

In Armor Training

Army Pvt. Kenneth F. Sawitzky Jr., 18, whose parents live at 2 Foothill Road, San Anselmo, is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual armor training at Fort Knox, Ky. The training is scheduled to end April 22.

Two Dredging Permits Asked

The U. S. Army Engineer District in San Francisco has received two applications for permission to dredge in Marin County waters.

Tom E. Nowell of Mill Valley has applied for a permit to dredge and fill on his property on Richardson Bay, immediately downstream of the Richardson Bay Bridge on Highway 101 near Sausalito. He plans to use the dredge material to reclaim shoreward tidelands.

Any objections to the proposal must be filed with the Corps of Engineers not later than April 15.

The M. W. Finley Co. of Temple City has asked for a permit to dredge an approach channel 1.2 miles long across the tidal flats of San Pablo Bay to the mouth of Novato Creek, then upstream 2.7 miles. A 200-foot-wide channel would be dredged between the existing federal entrance channel to Petaluma River and the mouth of Novato Creek.

From the mouth of the creek the channel would be 100 feet wide. Any objections must be filed not later than April 13.
